Dirksen Assures LBJ Retroactive Slash "Certain"

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told President Johnson Wednesday that the Senate "certainly" will pass a tax cut bill early next year and make it retroactive to Jan. 1.

Dirksen, after breakfasting alone with the President, said he assured his old colleague that "there would be Senate action early in the year" on taxes and the bill "will be retroactive to Jan. 1." The senator added that there would be no dilatory tactics.

Hearings End Monday

Dirksen is a member of the Senate Finance Committee which winds up public hearings Monday on its tax cut measure. On Sept. 25 the House passed an $11 billion tax reduction bill that eventually would mean an average saving of 18.8 per cent for the country's 50 million individual taxpayers.

The Senate's version is certain to be at least somewhat different, meaning that the final product would have to be worked out by a House-Senate Conference Committee.

Dirksen said after his meeting with the President that they touched briefly on the civil rights measure, although the bill was viewed as currently a House matter.

Senate Timetable

The bill's most optimistic backers look for House passage in January, with Senate action in the late spring or summer.

The Senate timetable on the tax cut is slightly more exact. The Senate Finance Committee, headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., is expected to start voting on 25 to 30 amendments next Wednesday, following a Tuesday closed-door session with William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Prospects are that the bill will be sent to the floor late in January and will be the first major business taken up by the returning Senate.

Terrorists Hit British Envoy's Caracas Home

CARACAS (UPI)—Terrorists shot up the residence of British Ambassador Sir Douglas L. Busk Wednesday. No one was hurt and damage was minor.

The attack on the diplomat's home in the country club suburb broke several windows. It was carried out from a speeding car and at least one burst of sub-machinegun fire was heard.

The attack was interpreted as a reprisal for the action of the Trinidad, British West Indies government in returning to Venezuela the terrorist hijackers of a Venezuelan commercial airliner last week.

Earlier, the government announced a major victory over Communist guerrillas in a dawn surprise attack on a Falcon State mountain stronghold in which army patrols killed 21 rebels.

The embassy incident was the first assault by terrorists on other than American officials and business firms. There were rumors that British installations—including Huge Shell Oil Co. holdings—would be targets henceforth.

There have been reports of terrorists' anger over Trinidad Prime Minister Eric Williams' action in returning to Venezuela the six young rebels led by a woman who hijacked a Caracas bound plane over Bolivar City last Thursday and flew it to Trinidad. Williams said he would not allow Trinidad to be used as a base for subversion against Venezuela.

Interior Ministry spokesman Abraham Baiz said Wednesday's attack on the guerrilla encampment in the Hueque Mountains, 475 miles northwest of Caracas, resulted in only one army casualty.

House Rights Drive Gains Steam

Demo Leaders Move To Force Bill Onto Floor

WASHINGTON (AP)—A drive in the House to get the civil rights bill out of the hostile hands of Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of the Rules Committee picked up steam Wednesday.

The White House, civil rights groups and the Democratic leadership joined in a campaign to line up support for a petition that would permit the bill to be brought to the House floor.

The petition is due to be filed Monday and 218 members — a majority of the 435 - member body—must sign it before it can take effect.

Many Republican Balk

Although a far greater number is believed to support the bill, many members—including most Republicans — regard the discharge petitions as a breakdown of orderly procedure and refuse to sign them.

At a meeting of House Republicans, Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said he would not sign the petition. So did Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, who helped write the civil rights bill as ranking GOP member of the House Judiciary Committee.

Halleck said all five Republicans on the Rules Committee would vote to send the bill to the floor but only after "reasonable" hearings have been held by that group.

The Democratic leadership has resorted to the discharge petition plan because of Smith's refusal to schedule hearings or even say when any might be held.

Democratic Strategy

The strategy is to get as many as 150 Democrats to sign the petition in the first two or three days. If they do, the leadership feels Republicans cannot withstand the pressure civil rights groups would bring to bear on them for the other 68 signatures.

However, Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., a leading House supporter of the civil rights bill, told a group of civil rights leaders that even if 218 signatures should be obtained quickly, the chances are that no action will be taken on the bill until January.

Johnson Asks Aid Of Labor, Management

Appeals For Help In Battle For Tax Cut, Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appealed to union and business leaders Wednesday to roll up their sleeves and battle by his side for tax cuts, civil rights legislation and more jobs. He set a goal of 75 million jobs for the nation.

The President met with the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO and then with the Business Council which gives advice and assistance to the government on matters of policy affecting business.

To each, he appealed for help.

From each he got a reassuring response, although labor leaders were more inclined than business leaders to offer him their down-the-line support for his program.

The President met separately with the two organizations.

He told the labor leaders that: "No. 1 in priority today and tomorrow is more jobs. "The goal of this administration is 75 million jobs for Americans."

This would be 5 million more than the present record level of 70 million.

Goal Realistic, Reuther Says

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, called the new goal realistic and said Johnson is "talking about working to that goal now."

F. R. Kappel, chairman of the Business Council, said that whether the target was realistic "depends on what date you're talking about."

Johnson mentioned no set time for attempting to reach the goal.

He said the administration's $11-billion tax cut bill is the major weapon for attacking unemployment and creating more jobs. And he said civil rights legislation will help hit discrimination in jobs.

The President put in a busy day. But that has been the pattern since he suddenly became chief executive 12 days ago upon the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

For one thing, he proclaimed retaliatory tariff boosts against Common Market nations in Europe which have refused to cancel import duty hikes on American poultry.

Increases Effective Jan. 7

Tariffs will go up Jan. 7 on potato starch, brandy, dextrine and auto trucks. These come in varying volumes from one or another of members of the European economic community — Germany, France, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg and Italy. The White House estimated that imports worth $24 million a year would be affected.

Johnson also held conferences revolving around farm, civil rights and African Affairs.

He lunched with Texas members of Congress on Capitol Hill.

The meetings with the labor and business leaders were the last on the day's docket.

For both groups, Johnson drew a rather rosy picture of the current state of the nation and the national economy.

He said wages are up and so are corporate profits and industrial production and personal income. He said business expansion seems assured at least through the first half of 1964, in an extension of 34 months of unbroken gains already marked up.

But he said that the nation must look toward tomorrow and respond to its challenge — and that the tax cut bill and civil

Kennedys' Dead Children Moved To Arlington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House Wednesday night announced that two dead children of President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy were buried Wednesday near the slain Chief Executive's body at Arlington National Cemetery.

At the request of Mrs. Kennedy, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said that the body of the boy, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, who died within 48 hours after his birth last Aug. 7, was moved Wednesday from the family plot at a Brookline, Mass., cemetery.

The infant girl, who was not named, had been buried at Newport, R.I. She was born dead Aug. 23, 1956.

Salinger said the bodies were brought to Washington Wednesday aboard the family plane "The Caroline," accompanied by the late President's youngest brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Mrs. Kennedy and other members of the President's family were present at the burial rites at Arlington. The Most Rev. Philip Hannan, Roman Catholic auxiliary bishop of Washington, presided at the services. He spoke a eulogy at funeral rites for the President.

Two Copters Downed During Mercy Airlift

TAYNINH, Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. helicopters were downed and three others were hit by Communist guerrilla gunfire Wednesday in a mercy airlift of men, women and children from a menaced military outpost. No casualties were reported.

"They threw everything at us," said one of the pilots on his return from the post at Bo Kut, deep in the jungles near the border of Cambodia about 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

The military post is being reluctantly abandoned, and its loss will give the Viet Cong guerrillas complete control of the northern half of Tay Ninh Province, U.S. military advisers reported.

Curb-Jumping Car Kills Boy

BARTOW, Fla. (AP) — One boy was killed and 15 other children injured Wednesday when an automobile went out of control and smashed into the youngsters who were waiting to board buses after school.

Five other children, also students at Bartow High School, were treated for minor bruises and sent home.

Ronald Thompson, 17, was killed.

The children were among 100 or more waiting to board buses to go home when the automobile bounced over a curb and plowed into the group, police said.

Officers said preliminary investigation showed the car stopped, then suddenly leaped forward and over the curb.

Police Chief Louis Cromartie identified the driver as Mrs. Marguerite Frisbie, about 70, of Bartow. She escaped injury. No charges were filed.

Most injuries consisted of broken arms or legs.

Bailey To Continue As Demo Chairman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has asked Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey to remain in his job and Bailey has agreed, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Bailey confirmed a report that the new President had called him to the White House late Tuesday to stay as chief of the party organization while it prepares for the 1964 campaign.

Sir Winston, 89, Visits Commons

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill arrived at the House of Commons in a chromium-plated wheel chair Wednesday to attend his first session since he reached the age of 89.

An attendant wheeled the chair to a chamber entrance named Churchill Arch—after the former prime minister.

Then, to cheers from both members of his own Conservative party and the opposition Laborities, he was assisted to his feet and helped to his usual seat on the front bench of the government party.

Sir Winston's helpers were Conservatives Dudley Williams of Exeter and Sir John Langford-Holt of Shrewsbury.

The wartime leader entered his 90th year Saturday.

A spokesman said there was no special reason for his trip to Commons. Churchill still takes a notion to attend from time to time, but has announced that he will not run again in next year's national election.

Tippit Family Contributions Pass $125,000

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Contributions mounted to more than $125,000 Wednesday for the family of police officer J. D. Tippit, slain while trying to arrest President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald.

At the same time Oswald's mother said contributions to aid her son's family had come to a little above $2,000.

The FBI continued to probe all avenues for additional evidence concerning the assassination of Kennedy and the subsequent slaying of Oswald, 24, by Jack Ruby, 52, strip-tease club owner.

The FBI asked that Eastman Kodak laboratories in Dallas send memos with all processed film requesting the owner to contact the FBI immediately if the film included shots of the assassin, a company spokesman said.

Ruby remained isolated in county jail awaiting trial. He darted out of a crowd and shot Oswald on Nov. 24—two days after the president was assassinated.

Ruby will not be allowed to move even as far as the courtroom and back Monday, the day he originally was scheduled for trial.

The trial is postponed until Feb. 3 and Monday's court session will be only a formality, not requiring the night club owner's presence.

She protested vigorously against being left alone, pursuing the three agents across the porch and onto the lawn.

She demanded some of the records of callers the agents took with them, but the agents said the documents belonged to the Secret Service, not Mrs. Oswald.

A Secret Service spokesman said, Mrs. Oswald was not an object of community reaction and thus needed no guard.

Hope To Undergo Eye Treatment

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Glib-talking comedian Bob Hope disclosed Wednesday he will undergo treatment for a blood clot in his left eye this weekend which may cancel his famed annual Christmas tour of U.S. military bases abroad.

Hope, subdued and devoid of wisecracks, said he will enter Children's Hospital in San Francisco Thursday and will remain there four or five days.

Hope said a "new photo coagulation process" will be used on the clot that endangered the sight of his left eye four years ago and has caused fuzziness of vision recently.

The treatment could force cancellation of Bob's annual Christmas tour to entertain U.S. troops overseas, an annual event for Hope and his troupe. He still hopes to go, however.

Moro Will Head Italian Regime

ROME (AP)—Italy got a new left-leaning government making Catholic Christian Democrats and Socialists Cabinet partners for the time since 1947.

The Christian Democrat leader, Aldo Moro, wound up nearly a month of bitter, often precarious, negotiations by telling President Antonio Segni on Wednesday he would serve as premier.

The Socialist leader, Pietro Nenni, who won a Stalin Peace prize but returned it when the Russians crushed the 1956 Hungarian revolt, was named deputy premier in the 26-member Cabinet.

Moro's government is based on a four-party accord expressing loyalty to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in foreign policy and providing economic planning in domestic policy.

South Africa Arms Embargo Voted By U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—In a rare show of unanimity the U.N. Security Council called Wednesday for a worldwide arms embargo against South Africa to curb enforcement of that country's white supremacy laws.

The 11-nation council approved a Norwegian resolution representing the toughest stand in U.N. history against South Africa's policy of apartheid, or rigid segregation.

Objections by East and West to various portions of the draft were dropped at the last minute to clear the way for the unanimous approval which previous resolutions on apartheid failed to receive.

The Norwegian resolution asked that all nations half shipments of supplies to South Africa's arms industry as well as arms.

U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson gave the draft unqualified support. He said the United States would have agreed to the arms embargo independently, even without council approval.

Jailed Nazi Ailing, Moved To Hospital

BERLIN (AP) — Baldur Von Schirach, 56, one of three top Nazis in the Spandau war crimes prison, was taken under heavy guard to a hospital Wednesday night for treatment of a circulatory condition.

An Allied spokesman said Schirach was not in serious condition. The spokesman explained that a blood clot in Schirach's leg required constant medical supervision that could not be conveniently carried out in prison.

Smoking Increase Likely Even If Report Adverse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just how long do people stay scared and try to quit cigarettes when faced with scientific reports that smoking is harmful to health? Do they scare at all?

What effect will an upcoming government report on smoking and health have on individuals if—as predicted — it condemns smoking?

Judging from the nation's experience during the past four years, more cigarettes will be smoked than ever before.

It was just over four years ago, on Nov. 27, 1959, that the then surgeon general, Leroy E. Burney of the Public Health Service, warned:

"Unless the use of tobacco can be made safe, the individual's risk of lung cancer can be reduced best by the elimination of smoking."

Did the smoking of cigarettes decrease in aggregate? Probably not.

The report was made public so late in 1959 that it likely had little effect on smoking statistics that year. Domestic consumption has increased each year since.

The Agriculture Department says domestic cigarette consumption rose annually from 436.4 billion in 1958 to 509 billion this year.

The new report is being prepared by a blue-ribbon scientific committee — chosen for lack of bias by Surgeon General Luther L. Terry.

Sources said it appears more than likely at present that the new report will be made public early in January, rather than by year's end as previously scheduled.

Black Muslim Chief Suspends Top Aide

CHICAGO (UPI)—The leader of the anti-white Black Muslim sect Wednesday suspended Malcolm X, his militant second-in-command, for expressing joy at the assassination of the late President Kennedy.

A statement issued by the headquarters of Elijah Muhammed, self-styled messenger of Allah and head of the black supremacy sect, said Malcolm did not speak for Muhammad when he characterized Kennedy's assassination as an instance of "the chickens coming home to roost."

Malcolm, addressing a Black Muslim rally at Manhattan Center in New York Sunday, was quoted as saying that Kennedy had been "twiddling his thumbs" at the slaying of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu.

Viet Nam Gets Loan

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — West Germany and Viet Nam signed an agreement Wednesday for a German loan of 15 million marks (about $3.7 million). The money will be used for imports of equipment, raw materials and other German-made goods.

Pope Decrees Liturgy Reform

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI decreed Roman Catholicism's greatest reform in worship in 1,700 years and then told his bishops they must assume a greater share in Church government.

Addressing the Vatican Ecumenical Council on Wednesday, he also revealed plans for an unprecedented personal pilgrimage to the Holy Land—the first by a reigning pontiff.

The three steps were strides on the path to Christian unity and Roman Catholic renewal, a path charted by Pope John XXIII.

In a three-hour meeting of the council, its last until next September, the Pope and his assembled bishops made sweeping changes in centuries-old traditions and practices.

Their liturgy reform, in the first Roman Catholic councilar decree since the proclamation of papal infallibility by the last previous council 93 years ago, opened the way for the use of modern languages in the Mass and sacraments. Latin had been used since the 3rd century A.D.

Pope Paul's appeal to the bishops to clarify their role in Church government put him on the side of progressive prelates advocating such a review in the interest of Christian unity.

His announcement about a trip to Palestine was more than just a travel plan.

Implicit in it was a basic decision to promote a relatively new policy of openness in the Roman Catholic Church, whose pontiffs have spent most of this century as voluntary prisoners in the Vatican.

Pope To Visit Holy Land

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI announced Wednesday he will go to the Holy Land next month on a pilgrimage dedicated to Christian unity and peace among men.

He will be the first ruler of the Roman Catholic Church to make such a trip.

The Holy Land is Palestine, whose great Christian shrines have been divided between Moslem Jordan and the Jewish State of Israel since the Arab-Israeli war of 1948.

Israel holds Nazareth, where Christ lived and first preached. Within Jordan's 2,125 - square-mile segment west of the Jordan River are such religious centers as the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem and the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in the walled Old City of Jerusalem.

Jerusalem is about 1,500 miles southeast of Rome.

This will be the longest trip any reigning pontiff ever made. It will be the first time any Pope has left Italy since Pius VII went reluctantly to Paris in 1804 to crown Napoleon.

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill arrived at the House of Commons in a chromium-plated wheel chair Wednesday to attend his first session since he reached the age of 89.

An attendant wheeled the chair to a chamber entrance named Churchill Arch—after the former prime minister.

Then, to cheers from both members of his own Conservative party and the opposition Laborities, he was assisted to his feet and helped to his usual seat on the front bench of the government party.

Sir Winston's helpers were Conservatives Dudley Williams of Exeter and Sir John Langford-Holt of Shrewsbury.

The wartime leader entered his 90th year Saturday.

A spokesman said there was no special reason for his trip to Commons. Churchill still takes a notion to attend from time to time, but has announced that he will not run again in next year's national election.

Tippit Family Contributions Pass $125,000

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Contributions mounted to more than $125,000 Wednesday for the family of police officer J. D. Tippit, slain while trying to arrest President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald.

At the same time Oswald's mother said contributions to aid her son's family had come to a little above $2,000.

The FBI continued to probe all avenues for additional evidence concerning the assassination of Kennedy and the subsequent slaying of Oswald, 24, by Jack Ruby, 52, strip-tease club owner.

The FBI asked that Eastman Kodak laboratories in Dallas send memos with all processed film requesting the owner to contact the FBI immediately if the film included shots of the assassin, a company spokesman said.

Ruby remained isolated in county jail awaiting trial. He darted out of a crowd and shot Oswald on Nov. 24—two days after the president was assassinated.

Ruby will not be allowed to move even as far as the courtroom and back Monday, the day he originally was scheduled for trial.

The trial is postponed until Feb. 3 and Monday's court session will be only a formality, not requiring the night club owner's presence.

She protested vigorously against being left alone, pursuing the three agents across the porch and onto the lawn.

She demanded some of the records of callers the agents took with them, but the agents said the documents belonged to the Secret Service, not Mrs. Oswald.

A Secret Service spokesman said, Mrs. Oswald was not an object of community reaction and thus needed no guard.

Hope To Undergo Eye Treatment

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Glib-talking comedian Bob Hope disclosed Wednesday he will undergo treatment for a blood clot in his left eye this weekend which may cancel his famed annual Christmas tour of U.S. military bases abroad.

Hope, subdued and devoid of wisecracks, said he will enter Children's Hospital in San Francisco Thursday and will remain there four or five days.

Hope said a "new photo coagulation process" will be used on the clot that endangered the sight of his left eye four years ago and has caused fuzziness of vision recently.

The treatment could force cancellation of Bob's annual Christmas tour to entertain U.S. troops overseas, an annual event for Hope and his troupe. He still hopes to go, however.

Moro Will Head Italian Regime

ROME (AP)—Italy got a new left-leaning government making Catholic Christian Democrats and Socialists Cabinet partners for the time since 1947.

The Christian Democrat leader, Aldo Moro, wound up nearly a month of bitter, often precarious, negotiations by telling President Antonio Segni on Wednesday he would serve as premier.

The Socialist leader, Pietro Nenni, who won a Stalin Peace prize but returned it when the Russians crushed the 1956 Hungarian revolt, was named deputy premier in the 26-member Cabinet.

Moro's government is based on a four-party accord expressing loyalty to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in foreign policy and providing economic planning in domestic policy.

South Africa Arms Embargo Voted By U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—In a rare show of unanimity the U.N. Security Council called Wednesday for a worldwide arms embargo against South Africa to curb enforcement of that country's white supremacy laws.

The 11-nation council approved a Norwegian resolution representing the toughest stand in U.N. history against South Africa's policy of apartheid, or rigid segregation.

Objections by East and West to various portions of the draft were dropped at the last minute to clear the way for the unanimous approval which previous resolutions on apartheid failed to receive.

The Norwegian resolution asked that all nations half shipments of supplies to South Africa's arms industry as well as arms.

U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson gave the draft unqualified support. He said the United States would have agreed to the arms embargo independently, even without council approval.

Jailed Nazi Ailing, Moved To Hospital

BERLIN (AP) — Baldur Von Schirach, 56, one of three top Nazis in the Spandau war crimes prison, was taken under heavy guard to a hospital Wednesday night for treatment of a circulatory condition.

An Allied spokesman said Schirach was not in serious condition. The spokesman explained that a blood clot in Schirach's leg required constant medical supervision that could not be conveniently carried out in prison.

Smoking Increase Likely Even If Report Adverse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just how long do people stay scared and try to quit cigarettes when faced with scientific reports that smoking is harmful to health? Do they scare at all?

What effect will an upcoming government report on smoking and health have on individuals if—as predicted — it condemns smoking?

Judging from the nation's experience during the past four years, more cigarettes will be smoked than ever before.

It was just over four years ago, on Nov. 27, 1959, that the then surgeon general, Leroy E. Burney of the Public Health Service, warned:

"Unless the use of tobacco can be made safe, the individual's risk of lung cancer can be reduced best by the elimination of smoking."

Did the smoking of cigarettes decrease in aggregate? Probably not.

The report was made public so late in 1959 that it likely had little effect on smoking statistics that year. Domestic consumption has increased each year since.

The Agriculture Department says domestic cigarette consumption rose annually from 436.4 billion in 1958 to 509 billion this year.

The new report is being prepared by a blue-ribbon scientific committee — chosen for lack of bias by Surgeon General Luther L. Terry.

Sources said it appears more than likely at present that the new report will be made public early in January, rather than by year's end as previously scheduled.

Black Muslim Chief Suspends Top Aide

CHICAGO (UPI)—The leader of the anti-white Black Muslim sect Wednesday suspended Malcolm X, his militant second-in-command, for expressing joy at the assassination of the late President Kennedy.

A statement issued by the headquarters of Elijah Muhammed, self-styled messenger of Allah and head of the black supremacy sect, said Malcolm did not speak for Muhammad when he characterized Kennedy's assassination as an instance of "the chickens coming home to roost."

Malcolm, addressing a Black Muslim rally at Manhattan Center in New York Sunday, was quoted as saying that Kennedy had been "twiddling his thumbs" at the slaying of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu.

Pope Decrees Liturgy Reform

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI decreed Roman Catholicism's greatest reform in worship in 1,700 years and then told his bishops they must assume a greater share in Church government.

Addressing the Vatican Ecumenical Council on Wednesday, he also revealed plans for an unprecedented personal pilgrimage to the Holy Land—the first by a reigning pontiff.

The three steps were strides on the path to Christian unity and Roman Catholic renewal, a path charted by Pope John XXIII.

In a three-hour meeting of the council, its last until next September, the Pope and his assembled bishops made sweeping changes in centuries-old traditions and practices.

Their liturgy reform, in the first Roman Catholic councilar decree since the proclamation of papal infallibility by the last previous council 93 years ago, opened the way for the use of modern languages in the Mass and sacraments. Latin had been used since the 3rd century A.D.

Pope Paul's appeal to the bishops to clarify their role in Church government put him on the side of progressive prelates advocating such a review in the interest of Christian unity.

His announcement about a trip to Palestine was more than just a travel plan.

Implicit in it was a basic decision to promote a relatively new policy of openness in the Roman Catholic Church, whose pontiffs have spent most of this century as voluntary prisoners in the Vatican.

Pope To Visit Holy Land

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI announced Wednesday he will go to the Holy Land next month on a pilgrimage dedicated to Christian unity and peace among men.

He will be the first ruler of the Roman Catholic Church to make such a trip.

The Holy Land is Palestine, whose great Christian shrines have been divided between Moslem Jordan and the Jewish State of Israel since the Arab-Israeli war of 1948.

Israel holds Nazareth, where Christ lived and first preached. Within Jordan's 2,125 - square-mile segment west of the Jordan River are such religious centers as the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem and the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in the walled Old City of Jerusalem.

Jerusalem is about 1,500 miles southeast of Rome.

This will be the longest trip any reigning pontiff ever made. It will be the first time any Pope has left Italy since Pius VII went reluctantly to Paris in 1804 to crown Napoleon.

End To Prohibition Came 30 Years Ago

NEW YORK (AP) — Prohibition—the "noble experiment"—came to an end on a high-spirited note just 30 years ago Thursday.

A gavel slamming in Salt Lake City signaled that Utah had become the 36th state to ratify the 21st Amendment.

It was 5:32½ p.m., New York time. By 5:33 p.m., legal drinks were being downed by customers lined four deep at bars here and in cities across the country.

Now, says Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., the drinking of liquor is less per capita than it was in the free-swinging era of gangster Al Capone and the speakeasies; less, also than before prohibition.

It said the per capita consumption was 1.95 gallons in the prohibition years, compared with an average of 1.25 gallons over the last 15 years, and 1.37 gallons last year.

The industry placed the pre-prohibition figures at 1.61 gallons.

Prohibition, the 18th Amendment to the Constitution, lasted for 13 years, 10 months, 18 days.

President Herbert Hoover had said of it: "A great social and economic experiment, n ble in motive and far-reaching in purpose."

But however noble the motives of the drys, the west still wanted their drinks.

To meet the demand, the underworld built up a multimillion-dollar illicit business. It was an era of speakeasies, illegal distilleries, rum running, police payoffs and gang wars in the fight for the profits.

The gangs now ply other trades, but one of the most lawless periods in American history ended with Utah's action on Dec. 5, 1933.

The 21st Amendment, which repealed the 18th, provided for state and local option and that, in turn, has left a complexity of laws varying from state to state.

Judge Orders Attorney Freed In Fraud Case

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Charges against Chicago attorney Henry McGurren in the Maryland savings and loan m il fraud trial were dismissed Wednesday as a federal judge granted a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Still facing the counts in Richmond Federal District Court are C. Oran Mensik of Chicago and D.Spencer Grow of Provo, Utah.

Counsel for Grow declined to present any evidence at the conclusion of the government's case and court recessed until Monday to allow Mensik's attorney time to get his defense lined up.

Judge Roszel C. Thomsen granted the motion for a directed verdict for McGurren as the defense began its turn before the jury. He denied similar motions made in behalf of the other two defendants.

The government wound up its more than month-long case against the three Tuesday. A. Gordon Boone, former speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates, will be tried separately in Baltimore on similar charges.

The government contends the now defunct Security Financial Insurance Corp. was a sham set up through a complicated international deal. The idea, the government argues, was that savings and loan associations owned by Grow and Mensik could advertise that through good business practices they had earned the right to be insured by Security Financial. This advertising went through the mails the government said.

McGurren, the government contended, had helped set up Security Financial.

Child Welfare Illegitimacy Council Named

BALTIMORE (AP) — Names of an 11-member advisory council on child welfare aimed at curbing illegitimacy in Maryland were announced Wednesday by Gov. Tawes.

The council which will advise the Department of Public Welfare was authorized by the 1963 legislature.

Mrs. Lewis Rumford 2nd of Baltimore, president of the Maryland Children's Aid Society, was appointed chairman by the governor.

He also named Thomas P. MacCarthy, the Rt. Rev. David L. Dorsch, Mrs. G. Luther Washington, and Mrs. Jessica Friedman, all of Baltimore, and T. Noble Jarrell of Goldsboro in Caroline County, as members.

Five other members were appointed by state agencies and the Court of Appeals. They are:

Mrs. John L. Sanford for the Board of Public Welfare, Dr. Jean R. Stifler for the Department of Health, Alfred W. Wellner for the Department of Mental Hygiene, J. Donn Aiken for the Department of Employment Securtiy and Circuit Judge Irvin H. Riwtledge, of Washington County.

Boy's Theft Of Cookies Brings Out Tragic Story

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP)—"When did your sister last fix a meal for you, son," asked Walter Liebert, superintendent of parole and probation for the South Maryland District.

It would be a simple question for most, but not for the handsome, slight, 14-year-old boy. He stopped, thought, and said, "I think it was when we first moved into the apartment about three months ago."

With some hesitancy, the German orphan told of his lonely secret, caring for an alcoholic sister, now dead.

The story first came out Monday night when the boy stole a box of cookies, and a store employe then took him home to the apartment the boy shared with his sister in Forrestville, Md.

There, the sister, Mrs. Vera Eva Kann, a divorced German war bride, was found dead in her bed.

Juvenile court authorities of Prince Georges County placed the boy Wednesday in a temporary foster home and, for the first time in his life, he has a "brother." The couple that is caring for him has a son who is a classmate of the boy.

When asked if he would like to stay there, the boy said, "yes, I like it."

He had said he might like to return to Germany and live with his grandparents, but he says now:

"Well, I would, but I don't think I have any future there. I don't think they could support me. My grandfather is 86 and not feeling well."

The boy was asked if he was nervous when the assistant manager, Kenneth Carle, of the Safeway Store in District Heights, questioned him and found him with the box of cookies.

The boy said: "Oh, yes. That was the first time I had ever done that. Some boys I knew who used to take things said whenever you get caught to give the wrong name and address."

The boy did just that, but later broke down and took Carle to his home.

"I knew she was sick and the house was a mess, and I didn't want him to see this," the boy said.

The boy told of the last week he lived with his sister, during which the only meals he got were the ones he had at school.

"The last time I talked to her was about a week ago. I would look into the bedroom and she was sleeping, and I did not want to disturb her. She had gotten very sick, and the doctor said she had poor blood circulation. That last week, she couldn't walk much, and stayed in her room."

No Candidate, Salinger Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pierre Salinger provided a lightsome moment at the White House by issuing a Sherman-like statement Wednesday bowing out of a congressional contest in California.

Chomping the inevitable cigar Salinger burst a bit bashfully from his inner office, called newsmen together, and read a statement about the boomlet launched in his behalf.

It didn't exactly say that he would not run if nominated and would not serve if elected—as Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman of Civil War fame stated—but it was fully as definite.

Salinger simply said he could not run.

"When I came to Washington to serve President Kennedy I transferred my legal residence to the State of Virginia.

"An examination of California state law made at my request makes it abundantly clear that I could not be a candidate in the election even if I desired to do so."

The boomlet for Salinger had been launched by Rep. John F. Shelley, D-Calif., who is resigning his 5th District seat to become mayor of San Francisco.

Oswald Funeral Expenses Paid

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A spokesman for Miller Funeral Home said Wednesday funeral costs for Lee Harvey Oswald have been paid.

The spokesman said Robert Oswald, brother of the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, paid for the funeral with a cashier's check.

The check was delivered by an official connected with the investigation, the spokesman said.

Mopup Crew Lands, Ending Biggest Airlift

BERGSTROM AIR FORCE BASE, Tex. (AP) — The last contingent of Operation Big Lift's mopup crew landed in Texas Wednesday, ending the largest and most successful military airlift in history.

The division flew to Europe Oct. 22-23 in a little over 63 hours.

Family Approves Naming Road For JFK

BALTIMORE (AP) —Gov. Tawes announced Wednesday that the family of the late President Kennedy has approved naming in Kennedy's memory a new toll expressway in Maryland and Delaware.

President Kennedy dedicated the highway Nov. 14 as the Northeastern Expressway.

The Delaware Legislature speedily approved Tuesday night changing the name to the John F. Kennedy Memorial Highway.

Gov. Tawes said the Maryland Roads Commission will do the same thing in a resolution next Wednesday. Then to be on the safe side legislatively, the governor said the Maryland General Assembly will act next February.

Kirby Regains Alleghany Helm

BALTIMORE (AP) — Allan P. Kirby was restored to power Wednesday in Alleghany Corp., completing a rout of the Murchison brothers of Texas who ousted Kirby in May, 1961, but then fell victim to his siege tactics.

With the final victory came sway for the 71-year-old Eastern financier over fortunes of a $7 billion-assets railroad and investment company empire.

Alleghany, through strategic stock holdings, rules the $2.5 billion New York Central Railroad and Investors Diversified Services, a Minneapolis-based $4 billion complex of mutual funds and an insurance company.

Kirby, accepting congratulations after Alleghany's long postponed 1963 annual stockholders meeting, interpreted the outcome as a triumph over 2½ years of "discouragement, disappointment and frustration."

His slate of 13 directors had just won overwhelming election without opposition.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Allan P. Kirby was restored to power Wednesday in Alleghany Corp., completing a rout of the Murchison brothers of Texas who ousted Kirby in May, 1961, but then fell victim to his siege tactics.

With the final victory came sway for the 71-year-old Eastern financier over fortunes of a $7 billion-assets railroad and investment company empire.

Alleghany, through strategic stock holdings, rules the $2.5 billion New York Central Railroad and Investors Diversified Services, a Minneapolis-based $4 billion complex of mutual funds and an insurance company.

Kirby, accepting congratulations after Alleghany's long postponed 1963 annual stockholders meeting, interpreted the outcome as a triumph over 2½ years of "discouragement, disappointment and frustration."

His slate of 13 directors had just won overwhelming election without opposition.

Tawes Receptive To $17.2 Million State School Aid Hike

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Tawes said Wednesday that a proposed $17.2 million increase in state aid for schools is a little more than he expected to spend, but that he is willing to be convinced.

"I'm hoping that the program we eventually find acceptable to the administration will be acceptable also to those who have been fighting for increased aid to education," he said.

The governor told a news conference the amount recommended by a Legislative Council committee "was higher than I had hoped we would be called upon to go." He said he had been informed originally the increased aid would be slightly in excess of $14 million.

Tawes said he would meet Friday with the Committee on Taxation to go over its recommendation and "we may develop some facts that will be helpful to me."

For one thing, he said he understood revised pupil enrollment for next year accounts for the higher figure. The proposed new program will substitute enrollment for teacher salaries as the basis for state aid.

Tawes said he was not ready to indicate the type of increased taxes he will recommend to support the new program. The committee had suggested the state income tax.

However, the governor said "If the people want a higher level of education, they will have to pay for it and I believe they are ready."

Gov. Tawes took substantially the same position on increasing taxes for roads as he did on schools.

"I'm for good roads," he said, but until he goes over details with John B. Funk, state director, he was not prepared to comment on recommendations of the Legislative Council.

The council has proposed increasing the gasoline tax from 6 to 7 cents a gallon and the titling tax on motor vehicles from 2 to 3 per cent to provide more money for building roads.

Tawes came out strongly against drunken drivers and for continued progress in civil rights in responding to other major questions at his conference.

While saying he is a "strong believer in the rights of individuals," the governor said he would support legislation at the General Assembly which convenes in February to require drivers suspected of intoxication to submit to a chemical test.

"The greatest menace on the highways is drunken driving and anything that will bring about convictions will receive my support," Tawes stated.

He said he would receive a report Thursday from National Guard officers on whether they feel the number of troops stationed in Cambridge may be reduced. He indicated he would accept their recommendations.

The governor said regardless of the number, military regulations against racial demonstrations will remain in force. The number of guardsmen on duty in Cambridge since June has been cut recently to 50.

Westminster Council Head Acting Mayor

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Scott S. Bair moved up from City Council president to mayor of Westminster Wednesday, succeeding the late Joseph L. Mathias.

Mathias, who died Tuesday after serving 21 years as mayor, will be buried at Westminster Cemetery Friday after requiem mass at 10 a.m. in St. John's Church.

Bair had been a member of the City Council since 1942, the year Mathias was elected to his first term as mayor.

The acting mayor, a 52-year-old industrialist, said in a statement:

"Westminster has lost a distinguished public servant in Mayor Mathias, and I shall try to carry on in that tradition. I will not shirk my responsibility as provided by the city charter."

Bair said he would serve as mayor only until the next city election next April.

Robert Boyle, sometimes called our first chemist, was the first to formulate our present conception of an element.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Directors of the Western Maryland Railway declared a dividend of 25 cents per share Wednesday on common stock. It is payable Dec. 30, 1963, to stockholders of record Dec. 17.

WOODBRIDGE, Va. (AP)—A naval warrant officer on duty at the Pentagon was killed near his home Wednesday in a collision of his car and a truck on U.S. 1.

The victim, John Burley Hernandez, 37, was an administrative aide to the chief of naval operations. He was married and the father of three children.

The truck driver, Wayne Charles Jacobs, 22, of Silver City, N.C., was not injured, State Police said.

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — A Negro integrationist leader says demonstrations will be resumed in Cambridge Dec. 23, after the 30-day mourning period for President Kennedy.

Mrs. Gloria Richardson, chairman of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee, told a rally of 160 Negroes Tuesday night:

"Even if there are five of you, we're still going to walk. If you want to go back into the streets, I am ready."

BALTIMORE (AP)—A housewife in suburban Glen Burnie told police Wednesday she was stabbed in the back by a 13-year-old newsboy trying to sell her a home delivery subscription.

Mrs. Erika Cooper was treated at Arundel Medical Center in Glen Burnie for the stab wound. Four stitches were needed to close it.

Mrs. Cooper told officers she was sitting on a sofa in her apartment Tuesday studying the subscription forms, when she felt a pain in her back and turned to find the boy standing over her with a kitchen knife.

The boy was turned over to juvenile authorities in Anne Arundel County.

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Delaware is joining Maryland in a plan to rename Maryland's Northeastern Expressway and the Delaware Turnpike for the late President Kennedy, who dedicated them eight days before his assassination.

The Delaware Senate suspended the rules to approve the plan. Maryland's State Roads Commission had agreed to the change earlier, pending the Kennedy family's approval. The highway was the last public works project dedicated by Kennedy.

Tawes' Views On Mental Commitments Conveyed To Magistrates

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Maryland attorney general has passed the word to trial magistrates that Gov. Tawes feels they should have a doctor's recommendation to hold defendants for mental tests.

A magistrate under present law may commit some defendants to a mental hospital for examination "based on his own observations," Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan said Wednesday.

"The governor, however, has asked us to convey to you his strong feeling that such medical testimony should be a prerequisite to the commitment of any defendant," Finan said. "We concur in the governor's sentiments on this question."

Finan's views were contained in a letter to Magistrate Howard L. Muhl Jr. of Baltimore County. However, also at the request of Gov. Tawes, copies were sent to magistrates in all of the 23 counties.

The governor's interest was aroused by complaints he received after Muhl had ordered mental examinations for two men arrested for protesting segregation at a skating rink. The men were released promptly on a Circuit Court order.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last night my husband started to tell me how great his father is. After about five beers his eyes got sort of watery and he said, "If my father ever got too sick to work I'd hock everything in this house to take care of him."

I told my husband if he so much as sold one stick of furniture I would take the children and move out. After all, I worked six years before the children came and every dime went into this house. It's just as much my house as his, and I'm not about to let him hock things to help out his dad.

We got into a big argument and I'd like you to tell me if I am right or wrong. Thank you. —JOSIE

DEAR JOSIE: Why waste time and energy arguing about something that hasn't happened, and probably never will?

It would make a lot more sense if your husband helped his dad work out a program whereby he saved a part of his weekly check. This beats fighting about problems which don't exist.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last week my obituary appeared in the newspaper. Of course I did not die, but the person who did die had the same name as mine, and the same middle initial. He was two years older than I am.

I have lived in this city for less than two years. Most of my friends and colleagues know very little about my family.

My wife received several cards of condolence and a few handwritten notes. Eight or ten people phoned to say they were sorry. Naturally she told those who called I was alive and kicking. But what should she do about the cards and notes? She feels it would be stupid to do anything about them. I say if these people were good enough to express sympathy she should respond by letting them know I am all right. Please advise us.—PULSE NORMAL

DEAR NORM: The folks who wrote should be notified by telephone — and I hope your wife will do it promptly — before someone who wrote a condolence note bumps into you on the street and has a coronary.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 16 years old, but today I feel like 90. It's too late for advice, but maybe my experience will prevent some other girl from making the same mistake.

I live in a city where there is a state university. Any high school sophomore who can get a date from a guy at the university is considered pretty special. I was thrilled when a 21-year-old junior asked me out. He was handsome and on the football team besides. My success really went to my head.

I figured since this guy was older that hand-holding in the movies and a goodnight kiss at the door would be kid stuff to him so I decided I'd do anything and everything to keep him interested. Believe me this was the biggest mistake of my life.

After he got what he wanted he dropped me like a hot coal. Now I feel like a cheap tramp. Just tell the girls for me, Ann, that once you become a conquest instead of a challenge the boy loses interest.—DUMB ME

DEAR YOU: I'll agree you were pretty dumb but your letter indicates you've smartened up considerably. Thanks for writing and I hope your new-found wisdom will be reflected in your future conduct.

Not A Jailbreak; A Tardy Trusty

DELAND, Fla. (AP)—The prisoner wasn't escaping — he was running back to jail!

That's what police discovered when citizens alerted them that a man in prison pants was hot-footing it through downtown streets. A quick check revealed all prisoners accounted for at the county jail, the county prison farm and the state road camp. A half-hour later a prison truck returned to the county farm and cleared up the mystery.

The truck had stopped at a supermarket for supplies and a prisoner, a trusty, carried a radio to a shop for repairs. The man then ran back to catch the truck.

Cotton By-Product

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —The by-products of cotton include ingredients that go into cosmetics, paints, soap, linoleum, explosives and phonograph records, according to the California Council of Growers.

Barley Tips

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — An agronomist at the University of Arizona suggests growers could decrease the rate of seeding of barley and at the same time increase yield. Dr. Bob Dennis said this could be done by seeding in mid-November instead of mid-December. Other factors would be an adequately pre-irrigated seedbed and a properly functioning grain drill.

Secrets Of Charm

Pre-Holiday Help: A Beauty Calendar!

Be ready for the holiday whirl by taking time out—today—to set up a "beauty calendar" that will account for all your special grooming needs. If some of your needs will require professional services, make dates right now to get them taken care of.

As soon as possible is the time for major work on your hair—a color touch-up, cutting and styling, a permanent. If you already know when you will want salon setting before special parties within the month, you'll be wise to arrange advance appointments right now.

If your nails are "a sight," remember that it may take several sessions with an expert manicurist to restore them. Start them pronto. And, throughout the month, be faithful about protecting your hands and nails with gloves, especially when working.

Your feet may already be giving acute testimony to the strain of shopping. Have them checked now by a foot specialist, particularly if you are suffering from corns, calluses and bunions and blisters. And, by all means, treat your toes to a pedicure!

Now, what else needs doing? Could your complexion use some extra pampering? Find ways to fit in those masks and facials. Pair them with a catnap or a relaxing bath, for a bonus beauty benefit. Look to your eyes, also . . . and learn to rest and refresh them at frequent intervals during those busy days to come.

Consider your diet in your beauty calendar, too. Regular well-balanced meals will help you to fight fatigue and keep up your energy. If you're weight-conscious, you can practice cutting down on calorie-laden frills now, before the buffet rounds begin—just as long as you don't cut down on basic nourishment!

Above all, pace yourself . . . by eliminating all the hurry, flurry and worry from your calendar. You mustn't beat yourself, just to meet deadlines. If you can squeeze an additional hour or two of sleep into every day for the next month, you'll condition yourself to get more accomplished and be less upset, in whatever time you have to spend on holiday planning. And you'll be far more certain of having the time of your life when the holidays are here.

For quick recouping during and after the holiday rush, get a copy of my beauty calendar, called "Your 30 Days to Charm." Send your request now to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, with 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for delivery in two weeks.

Secrets Of Charm

Pre-Holiday Help: A Beauty Calendar!

Be ready for the holiday whirl by taking time out—today—to set up a "beauty calendar" that will account for all your special grooming needs. If some of your needs will require professional services, make dates right now to get them taken care of.

As soon as possible is the time for major work on your hair—a color touch-up, cutting and styling, a permanent. If you already know when you will want salon setting before special parties within the month, you'll be wise to arrange advance appointments right now.

If your nails are "a sight," remember that it may take several sessions with an expert manicurist to restore them. Start them pronto. And, throughout the month, be faithful about protecting your hands and nails with gloves, especially when working.

Your feet may already be giving acute testimony to the strain of shopping. Have them checked now by a foot specialist, particularly if you are suffering from corns, calluses and bunions and blisters. And, by all means, treat your toes to a pedicure!

Now, what else needs doing? Could your complexion use some extra pampering? Find ways to fit in those masks and facials. Pair them with a catnap or a relaxing bath, for a bonus beauty benefit. Look to your eyes, also . . . and learn to rest and refresh them at frequent intervals during those busy days to come.

Consider your diet in your beauty calendar, too. Regular well-balanced meals will help you to fight fatigue and keep up your energy. If you're weight-conscious, you can practice cutting down on calorie-laden frills now, before the buffet rounds begin—just as long as you don't cut down on basic nourishment!

Above all, pace yourself . . . by eliminating all the hurry, flurry and worry from your calendar. You mustn't beat yourself, just to meet deadlines. If you can squeeze an additional hour or two of sleep into every day for the next month, you'll condition yourself to get more accomplished and be less upset, in whatever time you have to spend on holiday planning. And you'll be far more certain of having the time of your life when the holidays are here.

For quick recouping during and after the holiday rush, get a copy of my beauty calendar, called "Your 30 Days to Charm." Send your request now to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, with 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for delivery in two weeks.

Steel Picture Grows Rosier

NEW YORK (UPI)—An unexpected and contra-seasonal rise in steel orders has forced upward revisions in the industry's outlook for the final quarter of 1963 and the first quarter of 1964 Iron Age said Tuesday.

Steelmakers now look for a "very strong" first quarter. With steel inventory liquidation now over and consumption running along at a near - record clip, this seems assured, the national metal-working weekly said.

Iron Age said steel output for all of 1963 is sure to top 109 million tons. Estimates are now four to six million tons over estimates made this summer because of expectations of a stronger - than - expected fourth quarter.

Iron Age noted that the main impetus for the uptrend in orders and consumption comes from Detroit, but added that improvement has spread into other fields. Some heavy equipment markets, for example, have moved up tonnages originally scheduled for January into December delivery.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Beatrice Foods Co. said it plans to acquire Produce Terminal Cold Storage, Inc. through an exchange of stock.

Further terms were not disclosed. Stockholders of Produce Terminal, which had a sales volume of $10.8 million last year, will meet sometime in the next two months to vote on the merger.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)— Procter & Gamble Co. has acquired J. A. Folger & Co. Procter & Gamble exchanged approximately 1,650,000 shares of common stock for the coffee company's assets. The Folger Company business has been transferred to a newly organized P&G subsidiary, Folger Coffee Co.

William Coble Named To Draft Board

William C. Coble, 540 National Highway, has been appointed an associate member of Selective Service Board 29, according to P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator.

Mr. Coble's appointment was announced by Gen. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of Selective Service.

Mr. Fahey said Board 29 met recently and elected Russell C. Paupe as chairman to succeed the late Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon Sr.

Millard Buskirk was elected secretary of the board.

Mr. Coble is a veteran of World War II, and has been an officer and member of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, for many years. He is manager of the shoe department of Schwarzenbach and Son.

Mail Road Toll, Change-Short Motorists Told

NEWARK, Del. (AP) — The Delaware Turnpike is 11 miles long and costs 30 cents for a through automobile ride from the Maryland border to the Delaware Memorial Bridge.

But at five exits and entrances along the route — mainly used by local commuters — toll gates are unattended. This bothers motorists who don't have the 15 cents change.

If they go through without paying (and about 12 per cent reportedly do), a red light flashes and a bell clangs.

What to do? "Mail the money in," advises Charles A. Rutter, turnpike manager. He's planning to put up signs so advising embarrassed, short - of - change drivers.

The Wilmington Morning News comments editorially:

"The whole thing seems rather silly. There has to be an easier way to pay the Turnpike Authority what it has coming to it."

The newspaper suggests replacing the machine with a man.

Rutter, however, vetoes that, saying it would cost more than it would bring in.

Roughly 12,000 motorists drive the turnpike daily. Of these, perhaps a thousand use the machine-operated ramps.

Rutter estimates that between 100 and 120 may cheat the turnpike but "we have not been in business long enough to determine our percentage of honest people."

The Delaware Turnpike, which opened Nov. 15, links the Maryland Northeastern Expressway with the New Jersey Turnpike. It provides a 60-mile-an hour ride from New York to Washington with stops only to pay the toll.

Things A Person Wouldn't Know Unless . . . .

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Tom Boltons stumbled onto many little known facts in their drive for authenticity in the newly opened Southwestern Historical Wax Museum.

They learned, as they acquired properties for the 76 wax figures, that Sam Houston wore a size 13 shoe, that ownership of eagle feathers is illegal, that Quanah Parker wore a love potion and that modern horse collars have mirrors but old ones didn't.

The wax figures, which are shown in 26 scenes, occupy 20,000 square feet of the Varied Industries Building in State Fair Park. Among the figures are likenesses of Sam Houston, Sam Rayburn, Pirate Jean Lafitte, Stephen F. Austin and Wild Bill Hickok.

Oldest Liner Afloat Starts Last Voyage

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Norwegian-American liner Stavangerfjord, the oldest liner afloat, sailed on its last voyage to Europe Tuesday with 530 passengers.

The trip is the 770th Atlantic crossing since commissioning in 1918. The liner has covered 2.8 million nautical miles and carried nearly one-half million passengers.

Early Newspapers

OREGON CITY, Ore. (UPI)— The first newspaper published west of the Rocky Mountains was the Oregon Spectator which hit the streets for the first time Feb. 5, 1846.

Some students of western history say, however, the first newspaper was the longhand edition of the "Flumgudgeon Gazette and Bumble Bee Budget" which appeared a few months earlier.

Students Object To 'Kennedy School'

NORTH BRANFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Despite objections from sobbing teenagers, a town meeting Monday night voted to change the name of the town's only high school to the John F. Kennedy High School.

During a debate on whether to make the change, several students explained that they had already purchased sweatshirts bearing the name "North Branford High School."

They said this was the first year that the school has had a graduating class and seniors already have purchased class rings.

A Town Where They Do Let George Do It

LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP) — If you say "Let George do it" here, he will. The president of the new organization know as "George", Col. H. E. McKinney says, "Some of us just plain got tired of listening to people make excuses for not doing things."

The group, composed of 65 persons, is a non-partisan, non profit, patriotic, political action group. The organization will begin work by helping with letterwriting—such as letters to congressmen, editors and political candidates. It also plans to establish a speakers bureau, form a program or study groups, and maintain a library of civic and government literature.

Daughters Of President Back At School Chores

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid all the attention thrust upon them, the two teen-age daughters of President Johnson are trying to stick to their No. 1 task—going to school.

Mrs. Johnson wants it that way, a friend said Sunday. She doesn't want anything to disrupt their schooling.

Thus, Lynda Bird, 19, has returned to Austin, Tex., where she is a sophomore at the University of Texas and interested in history. She resumed her classes Monday.

Lucy Baines, 16, has returned to day classes at the National Cathedral School for Girls here, where she is a high school junior and regarded as a faithful and conscientious student.

Lucy took time amid the rush of events last week to go to school Tuesday morning to deliver her share of the food for the school's Thanksgiving boxes, and attend classes.

As children of a public official, both girls have adjusted to a lot of things in their lifetime. But the glare of publicity will be stronger than ever on them now that their father is President, and life will be different.

They found this out quickly. Secret Service agents guard them at all times—and at least one accompanies each girl in public—at school, on errands, even on dates.

Lucy, a blue-eyed brunette with her own car, took it philosophically, it was reported. She has dates with several different boys in these times; she doesn't "go steady."

Lynda Bird has a Secret Service agent with her practically everywhere she goes at the University of Texas. And one agent has taken up position in a glass-walled office in the dormitory lobby, overlooking the entrance.

A friend quoted her as saying the agent who accompanies her to classes "sits in the class and seems very interested. He's learning things too."

Lynda wears the engagement ring of Navy Ensign Bernard Rosenbach, 22, who was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis in June 1962, and now is stationed aboard ship. Rosenbach is from Comfort, Tex., and stands several inches taller than Lynda's 5 feet 9.

The two have set no wedding date, and it is expected that Lynda will finish college before marrying.

Rainfall Is Below Normal

Cumberland's rainfall from April through November was 10.19 inches below normal precipitation for the eight-month period, according to figures released by the local office of the Geological and Geodetic Survey of the U. S. Department of the Interior.

The deficit has been of great concern, particularly in rural areas where springs, wells and other water sources dried up or provided only minimum amounts of water.

Well digging firms have been working at capacity effort for several months, and one of the larger firms reportedly has a backlog of more than 100 orders.

Precipitation was under normal from April through October, according to the Geodetic office figures, with November's total being the only one in excess of the average.

Total rainfall last month was listed at 4.37 inches, or 1.09 inches over the November average.

The monthly rainfall, April through October, and its comparison with the average, follows:

April, 2.24 inches, 1.94 under the norm; May, 1.82 inches, 1.60 under average; June, 2.81 inches, .87 inch under average; July, 1.65 inches, and 1.71 under average; August, 2.16 inches, 1.24 under average; September, 1.78 inches, and 1.29 under average, and October .2 inch, or 2.63 below the average.

Rainfall for the period from April through October was 11.28 inches less than the average for that seven-month period.

Policeman Assault Sentence Reduced

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore County Circuit Court judge said Tuesday a two-year sentence given a man for assaulting a policeman was ridiculous and reduced it to three months.

Magistrate Howard Muhl Jr. sentenced Charles B. Cole, 23, of Catonsville for striking a patrolman after being picked up on a disorderly conduct charge.

Judge George M. Berry commented that he felt the arresting officers had treated Cole a little rougher than was necessary to make the arrest. Cole's bloodstained trousers were presented in evidence.

In reducing the sentence, Berry said he was aware that Muhl had been censured by Gov. Tawes for sending two racial demonstrators to a mental institution and that he was critically examining the Cole case.

Cole was then freed because he has been in the House of Correction since his July 5 trial.

SPANS THE DAY—This soft draped turban of gold straw is shown in New York as an ideal choice for all-day and into-the-evening wear. Designed by Stanley Marx, the hat is indicative of the new trend toward a dressier look.

ROYAL LADIES IN WAITING — These four ladies of British royalty have more than royal heritage in common right now—each is expecting a baby. They are, from left, Queen Elizabeth, expecting her fourth child about March; Princess Alexandra, wife of financier Angus Ogilvy, expecting her first in February; the Duchess of Kent, expecting her second in May, and Princess Margaret, the queen's younger sister, who expects her second in April. William Coble Named To Draft Board

William C. Coble, 540 National Highway, has been appointed an associate member of Selective Service Board 29, according to P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator.

Mr. Coble's appointment was announced by Gen. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of Selective Service.

Mr. Fahey said Board 29 met recently and elected Russell C. Paupe as chairman to succeed the late Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon Sr.

Millard Buskirk was elected secretary of the board.

Mr. Coble is a veteran of World War II, and has been an officer and member of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, for many years. He is manager of the shoe department of Schwarzenbach and Son.

Mail Road Toll, Change-Short Motorists Told

NEWARK, Del. (AP) — The Delaware Turnpike is 11 miles long and costs 30 cents for a through automobile ride from the Maryland border to the Delaware Memorial Bridge.

But at five exits and entrances along the route — mainly used by local commuters — toll gates are unattended. This bothers motorists who don't have the 15 cents change.

If they go through without paying (and about 12 per cent reportedly do), a red light flashes and a bell clangs.

What to do? "Mail the money in," advises Charles A. Rutter, turnpike manager. He's planning to put up signs so advising embarrassed, short - of - change drivers.

The Wilmington Morning News comments editorially:

"The whole thing seems rather silly. There has to be an easier way to pay the Turnpike Authority what it has coming to it."

The newspaper suggests replacing the - machine with a man.

Rutter, however, vetoes that, saying it would cost more than it would bring in.

Roughly 12,000 motorists drive the turnpike daily. Of these, perhaps a thousand use the machine-operated ramps.

Rutter estimates that between 100 and 120 may cheat the turnpike but "we have not been in business long enough to determine our percentage of honest people."

The Delaware Turnpike, which opened Nov. 15, links the Maryland Northeastern Expressway with the New Jersey Turnpike. It provides a 60-mile-an hour ride from New York to Washington with stops only to pay the toll.

Things A Person Wouldn't Know Unless . . . .

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Tom Boltons stumbled onto many little known facts in their drive for authenticity in the newly opened Southwestern Historical Wax Museum.

They learned, as they acquired properties for the 76 wax figures, that Sam Houston wore a size 13 shoe, that ownership of eagle feathers is illegal, that Quanah Parker wore a love potion and that modern horse collars have mirrors but old ones didn't.

The wax figures, which are shown in 26 scenes, occupy 20,000 square feet of the Varied Industries Building in State Fair Park. Among the figures are likenesses of Sam Houston, Sam Rayburn, Pirate Jean Lafitte, Stephen F. Austin and Wild Bill Hickok.

Oldest Liner Afloat Starts Last Voyage

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Norwegian-American liner Stavangerfjord, the oldest liner afloat, sailed on its last voyage to Europe Tuesday with 530 passengers.

The trip is the 770th Atlantic crossing since commissioning in 1918. The liner has covered 2.8 million nautical miles and carried nearly one-half million passengers.

Early Newspapers

OREGON CITY, Ore. (UPI)— The first newspaper published west of the Rocky Mountains was the Oregon Spectator which hit the streets for the first time Feb. 5, 1846.

Some students of western history say, however, the first newspaper was the longhand edition of the "Flumgudgeon Gazette and Bumble Bee Budget" which appeared a few months earlier.

Rainfall Is Below Normal

Cumberland's rainfall from April through November was 10.19 inches below normal precipitation for the eight-month period, according to figures released by the local office of the Geological and Geodetic Survey of the U. S. Department of the Interior.

The deficit has been of great concern, particularly in rural areas where springs, wells and other water sources dried up or provided only minimum amounts of water.

Well digging firms have been working at capacity effort for several months, and one of the larger firms reportedly has a backlog of more than 100 orders.

Precipitation was under normal from April through October, according to the Geodetic office figures, with November's total being the only one in excess of the average.

Total rainfall last month was listed at 4.37 inches, or 1.09 inches over the November average.

The monthly rainfall, April through October, and its comparison with the average, follows:

April, 2.24 inches, 1.94 under the norm; May, 1.82 inches, 1.60 under average; June, 2.81 inches, .87 inch under average; July, 1.65 inches, and 1.71 under average; August, 2.16 inches, 1.24 under average; September, 1.78 inches, and 1.29 under average, and October .2 inch, or 2.63 below the average.

Rainfall for the period from April through October was 11.28 inches less than the average for that seven-month period.

Students Object To 'Kennedy School'

NORTH BRANFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Despite objections from sobbing teenagers, a town meeting Monday night voted to change the name of the town's only high school to the John F. Kennedy High School.

During a debate on whether to make the change, several students explained that they had already purchased sweatshirts bearing the name "North Branford High School."

They said this was the first year that the school has had a graduating class and seniors already have purchased class rings.

Few of the ancient Egyptians could grow beards and it was a common practice for them to attach a false beard with a strap.

Daughters Of President Back At School Chores

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid all the attention thrust upon them, the two teen-age daughters of President Johnson are trying to stick to their No. 1 task—going to school.

Mrs. Johnson wants it that way, a friend said Sunday. She doesn't want anything to disrupt their schooling.

Thus, Lynda Bird, 19, has returned to Austin, Tex., where she is a sophomore at the University of Texas and interested in history. She resumed her classes Monday.

Lucy Baines, 16, has returned to day classes at the National Cathedral School for Girls here, where she is a high school junior and regarded as a faithful and conscientious student.

Lucy took time amid the rush of events last week to go to school Tuesday morning to deliver her share of the food for the school's Thanksgiving boxes, and attend classes.

As children of a public official, both girls have adjusted to a lot of things in their lifetime. But the glare of publicity will be stronger than ever on them now that their father is President, and life will be different.

They found this out quickly. Secret Service agents guard them at all times—and at least one accompanies each girl in public—at school, on errands, even on dates.

Lucy, a blue-eyed brunette with her own car, took it philosophically, it was reported. She has dates with several different boys in these times; she doesn't "go steady."

Lynda Bird has a Secret Service agent with her practically everywhere she goes at the University of Texas. And one agent has taken up position in a glass-walled office in the dormitory lobby, overlooking the entrance.

A friend quoted her as saying the agent who accompanies her to classes "sits in the class and seems very interested. He's learning things too."

Lynda wears the engagement ring of Navy Ensign Bernard Rosenbach, 22, who was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis in June 1962, and now is stationed aboard ship. Rosenbach is from Comfort, Tex., and stands several inches taller than Lynda's 5 feet 9.

The two have set no wedding date, and it is expected that Lynda will finish college before marrying.

A Town Where They Do Let George Do It

LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP) — If you say "Let George do it" here, he will. The president of the new organization know as "George", Col. H. E. McKinney says, "Some of us just plain got tired of listening to people make excuses for not doing things."

The group, composed of 65 persons, is a non-partisan, non profit, patriotic, political action group. The organization will begin work by helping with letterwriting—such as letters to congressmen, editors and political candidates. It also plans to establish a speakers bureau, form a program or study groups, and maintain a library of civic and government literature.

Warm Halls

NEW YORK (UPI)—As part of its emphasis on rehabilitation rather than punishment, the new Correctional, Reception and Classification Center for Men on Rikers Island, N.Y., has all its corridors and walls finished in such shades as turquoise, lemon yellow, blues and warm tans.

Policeman Assault Sentence Reduced

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Baltimore County Circuit Court judge said Tuesday a two-year sentence given a man for assaulting a policeman was ridiculous and reduced it to three months.

Magistrate Howard Muhl Jr. sentenced Charles B. Cole, 23, of Catonsville for striking a patrolman after being picked up on a disorderly conduct charge.

Judge George M. Berry commented that he felt the arresting officers had treated Cole a little rougher than was necessary to make the arrest. Cole's bloodstained trousers were presented in evidence.

In reducing the sentence, Berry said he was aware that Muhl had been censured by Gov. Tawes for sending two racial demonstrators to a mental institution and that he was critically examining the Cole case.

Cole was then freed because he has been in the House of Correction since his July 5 trial.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not long before an assassin's bullets killed President Kennedy, his wife had dipped into paints and brushed out two Christmas scenes for cards wishing "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year."

She did it for culture.

President Kennedy and his valiant wife, Jacqueline, aimed to make culture as popular as hot dogs along Main Street, U.S.A.

Proceeds from the cards will benefit the National Cultural Center. They are being sold in stores across the country, and sales are reported to be brisk.

Placards in store windows spoke this message:

"For the benefit of the National Cultural Center, Washington, D.C., send Christmas cards painted by Mrs. John F. Kennedy."

For $4 you get 25 of the cards. For $8 you get 50 cards —two scenes, each Mrs. Kennedy's rendition of Christmas.

So far as is known, the cards are the only Christmas greetings ever designed by a member of the nation's First Family, although President Eisenhower distributed as personal Christmas gifts several reproductions of his paintings while he was in office.

Mrs. Kennedy's two designs, are water colors which she contributed to the national cultural center earlier this year.

One is entitled "The Journey of the Magi" and depicts the three Wise Men on their way to Bethlehem.

The other, named "Glad Tidings," portrays an angel heralding the birth of Christ. Mrs. Kennedy initialed both paintings, "JBK."

The originals were to have been exhibited in a Boston department store. But plans were cancelled after the President's death.

Hallmark, the firm that agreed to print and merchandise the cards for the benefit of the National Cultural Center, reports that since Friday Nov. 22 there has been a run on the Yule greetings.

The firm had anticipated the popularity of the cards. Three "pressings" were made. This means they printed to capacity and printed twice again to capacity. It's too late to "press" again before Christmas.

The manager of "Things and Cards," a shop along New York City's Third Aveue, reports the cards signed by "JBK" almost are out of stock.

The National Cultural Center, long a dream of the Kennedys, will rise on the banks of the Potomac in the nation's capital as a forum for the performing arts.

Under one roof there will be a symphony hall, a theater and an opera house. Here, the best professional artists from all Main Streets, U.S.A., will be presented. Also — imported gifted performers will be featured.

During the Eisenhower administration, an act of Congress established the Center and the late President Kennedy continued the project and gave it his wholehearted approval.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower are honorary chairmen.

While Congress initiated the project, which will cost $30 million, it is traditional in America that such an enterprise be supported by contributions from the American public — either as individuals or groups.

Soviet Bloc Nations Facing Hard Winter

VIENNA (UPI)—The Communists are warning the peoples of the "workers paradises" in Eastern Europe that they face another hard winter of food and power shortages.

Much of the Soviet bloc suffered heavily last winter, one of the worst in years. Pessimistic voices could be heard even in the summer of tough time ahead because of shortages of meat, grain, milk and power.

The Hungarian and Polish regimes are having serious agricultural troubles. Czechoslovakia faces a critical shortage of electric power.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not long before an assassin's bullets killed President Kennedy, his wife had dipped into paints and brushed out two Christmas scenes for cards wishing "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year."

She did it for culture.

President Kennedy and his valiant wife, Jacqueline, aimed to make culture as popular as hot dogs along Main Street, U.S.A.

Proceeds from the cards will benefit the National Cultural Center. They are being sold in stores across the country, and sales are reported to be brisk.

Placards in store windows spoke this message:

"For the benefit of the National Cultural Center, Washington, D.C., send Christmas cards painted by Mrs. John F. Kennedy."

For $4 you get 25 of the cards. For $8 you get 50 cards —two scenes, each Mrs. Kennedy's rendition of Christmas.

So far as is known, the cards are the only Christmas greetings ever designed by a member of the nation's First Family, although President Eisenhower distributed as personal Christmas gifts several reproductions of his paintings while he was in office.

Mrs. Kennedy's two designs, are water colors which she contributed to the national cultural center earlier this year.

One is entitled "The Journey of the Magi" and depicts the three Wise Men on their way to Bethlehem.

The other, named "Glad Tidings," portrays an angel heralding the birth of Christ. Mrs. Kennedy initialed both paintings, "JBK."

The originals were to have been exhibited in a Boston department store. But plans were cancelled after the President's death.

Hallmark, the firm that agreed to print and merchandise the cards for the benefit of the National Cultural Center, reports that since Friday Nov. 22 there has been a run on the Yule greetings.

The firm had anticipated the popularity of the cards. Three "pressings" were made. This means they printed to capacity and printed twice again to capacity. It's too late to "press" again before Christmas.

The manager of "Things and Cards," a shop along New York City's Third Aveue, reports the cards signed by "JBK" almost are out of stock.

The National Cultural Center, long a dream of the Kennedys, will rise on the banks of the Potomac in the nation's capital as a forum for the performing arts.

Under one roof there will be a symphony hall, a theater and an opera house. Here, the best professional artists from all Main Streets, U.S.A., will be presented. Also — imported gifted performers will be featured.

During the Eisenhower administration, an act of Congress established the Center and the late President Kennedy continued the project and gave it his wholehearted approval.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower are honorary chairmen.

While Congress initiated the project, which will cost $30 million, it is traditional in America that such an enterprise be supported by contributions from the American public — either as individuals or groups.

Soviet Bloc Nations Facing Hard Winter

VIENNA (UPI)—The Communists are warning the peoples of the "workers paradises" in Eastern Europe that they face another hard winter of food and power shortages.

Much of the Soviet bloc suffered heavily last winter, one of the worst in years. Pessimistic voices could be heard even in the summer of tough time ahead because of shortages of meat, grain, milk and power.

The Hungarian and Polish regimes are having serious agricultural troubles. Czechoslovakia faces a critical shortage of electric power.

Brandeis University Joins Front Ranks Of U.S. Colleges In 15 Short Years

By FREDERICK H. TREESH

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Brandeis University opened its classroom doors for the first time 15 autumns ago with a faculty of 13 and a student body of 109, it was as if a small stone were dropped into the pond of American higher education.

But the man who occupied the president's office of the then fledgling university started making big waves—bigger and bigger waves with each passing year.

Today, Brandeis has more than 2,000 students and a faculty of 260. Its academic program is considered excellent and its Waltham, Mass., campus is a showplace of contemporary architecture. It has a remarkably well stocked library and is well on the way to becoming a major center of research as well as teaching (present research grants total nearly $5 million). Inordinately large numbers of foreign students and exciting scholars in residence add new dimensions to teaching—in and out of the classroom.

The man most responsible for Brandeis' amazing physical and intellectual growth is Dr. Abram L. Sachar, its first and only president. He is far-sighted, ambitious, aggressive and possesses a rare combination of intellect and business savvy.

To hear him tell it, however, the success of Brandeis was largely a matter of timing.

"Victor Hugo was right — there is no power like the power of an idea whose time has come," Dr. Sachar said in an interview here.

In this case, the idea was the founding of a new university under Jewish auspices and, Dr. Sachar believes, 1948 was the time because the nation's Jewish community was "maturing." He said that American Jews had been traditionally generous in education but had never before founded a non-sectarian university.

Brandeis today is no more Jewish in outlook than Princeton is Presbyterian (its founding denomination), Dr. Sachar said, although because of its financial roots in the Jewish community the university has a student body which is 60 per cent Jewish. The faculty is widely diversified by religious background.

As an example of its efforts to develop a non-sectarian character, three of the most prominent and impressive buildings on campus are chapels — one Jewish, one Catholic and one Protestant.

Dr. Sachar's philosophy of what a university should be is three fold:

1. "Higher education can no longer be limited to culture of the western world. This has been a tragic mistake in the United States to ignore the great minds of Asia and Latin America.

"Educators of the future should reorganize their curriculum to bring in the whole world —in literature, sociology, philosophy and economics."

2. "Universities should avoid producing a fragmented man because of excessive specialization. There is danger of a scientist becoming so specialized he could not even talk to a humanist." (At Brandeis, every fine arts major must take science courses and every science major is required to study the social sciences and humanities, too.)

3. "A university should bring into its program commitment outside the classroom. We bring into our university climate a sense of things on the outside—the students feel they have a stake in integration, a stake in peace. We have a highly volatile campus. A faculty member once called it 'a nervous campus.'"

To enrich Brandeis' academic program, Sachar developed a program of visiting professorships under which outstanding persons in the academic world, in the arts or sciences and politics teach at the university for varying periods. These visiting professors have included Leonard Bernstein, Eleanor Roosevelt, Jacob Ziskind, Lewis Mumford, Albert Girard and Pierre Mendes France.

Unique among American colleges is the Lawrence Wein International Scholarship program which annually provides 100 undergraduates and 12 graduate students from foreign countries an opportunity to study at Brandeis for a year or longer under full scholarships. Each of these students get roundtrip transportation from his home, tuition, room and board and $10 a week in spending money — amounting to about $3,600. Students from nearly half the countries in the world have participated in the program.

As a result, Brandeis has a higher percentage of students from abroad than most other colleges. Dr. Sachar believes it is an important educational advantage for American students to live and go to classes with young people from abroad and he hopes some day that as much as 25 per cent of Brandeis' student population might be from other countries.

Dr. Sachar, a native of St. Louis, was graduated from Washington University there and obtained his doctorate from Cambridge University in England. His academic field is history.

Despite the press of his administrative duties, he finds time to teach at least one course a semester himself and he insists that all of his deans also be teachers.

"They must not become swivel chair executives — not ivory tower people," Sachar insists.

In addition to being a teacher and a leader who sets the academic tone of the university, Sachar thinks a president must also be a businessman in this day of high cost education. He simply has to be able to bring in the endowments without which a university cannot survive, let alone grow.

Dr. Sachar has demonstrated a remarkable ability to do just that in his 15 years at Brandeis and right now the university is well on its way to completing a three-year development campaign which it is hoped will raise $65 million by February, 1965. More than $42 million already is subscribed.

For the future, Sachar hopes to see Brandeis grow as a university of excellence and further expand its international programs.

"And, he said, "I would like to see an endowment that would make Brandeis a center for training people in the civil rights field. It would take a quarter of a million dollars to do the job right," he said.

Antarctica Fast Losing Its Status As One Of World's Last Remaining Frontiers

By MARTIN GERSHIN

MCMURDO STATION, Antarctica (UPI) — The invasion of Antarctica is over. Man has occupied the last continent on earth, wresting it from the grasp of a furious mother nature whose awesome powers kept this vast land mass devoid of human life for at least 135 million years.

The final assault on this white continent began on July 1, 1957, start of the International Geophysical Year, when 12 nations pooled their scientific knowledge to establish permanent stations on this 5.5 million square miles of land mostly buried beneath at least a mile of steel hardened ice.

Little more than 50 years ago, a few men gambled their lives against raging snow blizzards, 100-knot winds and temperatures known to plunge 100 degrees below zero just to see the Antarctic.

As recently as 1957, the trip from the United States to Antarctica took 54 days aboard icebreaker ships which had to grind their way through rigid frozen seas.

Today Americans come to the ice-bound continent on planes which can make the trip from New York in 44 hours and from New Zealand in as little as seven hours.

This summer, according to Rear Adm. James R. Reedy, commander of U.S. Naval Support Forces, Antarctica, some 3,000 men from a dozen nations live at more than 40 outposts, field bases and permanent stations across the length and breadth of this land.

Most men come here for the Antarctic summer, a period of daylight lasting from October to March. At least 20 per cent volunteer to winter over during the dark days when transportation between Antarctica and the rest of the world ends for six months because of the forbidding climate.

Even communications break down during the winter period because of magnetic storms and other natural phenomena.

McMurdo Station is the American beach head of Antarctica. The Navy's logistic base is the largest outpost of civilization on the continent.

More than 1,000 servicemen and scientists live here in the summer months; some 250 men remain here all year.

The station, located on the Cape Armitage tip of Ross Island, is built on volcanic ash not unlike the earth found in Hawaii. It lies in the shadow of smoldering Mt. Erubus, Antartica's only active volcano, and it overlooks the frozen bay ice of McMurdo Sound.

In the distance is the stunning Royal Society Range. The cold blue, ice -covered mountains topped by white frostings of frozen snow leave even the most cynical sailors struck by their majestic beauty.

"It is more beautiful than anything at home," admitted Swiss scientist Bernard Spoerli, Baden, Switzerland, who is on a research project in Antarctica with the University of Minnesota.

Air transportation to all U.S. stations in Antarctica begins from new Williams Field, a runway carved out of the 70 feet thick ice on McMurdo Sound.

The reason for the "new" Williams Field is that the old one is drifting off to sea. Each summer the bay ice breaks and moves slowly seaward. When Williams Field drifted four miles south, it was abandoned and a new runway scraped in the ice.

McMurdo Station is connected to the nearest point of civilization, Christ-church, New Zealand, 2,130 miles away, by one of the most hazardous air routes in the world.

There are no alternate landing fields for U.S. planes making the daily runs, meterological reports are scanty, the planes can't carry enough fuel for a round trip non-stop flight and the unpredictable Antarctic weather can keep a plane from landing after it arrives at its destination.

McMurdo Sound and the land bordering the station is littered with barrels of oil, vehicles, food supplies and assorted equipment brought here in summers gone by. The scene resembles a wartime beachhead after the battle has passed. But while equipment in the rest of the world rots or rusts when left unattended, the cold of Antarctica has preserved the material cast aside here.

McMurdo Station is a mixture of the past, present and future, resembling some surrealist's conception of a frontier town.

An assortment of 109 insulated huts are clustered about the station's one main but unpaved street. The huts are made of canvass, wood or corrugated metals.

The street begins at the Chapel of the Snows and eds at a huge mass hall where servicemen all ranks eat cafeteria style. Everybody including officers stand on line for chow.

The interdenominational chapel, which also houses the library, is built at the foot of Observation Hill, a solid mound of volcanic rock and ash topped by a huge memorial in memory of Capt. Robert Falcon Scott who conquered the South Pole but died on the Ross Ice Shelf en route back to civilization.

Half way down Observation Hill, overlooking the Chapel, are two green Butler huts which house the nuclear reactor which one day will provide heat, water, electricity and even flush toilets for the station.

The reactor was installed in December, 1961, but has not been working properly, so that all buildings still must be heated by kerosene stoves. A conventional generator provides electricity.

Since the blinding sun never sets during most of the six month summer season, servicemen and scientists work busily around the clock to accomplish a year's activity in half the time.

Navy workshifts are 12 hours, six and a half days a week, but nobody seems to mind. Scientists set their own hours.

"The men work better here than elsewhere because they have to if they want to keep warm," explained Equipment Operator 1-C Willard Cousins, 31, of Goldsboro, N.C., now residing at 22 Saratoga Road, North Kingston, R.I.

By BART KINCH
United Press International

Christmas soon will be upon us and now is the time to give some serious thought to taking a Christmas card picture.

Actually, there is nothing quite like receiving a photograph of friends or relatives to inject a little extra warmth and friendliness into this happy holiday time.

But right now is the time to take the photo-greeting Christmas card or you won't get it done on time.

The basic ingredients for success are simple. Your own camera, either color or black and white film, a few simple props and a dash of imagination.

The first step is to set the proper holiday mood. Group your subjects—children, pets, the whole family—around a natural focal point such as a piano, fireplace, decorated doorway or staircase.

But remember it's the people that are important, not the background.

Coax a collective smile if you can and get the center of interest in the center of your viewfinder. Then click the shutter.

Of course correct exposure, arrangements of lights, color of clothing for color shots must be predetermined.

Here are a few possible scenes which may be of help.

—The entire family grouped around a piano, a book of carols in view.

—Mother reading a Christmas book to the children in front of a fireplace. Bold stripes and vivid colors, evergreen boughs and toys make for a cheerful holiday atmosphere.

—Children in prayer. Place them as close together as possible and try a semi-profile shot for extra impact.

—Children framed in a colorful wreath of evergreens and decorations. Don't forget colorful wool caps and jackets.

—A view of your own home — with you and the family framed in the doorway.

—The family engaged in an outdoor activity. It doesn't have to be a winter scene.

—Children and pets, the two greatest scene stealers. Put them together in a natural setting, add a Christmas cookie, a book on pets, a beribboned bone and you've got it made.

—A baby? You don't need any props at all.

But don't hesitate. There isn't that much time left. Decide now on setting up a couple of scenes. Get the camera out. Make sure it is loaded with the proper film and start picture taking.

Finish the entire roll so that you can either develop and make prints yourself or have it processed immediately.

Then, make your selection run off, or have your photofinisher run off the number you need. Then all you have to do is address the envelopes and mail them.

Christmas Card Business Is Getting Bigger Each Year

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stamp, stamp, stamp, the cards are marching—some 3.25 billion of them through the mails this Christmas.

So reports The Greeting Card Association, which adds that more than 50,000 designs have been created for the 1963 season. The association, representing the bulk of the manufacturers, made no estimate on how much will be spent on Yuletide greetings.

But the president of one firm which said it alone will sell about 300 million cards estimated the total retail value of this year will purchase 60 cards this year and receive about the same number.

One of the factors in that bumper crop of Merry Christmasses at $616 million. The firm, American Greetings Corp., Cleveland, Ohio, figured further that each family on the average will purchase 60 cards this sections, with gold leaf borders, and special attachments which mentioned cards retailing at 50 cents and $1.00. These come in tapestry designs, with cutout million estimate of sales is the trend to purchase of costlier greetings. American Greetings could be anything from wisps of cotton for Santa's beard to plastic cornucopias, said American Greetings' president, Irving I. Stone.

Both the Greeting Card Association and American Greetings agreed that designers are putting religion back into Christmas greetings.

Field said that in 1950, religious cards accounted for less than five per cent of Christmas sales. Today, the figure is about 20 per cent.

Disappearing from the scene are the "sick" sentiments of studio cards. In their place are more conventional cards with conventional sentiments.

The basic Christmas symbols —holly, poinsettia and Santa — are still by far the most popular.

One of the best-known collections cards—those painted for the American Artists Group, Inc. New York—this year retell the birth of Christ, of scenes harking back to the artists' childhood in the country, and of man's yearnings for peace.

RELEASED — Roy Schinagle, 29, Cleveland, talks to newsmen in Columbus, Ohio, following his release from the Ohio Penitentiary after serving 10 years for the murder of his college sweetheart. He said he hopes to make a good adjustment in civilian life. An earlier parole was held up when it was learned he had been friendly with a woman outside the prison while he was on prison errands as a trusty.

By BART KINCH
United Press International

Christmas soon will be upon us and now is the time to give some serious thought to taking a Christmas card picture.

Actually, there is nothing quite like receiving a photograph of friends or relatives to inject a little extra warmth and friendliness into this happy holiday time.

But right now is the time to take the photo-greeting Christmas card or you won't get it done on time.

The basic ingredients for success are simple. Your own camera, either color or black and white film, a few simple props and a dash of imagination.

The first step is to set the proper holiday mood. Group your subjects—children, pets, the whole family—around a natural focal point such as a piano, fireplace, decorated doorway or staircase.

But remember it's the people that are important, not the background.

Coax a collective smile if you can and get the center of interest in the center of your viewfinder. Then click the shutter.

Of course correct exposure, arrangements of lights, color of clothing for color shots must be predetermined.

Here are a few possible scenes which may be of help.

—The entire family grouped around a piano, a book of carols in view.

—Mother reading a Christmas book to the children in front of a fireplace. Bold stripes and vivid colors, evergreen boughs and toys make for a cheerful holiday atmosphere.

—Children in prayer. Place them as close together as possible and try a semi-profile shot for extra impact.

—Children framed in a colorful wreath of evergreens and decorations. Don't forget colorful wool caps and jackets.

—A view of your own home with you and the family framed in the doorway.

—The family engaged in an outdoor activity. It doesn't have to be a winter scene.

—Children and pets, the two greatest scene stealers. Put them together in a natural setting, add a Christmas cookie, a book on pets, a beribboned bone and you've got it made.

—A baby? You don't need any props at all.

But don't hesitate. There isn't that much time left. Decide now on setting up a couple of scenes. Get the camera out. Make sure it is loaded with the proper film and start picture taking.

Finish the entire roll so that you can either develop and make prints yourself or have it processed immediately.

Then, make your selection run off, or have your photofinisher run off the number you need. Then all you have to do is address the envelopes and mail them.

Christmas Card Business Is Getting Bigger Each Year

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stamp, stamp stamp, the cards are marching—some 3.25 billion of them through the mails this Christmas.

So reports The Greeting Card Association, which adds that more than 50,000 designs have been created for the 1963 season. The association, representing the bulk of the manufacturers, made no estimate on how much will be spent on Yuletide greetings.

But the president of one firm which said it alone will sell about 300 million cards estimated the total retail value of this bumper crop of Merry Christmasses at $616 million. The firm, American Greetings Corp., Cleveland, Ohio, figured further that each family on the average will purchase 60 cards this year and receive about the same number.

One of the factors in that $616 million estimate of sales is the trend to purchase of costlier greetings. American Greetings mentioned cards retailing at 50 cents and $1.00. These come in tapestry designs, with cutout sections, with gold leaf borders, and special attachments which could be anything from wisps of cotton for Santa's beard to plastic cornucopias, said American Greetings' president, Irving I. Stone.

Both the Greeting Card Association and American Greetings agreed that designers are putting religion back into Christmas greetings.

Field said that in 1950, religious cards accounted for less than five per cent of Christmas sales. Today, the figure is about 20 per cent.

Disappearing from the scene are the "sick" sentiments of studio cards. In their place are more conventional cards with conventional sentiments.

The basic Christmas symbols —holly, poinsettia and Santa — are still by far the most popular.

One of the best-known collections cards—those painted for the American Artists Group, Inc. New York—this year retell the birth of Christ, of scenes harking back to the artists' childhood in the country, and of man's yearnings for peace.

Opening lead: Four of ◇

Failure to take a finesse in trumps cost declarer a vulnerable game contract in today's hand. Altho South felt that losing to the queen of hearts might cost him control of the hand, the finesse would have served as a safety play to assure the success of his contract.

When South's one heart response was raised to two, he showed his club support by bidding three of that suit. This is a one round force, the common sense of the situation is this, if South were not interested in going on, he would have passed two hearts. When North returned to three hearts, South carried on to game.

West opened the four of diamonds. East played the ace and continued with the queen forcing South to ruff. A small heart was led to the king and a heart returned. Declarer was tempted to put in the jack for a finesse, but he feared that, if this lost to the queen, another diamond lead would oblige him to use up his ace of hearts in order to win the trick.

If the adverse trumps were divided three-two, however, he saw that a finesse would not be required. After playing the ace of hearts, if the queen did not drop, he could abandon trumps and proceed to run the clubs. One of the defenders could ruff in with the queen eventually and cash a second diamond, but that would be all. Dummy's two losing spades would go on the long clubs.

Declarer went up with the ace of hearts but, when West showed out, there was no way to avoid giving up two hearts, and South subsequently suffered a one trick setback.

South had failed to give the situation a complete analysis. If his worst fears are realized and the trump finesse loses to the queen, when a third diamond comes back, he is under no compulsion to trump with his ace of hearts. Since he has lost only two tricks so far, he can afford to discard a spade from his hand, this would be a loser in any event. A fourth round of diamonds can now be ruffed in the dummy and the ace of hearts retained to draw the last trump. His club suit will take care of North's remaining losers.

Had South taken the heart finesse, the hand would have been placed beyond danger's reach. When the jack holds and West shows out, trumps are temporarily abandoned and the club suit run. East can ruff in whenever he likes, but there is no way that he can establish a setting trick for the defense.

600 Attend Charity Ball At Elks Club

Officials of the second annual Charity Ball for the benefit of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children thanked the public, advertisers and members of Cumberland Lodge 63, B. P. O. Elks for their support of the affair.

The Ball, held Saturday night at the home of Cumberland Lodge Elks, drew an estimated 600 persons, according to John H. Mosner, general chairman for the League, and John E. Byrd Jr., exalted ruler, and G. Edward Allen, coordinators for Lodge 63.

A final report on proceeds will be made in a few days. The three appealed to advertisers in the official program, patrons and ticket holders to turn in their donations as soon as possible so a report can be compiled.

Opening lead: Four of ◇

Failure to take a finesse in trumps cost declarer a vulnerable game contract in today's hand. Altho South felt that losing to the queen of hearts might cost him control of the hand, the finesse would have served as a safety play to assure the success of his contract.

When South's one heart response was raised to two, he showed his club support by bidding three of that suit. This is a one round force, the common sense of the situation is this, if South were not interested in going on, he would have passed two hearts. When North returned to three hearts, South carried on to game.

West opened the four of diamonds. East played the ace and continued with the queen forcing South to ruff. A small heart was led to the king and a heart returned. Declarer was tempted to put in the jack for a finesse, but he feared that, if this lost to the queen, another diamond lead would oblige him to use up his ace of hearts in order to win the trick.

If the adverse trumps were divided three-two, however, he saw that a finesse would not be required. After playing the ace of hearts, if the queen did not drop, he could abandon trumps and proceed to run the clubs. One of the defenders could ruff in with the queen eventually and cash a second diamond, but that would be all. Dummy's two losing spades would go on the long clubs.

Declarer went up with the ace of hearts but, when West showed out, there was no way to avoid giving up two hearts, and South subsequently suffered a one trick setback.

South had failed to give the situation a complete analysis. If his worst fears are realized and the trump finesse loses to the queen, when a third diamond comes back, he is under no compulsion to trump with his ace of hearts. Since he has lost only two tricks so far, he can afford to discard a spade from his hand, this would be a loser in any event. A fourth round of diamonds can now be ruffed in the dummy and the ace of hearts retained to draw the last trump. His club suit will take care of North's remaining losers.

Had South taken the heart finesse, the hand would have been placed beyond danger's reach. When the jack holds and West shows out, trumps are temporarily abandoned and the club suit run. East can ruff in whenever he likes, but there is no way that he can establish a setting trick for the defense.

Vandals Shoot Insulators On PE Power Lines

The Cumberland Police Department has launched a campaign against persons, both juvenile and adults, who have been carrying weapons along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal towpath.

Officials of the Potomac Edison Company stated that vandals have shot a number of insulators on transmission lines along the towpath and street lamps and controls in the Cumberland area during the past month.

The electric utility company has been "very fortunate," according to E. L. Ewald, district manager, that more serious power failures have not resulted from the shootings.

Ewald said the latest shooting case reported by his company was in the Rawlings area when two insulators were damaged, causing momentary power failure between Cresaptown and Keyser, and also affecting power at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Ewald said one of the main targets during the shooting along the C&O Canal has been insulators on a 138,000-volt transmission line from Cumberland to Williamsport. The district manager warned that if a bullet cuts this line it could cause a momentary power failure throughout Cumberland.

The company spokesman said the shootings cannot be attributed to hunters. He noted that much of the damage has been done with a small caliber rifle.

Ewald also said a report from Ridgeley states that vandals have also been shooting at insulators on a transmission line near there. Authorities pointed out that persons who shoot at the electric company's property can be fined up to $500 or sentenced to as much as a year in prison.

The United States has about 20 million dairy cows.

Airline Hopes To Start Feeder Service Here

Eastern Feeder Airlines, a new Washington, D. C., organization incorporated in Maryland, is interested in offering Cumberland a scheduled feeder service.

James A. Jones, director of operations of the new service, said it is planned to come here to meet with the Cumberland Airport Commission to discuss inclusion of Cumberland in the plan which also would include Martinsburg, W. Va., Morgantown, W. Va., and Allegheny County Airport at Pittsburgh.

Preliminary planning calls for four scheduled trips a day, Jones said.

Correspondence has been carried on between Mr. Jones and W. Donald Smith, airport commission chairman, and the original contact was made with Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Smith said the commission would cooperate in any way possible.

Mr. Jones said he planned to come here to meet with the commission concerning the proposed operation, but did not know when.

Mr. Jones said the plan is to try to start service prior to the holiday season in December. He said two flights are expected in the morning and two in the afternoon each way. This would mean four stops at Cumberland Municipal Airport, two in each direction, and four stops in the afternoon here.

At the present time, Mr. Jones said Eastern Feeder Airlines has a single-engine, four-seater Skylane but probably would add twin-engine aircraft carrying a captain and first officer and having a seating capacity of nine to 12.

"We would like to be the first to offer the City of Cumberland scheduled air service and, in addition, possibly to serve them in the carriage of air mail. In this case, we have a letter dated October 11, 1961, from the Post Office Department signed by Mr. W. B. Henderson, director of air transportation, saying that Cumberland, Maryland, is open for the carriage of mail," Mr. Jones' letter to Mr. Smith said.

(Editor's note: Allegany Airlines furnished scheduled passenger service as well as air mail service some years ago).

Mr. Smith has suggested a meeting of Jones with the Airport Commission and Mayor Earl D. Chaney at which time information concerning Eastern Feeder's plans for operating here would be discussed.

Italy And The NATO Alliance

Months of political barter in Italy have produced a four-party coalition ranging from center leftward, but excluding the Communists who gathered 25 per cent of the popular ballots in last April's elections.

This act of exclusion was accomplished by working out a compromise with left-wing Socialists led by the ailing and aging Pietro Nenni. The amalgamation will give the left-wing Socialists Cabinet representation and stronger influence on government decisions than they had under the previous "opening to the left."

Of immediate concern to the United States is the extent to which Italy's role in the Atlantic Alliance will be affected, since the Socialists tend to equate peace with pacifism. Accordingly, they are opposed to Italy's participation in NATO's proposed multilateral nuclear force or to basing Polaris submarines in Italian waters.

The Nenni Socialists are willing to concede that Italy's national security is served by membership in NATO and are willing to reaffirm Italy's adherence to the alliance. But they oppose fuller participation in NATO's defenses out of fear of antagonizing the Soviet Union.

The danger of future governmental crisis cannot, however, in fairness relieve Italy of contributing its proportionate share to a common defense effort that has helped protect Italy for the last 15 years.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Johnson's Opportunity

President Lyndon Johnson has been an adept at dealing with Congress. But since he relinquished his post as Majority Leader of the Senate some three years ago, certain legislators have become used to the delights of a loose rein. It may be that the new President will have to work on chronically rebellious Senators like Wayne Morse and William Proxmire by an extensively circuitous indirection.

Since Johnson is a clever man, he may be able to accomplish this very sort of thing. Senator Morse, to pick the most obviously recalcitrant person in the upper chamber, has, rather startlingly, taken to crusading on behalf of private American investors in Latin America. He has lectured Brazil as "the most glaring example in recent years, aside from Castro's Cuba, of expropriation of U. S. investments and repeated threats of expropriation. The inevitable result, of course, has been that some American companies in Brazil have publicly or quietly undertaken to liquidate their investments and get out, and substantial sums of American capital which would have been invested there—and should have been invested as part of the Alliance program—have never been sent . . . If the conditions attractive to free private investment do not exist in an individual country, then government aid invested in that country is a complete waste."

It is not only expropriation and the threat of expropriation that Senator Morse chooses to excoriate. He is also on the warpath against Latin American methods of taxing U.S. corporations at confiscatory rates. Speaking of Chile, a country which he commends for its "history of constitutional observance . . . and a complete absence of any militarism which has been a curse of so many of our Latin American neighbors," he says:

". . . in spite of all these advantages and attractive features for the foreign investor, Chile has adopted policies that strongly discourage foreign investment in her basic industry, copper."

The thing that particularly burns Morse up about Chile is its habit of cooking up separate regulations and tax rates for different categories of foreign companies. This seems to him unprincipled. Two big U.S. companies—Kennecott and Anaconda—pay from seventy to eighty-seven per cent of their profits over to the Chilean government.

The Braden mine of the Kennecott company is the object of very special discrimination, for it is subject to a tax rate of fifty per cent plus a surtax of twenty-five per cent, plus "two new taxes of five and eight per cent, respectively, to provide funds for salary increases for civil servants and the armed forces." The special taxes, Morse says, "were established as temporary levies that could be derogated by the President. They have not been derogated . . ."

Reviewing the behavior of the Chilean government toward U.S. investors in Chile, Morse has asked:

"How can we justify pouring more foreign aid into a country which is either unwilling or unable to take steps to put its own house in order? Continuing such aid is foolish, on two grounds. First, Chile keeps out, by its discriminatory taxation policy, private investment money . . . second, the U.S. taxpayers' money in Chile is not producing the benefits that it could produce . . . because private investment money is not being placed alongside it at the same time . . ."

Because Morse's criticisms of the actual effect of our programs for foreign aid were so telling, President Kennedy made no headway in his attempts to get Congress to restore sizeable foreign aid authorization cuts. But there is another way that might prove successful in getting Senators like Morse to go along with White House foreign aid demands. If, instead of addressing himself directly to the U.S. Congress, President Johnson should patiently and successfully explain to Brazilians and Chileans that he cannot possibly help them with Senators like Morse unless they will help him by giving private foreign capital a break, a new chapter might yet be written in the annals of the Alliance for Progress.

The logjam must be broken in Latin America before the U.S. can be of help, and President Johnson is a man to realize it. And, since he has had considerable contact with Latin American psychology, he may be the man to do it.

Assassin Still On The Loose

JFK Was To Have Been Heckled In Philadelphia By Gen. Walker

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—John F. Kennedy was scheduled to speak this week in Philadelphia before the National Council of Churches. Simultaneously Gen. Edwin A. Walker, severely reprimanded by the Army under Kennedy, was scheduled to speak against both Kennedy and the National Council of Churches.

The coincidence of the two speeches was no accident. Gen. Walker's speech, later cancelled, was deliberately planned by the so-called Rev. Carl McIntire as part of the hate campaign which he and other extremists have waged against the late President and which had made it increasingly difficult for Kennedy to put his program through Congress. It may also have contributed to the atmosphere of hate and suspicion in Dallas.

Aligned with Rev. McIntire and Gen. Walker have been such other individuals and organizations as Dan Smoot of Dallas, Rev. Billy James Hargis of Tulsa, and the National Indignation Committee whose leader, Frank McGehee, insulted Adlai Stevenson in Dallas.

The National Council of Churches before which President Kennedy was scheduled to speak includes all the leading Protestant churches of the United States and stands for the Kennedy policy of better understanding with the rest of the world. Five Catholic observers are attending the Philadelphia conference. The Council also advocates coexistence, technical assistance to the underdeveloped countries, collective bargaining in labor relations, reduction of armament by international agreement, and the propagation of Christian responsibility in Africa.

The contrast between the Council which sponsored Kennedy and the organization which planned to attack Kennedy is vivid in the extreme.

Rev. McIntire was defrocked by the Presbyterian Church and thereafter he set up the so-called "American Council of Christian Churches," a name which has confused many people.

McIntire, through either his sermons or his literature, has charged that "the Catholic church is the harlot church and bride of the anti-Christ"; that the National Council of Churches is "apostate, Communist, and modernist," "the strongest ally of Russia"; that Brotherhood Week sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews is "a gross perversion of Christian teachings." McIntire has questioned the loyalty of John Foster Dulles, claims that the United Nations is bankrupt morally, and has joined Sen. Barry Goldwater in advocating the abolition of the income tax.

His weekly publication, "The Christian Beacon," described Roman Catholicism as "the great enemy of freedom and liberty that the world has had to face today. . . .one would be much better off in a Communist society than in the Roman Catholic fascist set-up."

Radio Network Of Hate

But most of all, Rev. McIntire and his stable of propagandists have been against Kennedy's policy of coexistence. The McIntire literature and radio broadcasts made it appear that the late President was about to sell out the United States to Moscow.

Most interesting fact about propagandist McIntire is the manner in which he gets privileges from the same federal government which he attacks. First is his weekly magazine, The Christian Beacon, which gets second class mailing privileges and can mail its copies at the rate of 1.6 cents per pound.

Second, McIntire conducts his services largely over the airways owned by all the people under a fairly recent FCC decree urging more controversy and discussion on radio and TV. In theory this is an excellent decree. But in practice it has been taken advantage of by some of the hate groups; while the church organizations and civic groups which preach better understanding have not shown the same energy in combating these broadcasts.

McIntire's radio program is called "The 20th Century Reformation Broadcast" and began in 1958 from a single station in Chester, Pa., WVCH. It built rapidly, which in itself shows the tendency of some Americans to fall for suspicion and hate. In May of 1962, McIntire announced, "God has given us 305 stations." He appealed for more money to support them, and said his ambition was to get 600 stations.

Call For Help

On November 21, 1963, just as he was organizing his rally against Kennedy and the National Council of Churches in Philadelphia, McIntire sent out another appeal for funds.

"My dear friend," he wrote, "We are in serious financial difficulties. For the last three weeks, for some unexplained reason, our receipts have fallen way down, in fact, almost in half. The November envelopes, for some reason, have not come in as usual. It is very serious. We are trying to catch up and now we have come to the limit.

"We are going to have to start dropping stations and this will be a severe blow to us, coming just at the time when the President is to be in Philadelphia.

"Unless I have some real response to this letter, stations are going to stop carrying the program. We are at 533 and we must not start going down.

"Thanksgiving meant so much to these early Pilgrims. I am thankful for all that God has done for us through these months through the broadcast. I believe that God will hear the prayer which accompanies this letter. He knows. 'In God We Trust.' May he richly bless you, my friend. Gratefully, Carl McIntire."

A network of 533 radio stations is a lot to carry a broadcast every day which preaches distrust in the President of the United States, plus attacks on other churches. Yet these broadcasts have continued every day for five years. Unquestionably they have had their impact in sowing the seeds of discord, suspicion, and hate.

Official References To Prayer Significant

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — For several months now, the American people have been puzzled as to whether anyone in the government of the United States may, on a formal or official occasion, ask people to pray to God. In fact, ever since the Supreme Court's decision which ruled that public-school teachers could not be directed by state or local governmental authorities to use a particular prayer in the classroom, there has been a question as to what mention of the Supreme Being would be permissible in official functions.

It is known, of course, that atheists have been insisting that there should be no semblance of religious worship in the public schools, but many citizens who do believe in God have assumed that the Supreme Court sooner or later would clarify its position and permit voluntary prayers in public schools.

It was, therefore, rather significant to note the frequent references to prayers to God which have been made in public speech-these last few days.

In the address, for instance, which President Lyndon Johnson delivered before the joint session of Congress on November 27, he said:

"On this Thanksgiving Eve, as we gather together to ask the Lord's blessing and give him our thanks, let us unite in those familiar and cherished words: 'America, America, God shed his grace on thee, and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea'."

In the Thanksgiving proclamation which had been issued on November 4 to the American people, the late President Kennedy said:

"Over three centuries ago our forefathers in Virginia and in Massachusetts far from home in a lonely wilderness set aside a time for Thanksgiving. On the appointed day, they gave reverent thanks for their safety, for the health of their children, for the fertility of their fields, for the laws which bound them together and for the faith which united them under their God.

"So, too, when the Colonies achieved their independence, our first President in the first year of his first administration proclaimed November 26, 1789, as 'a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God' and called upon the people of the new republic to 'beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions . . . to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue . . . and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best'. . . .

"On that day (November 28) let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that He will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice and understanding among all men and all nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist."

On Thanksgiving Day, President Johnson spoke over radio and television to the American people. He referred to Mr. Kennedy's proclamation and said:

"Tonight, on this Thanksgiving, I come before you to ask your help, to ask your strength, to ask your prayers that God may guard this republic and guide my every labor . . .

"On this Thanksgiving Day, as we gather in the warmth of our families, in the mutual love and respect which we have for one another, and as we bow our heads in submission to Divine Providence, let us also thank God for the years that he gave us inspiration through his servant, John F. Kennedy.

"Let us today renew our dedication to the ideals that are American. Let us pray for His divine wisdom in banishing from our land any injustice or intolerance or oppression to any of our fellow Americans, whatever their opinion, whatever the color of their skins—for God made all of us, not some of us, in his image. All of us, not just some of us, are his children.

"And, finally, to you as your President, I ask that you remember your country and remember me each day in your prayers, and I pledge to you the best within me to work for a new American greatness, a new day when peace is more secure, when justice is more universal, when freedom is more strong in every home of all mankind."

These numerous references to prayer and to the Deity, coming as they do from the highest official in the government of the United States, are bound to be regarded by many people as proof that to mention God or to refer in public speeches to prayer is not to be construed as "an establishment of religion" in the sense in which the Constitution uses the phrase. Indeed, there are many citizens who feel that while prayers of any kind can, of course, be said in the home or in churches or in public meetings, the recent trend which would banish any religious exercises in the public schools can only, in the long run, mean that opportunities will be missed to teach public-school students the foundations of morality and good behavior.

Chief Justice Warren, in his comment on the assassination of President Kennedy, declared it was "a result of the hatred and bitterness that has been injected into the life of our nation by bigots." And he said in conclusion, May God protect our nation in this hour of crisis."

But while people generally will wish to see hatred and bigotry eliminated from community life, they will also recognize that such a utopian mood will not come about unless school children, as well as grown-ups, are more deeply imbued with the Golden Rule mentioned in the Bible and the spirit of conciliation which is so necessary to solve the troublous problems of a free republic.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WARTIME WASHINGTON — In line with the many changes going on in the federal government, the capital city is about to experience some change itself. Unsightly "temporary" government office buildings that were built on the Mall that cuts through the center of town during two world wars, are being gradually removed.

The gerry-built srtuctures that have marred the architectural beauty of the capital for visitors and residents alike are still in use 25 and 50 years after their temporary construction to house war-swollen government payrolls.

However, as government has always had a way of staying big and growing bigger, there never was enough permanent office space in Washington to handle federal workers' needs, even after the wars were over.

As an example of the money it takes to construct permanent office buildings, the government is currently building $75 million worth in the capital. These buildings will house some 10,000 workers when they are completed by mid-1964, presumably removing a similar number of workers from the "tempos," and permitting their dismantling.

Some of the buildings have been dismantled under past programs. At present there are 32 of them around Washington, providing office space for 33,000 employes.

Queen's English

By John Crosby

LONDON

I'm still struggling with the English language as it's spoken here. Jove! Actually, I've never heard anyone say, "Jove!" outside P. G. Wodehouse. The exclamations are much more complicated.

I went to a football game the other day — we call it soccer, but the whole rest of the world calls it football and it's probably the most international game on earth — partly because I think it's an exciting game, but mostly to see how the English behave under stress.

The things the audience exclaimed would land right on the New Yorker magazine's list of exclamations they doubt ever got exclaimed. "Come on, Bill! Let's have a go!" is one of the more frequent and more exclaimable exclamations. I mean this is the sort of thing an Englishman emits in a very tense moment on the threshold of a score.

"Well played, Mike," they'll yell, "well played." You also hear — so help me — spectators shouting, "Rather well done, John. Not bad!" That's when he doesn't want to let himself go all the way. Restrained Enthusiasm Department.

As for the opposite thing, when players are dogging it, when American spectators would be filling the air with cries of "kill the ———!" the English spectator exclaims — I have it right here in my notes—"Come awn! Get a move on with it! How long do you need, John?" Or, "Show a leg!" Just try cupping your hands and shouting that indignantly sometimes.

You mustn't think the English don't let themselves go and really howl. They do! They do! You hear yells like the ones that used to come out of Yankee Stadium when Yogi Berra belted one into the stands. The difference is that the real bellows come not when they score, but when they don't. Emotions Can Cause Difficulty In Swallowing

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

It takes 8 to 10 seconds for each mouthful of food to pass from mouth to stomach. Various conditions may delay this coordinated and complex maneuver and nervousness is one of the major offenders.

Several years ago we wrote about a research project on a group of people who were having difficulty swallowing because the cardiac valve at the entrance to the stomach failed to open (cardiospasm). The background, personality, home life, and working conditions of each individual were investigated. When the history was completed and after these men and women relaxed, the physician asked each to swallow a mouthful of barium while he observed the results under the fluoroscope.

The barium went into the stomach without the slightest difficulty. But when the physician mentioned a few of the more unpleasant situations and emotional experiences that had been uncovered during the interviews, the muscle in this area was observed to tighten and swallowing time was prolonged, in some instances, up to 30 minutes.

Individuals who develop cardiospasm are likely to be neat and orderly; some are perfectionists. Others are exceptionally sensitive, easily offended, hard to approach, or resentful. They are not bothered so long as the sailing is smooth. But when something goes amiss, as with the children, for example, or the spouse acts irresponsibly, the stomach sphincter clamps down with all its strength.

Sedatives and anti-spasmodics help considerably. It is advisable to avoid solids and cold liquids and foods such as ice cream. The nervous group requires assurance that distress comes from muscle spasm rather than from tumor or scar tissue, conditions that lead to a more permanent type of obstruction.

Nervousness plays a role in another type of swallowing disturbance, globus hystericus. Victims of this disorder complain they cannot swallow food or fluid because of "a lump in the throat." The sensation comes with stress and strain which offers the clew as to the origin and remedy. One of my former patients developed the difficulty whenever her mother-in-law came to visit but it failed to recur after she recognized the cause-and-effect relationship. The tight feeling originates in the muscles of the throat when they tense up in response to nervousness.

A very timid boxer listened apprehensively while his ambitious manager sought to match him against one of the most highly regarded men in his division. "Remember," the boxer kept reminding his manager, "I'm no good in short fights. I only get going when the other feller begins to lose his steam." The manager shook him off, and the match was scheduled.

The fight was only two minutes old when the timid boxers' worries proved amply justified. His opponent rained blows on him and down he went. The count had reached "eight" when he rolled over on the canvas and gasped to his manager, "I told you I was no good in a short fight!"

Overheard at a ladies' beauty parlor: "I don't know what the world's record is for the high jumps—but I do know it's going to be broken when my husband gets the bill for the new evening dress I bought this morning!"

Italy And The NATO Alliance

Months of political barter in Italy have produced a four-party coalition ranging from center leftward, but excluding the Communists who gathered 25 per cent of the popular ballots in last April's elections.

This act of exclusion was accomplished by working out a compromise with left-wing Socialists led by the ailing and aging Pietro Nenni. The amalgamation will give the left-wing Socialists Cabinet representation and stronger influence on government decisions than they had under the previous "opening to the left."

Of immediate concern to the United States is the extent to which Italy's role in the Atlantic Alliance will be affected, since the Socialists tend to equate peace with pacifism. Accordingly, they are opposed to Italy's participation in NATO's proposed multilateral nuclear force or to basing Polaris submarines in Italian waters.

The Nenni Socialists are willing to concede that Italy's national security is served by membership in NATO and are willing to reaffirm Italy's adherence to the alliance. But they oppose fuller participation in NATO's defenses out of fear of antagonizing the Soviet Union.

The danger of future governmental crisis cannot, however, in fairness relieve Italy of contributing its proportionate share to a common defense effort that has helped protect Italy for the last 15 years.

These Days

Johnson's Opportunity

President Lyndon Johnson has been an adept at dealing with Congress. But since he relinquished his post as Majority Leader of the Senate some three years ago, certain legislators have become used to the delights of a loose rein. It may be that the new President will have to work on chronically rebellious Senators like Wayne Morse and William Proxmire by an extensively circuitous indirection.

Since Johnson is a clever man, he may be able to accomplish this very sort of thing. Senator Morse, to pick the most obviously recalcitrant person in the upper chamber, has, rather startlingly, taken to crusading on behalf of private American investors in Latin America. He has lectured Brazil as "the most glaring example in recent years, aside from Castro's Cuba, of expropriation of U. S. investments and repeated threats of expropriation. The inevitable result, of course, has been that some American companies in Brazil have publicly or quietly undertaken to liquidate their investments and get out, and substantial sums of American capital which would have been invested there—and should have been invested as part of the Alliance program—have never been sent . . . If the conditions attractive to free private investment do not exist in an individual country, then government aid invested in that country is a complete waste."

It is not only expropriation and the threat of expropriation that Senator Morse chooses to excoriate. He is also on the warpath against Latin American methods of taxing U.S. corporations at confiscatory rates. Speaking of Chile, a country which he commends for its "history of constitutional observance . . . and a complete absence of any militarism which has been a curse of so many of our Latin American neighbors," he says:

". . . in spite of all these advantages and attractive features for the foreign investor, Chile has adopted policies that strongly discourage foreign investment in her basic industry, copper."

The thing that particularly burns Morse up about Chile is its habit of cooking up separate regulations and tax rates for different categories of foreign companies. This seems to him unprincipled. Two big U.S. companies—Kennecott and Anaconda—pay from seventy to eighty-seven per cent of their profits over to the Chilean government.

The Braden mine of the Kennecott company is the object of very special discrimination, for it is subject to a tax rate of fifty per cent plus a surtax of twenty-five per cent, plus "two new taxes of five and eight per cent, respectively, to provide funds for salary increases for civil servants and the armed forces." The special taxes, Morse says, "were established as temporary levies that could be derogated by the President. They have not been derogated . . ."

Reviewing the behavior of the Chilean government toward U.S. investors in Chile, Morse has asked:

"How can we justify pouring more foreign aid into a country which is either unwilling or unable to take steps to put its own house in order? Continuing such aid is foolish, on two grounds. First, Chile keeps out, by its discriminatory taxation policy, private investment money . . . second, the U.S. taxpayers' money in Chile is not producing the benefits that it could produce . . . because private investment money is not being placed alongside it at the same time . . ."

Because Morse's criticisms of the actual effect of our programs for foreign aid were so telling, President Kennedy made no headway in his attempts to get Congress to restore sizeable foreign aid authorization cuts. But there is another way that might prove successful in getting Senators like Morse to go along with White House foreign aid demands. If, instead of addressing himself directly to the U.S. Congress, President Johnson should patiently and successfully explain to Brazilians and Chileans that he cannot possibly help them with Senators like Morse unless they will help him by giving private foreign capital a break, a new chapter might yet be written in the annals of the Alliance for Progress.

The logjam must be broken in Latin America before the U.S. can be of help, and President Johnson is a man to realize it. And, since he has had considerable contact with Latin American psychology, he may be the man to do it.

JFK Was To Have Been Heckled In Philadelphia By Gen. Walker

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—John F. Kennedy was scheduled to speak this week in Philadelphia before the National Council of Churches. Simultaneously Gen. Edwin A. Walker, severely reprimanded by the Army under Kennedy, was scheduled to speak against both Kennedy and the National Council of Churches.

The coincidence of the two speeches was no accident. Gen. Walker's speech, later cancelled, was deliberately planned by the so-called Rev. Carl McIntire as part of the hate campaign which he and other extremists have waged against the late President and which had made it increasingly difficult for Kennedy to put his program through Congress. It may also have contributed to the atmosphere of hate and suspicion in Dallas.

Aligned with Rev. McIntire and Gen. Walker have been such other individuals and organizations as Dan Smoot of Dallas, Rev. Billy James Hargis of Tulsa, and the National Indignation Committee whose leader, Frank McGehee, insulted Adlai Stevenson in Dallas.

The National Council of Churches before which President Kennedy was scheduled to speak includes all the leading Protestant churches of the United States and stands for the Kennedy policy of better understanding with the rest of the world. Five Catholic observers are attending the Philadelphia conference. The Council also advocates coexistence, technical assistance to the underdeveloped countries, collective bargaining in labor relations, reduction of armament by international agreement, and the propagation of Christian responsibility in Africa.

The contrast between the Council which sponsored Kennedy and the organization which planned to attack Kennedy is vivid in the extreme.

Rev. McIntire was defrocked by the Presbyterian Church and thereafter he set up the so-called "American Council of Christian Churches," a name which has confused many people.

McIntire, through either his sermons or his literature, has charged that "the Catholic church is the harlot church and bride of the anti-Christ"; that the National Council of Churches is "apostate, Communist, and modernist," "the strongest ally of Russia"; that Brotherhood Week sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews is "a gross perversion of Christian teachings." McIntire has questioned the loyalty of John Foster Dulles, claims that the United Nations is bankrupt morally, and has joined Sen. Barry Goldwater in advocating the abolition of the income tax.

His weekly publication, "The Christian Beacon," described Roman Catholicism as "the great enemy of freedom and liberty that the world has had to face today. . . .one would be much better off in a Communist society than in the Roman Catholic fascist set-up."

Radio Network Of Hate

But most of all, Rev. McIntire and his stable of propagandists have been against Kennedy's policy of coexistence. The McIntire literature and radio broadcasts made it appear that the late President was about to sell out the United States to Moscow.

Most interesting fact about propagandist McIntire is the manner in which he gets privileges from the same federal government which he attacks. First is his weekly magazine, The Christian Beacon, which gets second class mailing privileges and can mail its copies at the rate of 1.6 cents per pound.

Second, McIntire conducts his services largely over the airways owned by all the people under a fairly recent FCC decree urging more controversy and discussion on radio and TV. In theory this is an excellent decree. But in practice it has been taken advantage of by some of the hate groups; while the church organizations and civic groups which preach better understanding have not shown the same energy in combating these broadcasts.

McIntire's radio program is called "The 20th Century Reformation Broadcast" and began in 1958 from a single station in Chester, Pa., WVCH. It built rapidly, which in itself shows the tendency of some Americans to fall for suspicion and hate. In May of 1962, McIntire announced, "God has given us 305 stations." He appealed for more money to support them, and said his ambition was to get 600 stations.

Call For Help

On November 21, 1963, just as he was organizing his rally against Kennedy and the National Council of Churches in Philadelphia, McIntire sent out another appeal for funds.

"My dear friend," he wrote, "We are in serious financial difficulties. For the last three weeks, for some unexplained reason, our receipts have fallen way down, in fact, almost in half. The November envelopes, for some reason, have not come in as usual. It is very serious. We are trying to catch up and now we have come to the limit.

"We are going to have to start dropping stations and this will be a severe blow to us, coming just at the time when the President is to be in Philadelphia.

"Unless I have some real response to this letter, stations are going to stop carrying the program. We are at 533 and we must not start going down.

"Thanksgiving meant so much to these early Pilgrims. I am thankful for all that God has done for us through these months through the broadcast. I believe that God will hear the prayer which accompanies this letter. He knows. 'In God We Trust.' May he richly bless you, my friend. Gratefully, Carl McIntire."

A network of 533 radio stations is a lot to carry a broadcast every day which preaches distrust in the President of the United States, plus attacks on other churches. Yet these broadcasts have continued every day for five years. Unquestionably they have had their impact in sowing the seeds of discord, suspicion, and hate.

Official References To Prayer Significant

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — For several months now, the American people have been puzzled as to whether anyone in the government of the United States may, on a formal or official occasion, ask people to pray to God. In fact, ever since the Supreme Court's decision which ruled that public-school teachers could not be directed by state or local governmental authorities to use a particular prayer in the classroom, there has been a question as to what mention of the Supreme Being would be permissible in official functions.

It is known, of course, that atheists have been insisting that there should be no semblance of religious worship in the public schools, but many citizens who do believe in God have assumed that the Supreme Court sooner or later would clarify its position and permit voluntary prayers in public schools.

It was, therefore, rather significant to note the frequent references to prayers to God which have been made in public speech-these last few days.

In the address, for instance, which President Lyndon Johnson delivered before the joint session of Congress on November 27, he said:

"On this Thanksgiving Eve, as we gather together to ask the Lord's blessing and give him our thanks, let us unite in those familiar and cherished words: 'America, America, God shed his grace on thee, and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea'."

In the Thanksgiving proclamation which had been issued on November 4 to the American people, the late President Kennedy said:

"Over three centuries ago our forefathers in Virginia and in Massachusetts far from home in a lonely wilderness set aside a time for Thanksgiving. On the appointed day, they gave reverent thanks for their safety, for the health of their children, for the fertility of their fields, for the laws which bound them together and for the faith which united them under their God.

"So, too, when the Colonies achieved their independence, our first President in the first year of his first administration proclaimed November 26, 1789, as 'a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God' and called upon the people of the new republic to 'beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions . . . to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue . . . and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best'. . . .

"On that day (November 28) let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that He will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice and understanding among all men and all nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist."

On Thanksgiving Day, President Johnson spoke over radio and television to the American people. He referred to Mr. Kennedy's proclamation and said:

"Tonight, on this Thanksgiving, I come before you to ask your help, to ask your strength, to ask your prayers that God may guard this republic and guide my every labor . . .

"On this Thanksgiving Day, as we gather in the warmth of our families, in the mutual love and respect which we have for one another, and as we bow our heads in submission to Divine Providence, let us also thank God for the years that he gave us inspiration through his servant, John F. Kennedy.

"Let us today renew our dedication to the ideals that are American. Let us pray for His divine wisdom in banishing from our land any injustice or intolerance or oppression to any of our fellow Americans, whatever their opinion, whatever the color of their skins—for God made all of us, not some of us, in his image. All of us, not just some of us, are his children.

"And, finally, to you as your President, I ask that you remember your country and remember me each day in your prayers, and I pledge to you the best within me to work for a new American greatness, a new day when peace is more secure, when justice is more universal, when freedom is more strong in every home of all mankind."

These numerous references to prayer and to the Deity, coming as they do from the highest official in the government of the United States, are bound to be regarded by many people as proof that to mention God or to refer in public speeches to prayer is not to be construed as "an establishment of religion" in the sense in which the Constitution uses the phrase. Indeed, there are many citizens who feel that while prayers of any kind can, of course, be said in the home or in churches or in public meetings, the recent trend which would banish any religious exercises in the public schools can only, in the long run, mean that opportunities will be missed to teach public-school students the foundations of morality and good behavior.

Chief Justice Warren, in his comment on the assassination of President Kennedy, declared it was "a result of the hatred and bitterness that has been injected into the life of our nation by bigots." And he said in conclusion, May God protect our nation in this hour of crisis."

But while people generally will wish to see hatred and bigotry eliminated from community life, they will also recognize that such a utopian mood will not come about unless school children, as well as grown-ups, are more deeply imbued with the Golden Rule mentioned in the Bible and the spirit of conciliation which is so necessary to solve the troublous problems of a free republic.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

WARTIME WASHINGTON — In line with the many changes going on in the federal government, the capital city is about to experience some change itself. Unsightly "temporary" government office buildings that were built on the Mall that cuts through the center of town during two world wars, are being gradually removed.

The gerry-built srtuctures that have marred the architectural beauty of the capital for visitors and residents alike are still in use 25 and 50 years after their temporary construction to house war-swollen government payrolls.

However, as government has always had a way of staying big and growing bigger, there never was enough permanent office space in Washington to handle federal workers' needs, even after the wars were over.

As an example of the money it takes to construct permanent office buildings, the government is currently building $75 million worth in the capital. These buildings will house some 10,000 workers when they are completed by mid-1964, presumably removing a similar number of workers from the "tempos," and permitting their dismantling.

Some of the buildings have been dismantled under past programs. At present there are 32 of them around Washington, providing office space for 33,000 employes.

Queen's English

By John Crosby

LONDON

I'm still struggling with the English language as it's spoken here. Jove! Actually, I've never heard anyone say, "Jove!" outside P. G. Wodehouse. The exclamations are much more complicated.

I went to a football game the other day — we call it soccer, but the whole rest of the world calls it football and it's probably the most international game on earth — partly because I think it's an exciting game, but mostly to see how the English behave under stress.

The things the audience exclaimed would land right on the New Yorker magazine's list of exclamations they doubt ever got exclaimed. "Come on, Bill! Let's have a go!" is one of the more frequent and more exclaimable exclamations. I mean this is the sort of thing an Englishman emits in a very tense moment on the threshold of a score.

"Well played, Mike," they'll yell, "well played." You also hear — so help me — spectators shouting, "Rather well done, John. Not bad!" That's when he doesn't want to let himself go all the way. Restrained Enthusiasm Department.

As for the opposite thing, when players are dogging it, when American spectators would be filling the air with cries of "kill the ———!" the English spectator exclaims — I have it right here in my notes—"Come awn! Get a move on with it! How long do you need, John?" Or, "Show a leg!" Just try cupping your hands and shouting that indignantly sometimes.

You mustn't think the English don't let themselves go and really howl. They do! They do! You hear yells like the ones that used to come out of Yankee Stadium when Yogi Berra belted one into the stands. The difference is that the real bellows come not when they score, but when they don't. A near miss splits the heavens. (I kept thinking our team was scoring when what it was doing was not scoring.)

(They behave the same way in Parliament.) "Our boys?" you may well ask. Well, I'm a big Fulham rooter. We got a hell of a ball club there, and with any luck we'll win the — well, whatever it is they win.

I'll be in great shape for Yankee Stadium when I get back to the States: "Well played, Mickey! Rather well done!"

No City Water For Sweeper

Street sweepers have stopped using city water in cooperation with the Water Department conservation program during the present drought period, Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder said yesterday.

Instead, the city has arranged to obtain water from the Cumberland Brewing Company springs for use on the Baltimore Street business section only. Water will be hauled in a tank truck through the cooperation of Cumberland Contracting Company, Street superintendent Ray Valentine said.

The present schedule for downtown will be followed between the hours of 2 a.m. and 7 a.m.

The remainder of the city will be swept manually, Valentine added. This schedule will be followed until further notice.

'Grease Gun' Inventor Dies In New York; Visited Here

The death of a Brooklyn gunsmith Monday in New York should revive memories in the thousands of area veterans who participated in the invasions by the Allies on D-Day in France, and landings on Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

The gunsmith was 75-year-old George Hyde, inventor of the famed "grease gun," lightweight, snub-nosed weapon used by many troops during World War II.

Hyde was a frequent visitor to this section, being a personal friend of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Derlan, LaVale.

Hyde created the prototype of the M-3 submachinegun in the basement workshop of his home at 552 Third Street, Brooklyn. He had been small arms advisor to the United States Government in 1941, and was assigned to the General Motors Inland Manufacturing Division at Dayton, Ohio, where the gun went into production and then was rushed to the invasion staging areas in England just prior to D-Day.

A plant production manager during World War I in a machine gun division of a German government munitions works in Berlin, Hyde came to this country in 1926. He was a foreman in a custom gun shop in the New York area for a number of years before he opened his own business in 1930.

He specialized in extensive customizing and modifying of target pistols, revolvers and rifles, and designed several guns for which he held patents.

Hyde's talents were called on when it was discovered the Army Infantry had no weapon suitable for the type of fighting expected during the Normandy invasion. As a top gunsmith, he was assigned to work something out.

Four weeks later he had produced a weapon that was almost indestructible — the M-3 submachinegun. He made a protoype of the M-3 that was tested on a firing range, and which fired 54,000 rounds without a stoppage.

Originally capable of firing at the rate of 400 rounds a minute, it later was adjusted to fire at 300 rounds per minute, making it more manageable for troops with little training in automatic weapons.

In recent years, Hyde's workshop has been a meeting place for gun buffs and skilled marksmen, including the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other police and law enforcement units.

The esteem in which he was held was apparent on August 29, 1960, when "George Hyde Day" was observed at Camp Smith, Peekskill, N. Y. The program featured the presentation of a huge cartoon of Hyde that was signed by military leaders, FBI and New York police officials.

Describing Brooklyn as "the best place in the world," Hyde lived with his wife at the same address as Mrs. Madelyn Grady, mother of Mrs. Derlan.

The aircraft, both military and civil, come in all models and are ordered by airlines and national air force authorities in many countries. The company recently contracted to supply 500 models of supersonic jet fighters, including 134 Starfighter Jets, to the United States Air Force.

Lonaconing Lion Arrange Party For Children

Annual Christmas Program Is Slated For December 16

LONACONING — The Lonaconing Lions Club will hold its annual Christmas party for children on December 16 in the Pythian Sisters Hall. Dinner, a program of entertainment and gifts are being arranged by the committee.

Boyd Bolyard, Samuel Hutcheson and Arthur Phillips Jr., comprise the committee on arrangements and they request that all reservations be completed by December 12.

As part of their community service activity, members of the local Lions Club joined with others here in sponsoring the street lighting and decorations throughout the community. The Lions provide the man-hours for putting up the lights and streamers.

Bolyard has reported that a candy sale project has been completed. Harry Bosley reported Blind Seals for the Sight Conservation Program of the Lions have been distributed and returns are beginning to come in. Bosley urges recipients of seals to make their returns promptly. All funds realized are to be used locally for eye care, examinations and eye glasses for students needing them in the Midland, Central and Barton elementary schools as well as in Valley High School.

At the recent meeting of the club, Joseph Mello, in charge of the program, introduced Charles Strigle of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company development staff. Mr. Strigle showed colored slides and sound film dealing with a nation-wide industry trend toward better and safer tires. Mr. Strigle joined the Kelly staff in Cumberland after coming from Ohio. He lives at Bel Air.

Council Waives Parking Fees At Piedmont

Mayor Pleased With Community Lighting Program

PIEDMONT — The Police Department was authorized by the Mayor and Council Tuesday evening to permit free parking throughout the Town of Piedmont for the convenience of Christmas shoppers. Collections from parking meters will be discontinued Wednesday, December 11 through December 25.

A remodeling permit was granted Mrs. Edward Warnick, Fairview Street.

Mayor Donald M. Mellor commented that the recent tree lighting celebration went over well in spite of the cold night and he was well pleased with the crowd and the number of children who participated.

Charles Spiker, chief of police, reported $63.60 in parking ticket fines for the month of November. The report included two arrests for careless driving, three arrests for being intoxicated in public, one for destruction of property, one arrest for trespassing, three investigations, 13 complaints received, one hit-and-run driver reported and eight traffic warnings issued.

Next meeting of the council will be held January 7.

Homemakers Sponsoring Home Lighting Contest In Mt. Savage Area

MT. SAVAGE—At a recent meeting of Mt. Savage Homemakers Club Mrs. Maude Holsinger, president, suggested that the club should offer cash awards for the best decorated home and yard in Mt. Thomas Stephens was chosen chairman of the judging committee and he will be assisted by Harry Poland, Rev. William Harpold, Raymond Himmelwright and Stanley Turley.

The town was divided into sections and anyone living within this area is eligible to participate: from the bridge at Newtown to the home of William Dickel; to the home of Colin Bower, Main Road; to Homer Black's at Dutch Hollow and to the home of Mrs. Irvin Geiger, Cemetery Road.

Mrs. Belva Miller, Mrs. Elizabeth Jenkins and Mrs. Mary Deffenbaugh will place posters in various parts of town announcing the contest.

Several members attended the County Council tea at St. Paul's Church.

The Christmas party was discussed. It will be held Thursday, December 19 at 11:30 a. m. Jingle gifts will be exchanged. Mrs. DeNoma Yutzy will be entertainment chairman and Mrs. Belva Miller is food chairman. Attendance prizes will be given at the meeting. Members planning to attend the Christmas luncheon who were not at the November meeting should notify the president.

Lonaconing Lion Arrange Party For Children

Annual Christmas Program Is Slated For December 16

LONACONING — The Lonaconing Lions Club will hold its annual Christmas party for children on December 16 in the Pythian Sisters Hall. Dinner, a program of entertainment and gifts are being arranged by the committee.

Boyd Bolyard, Samuel Hutcheson and Arthur Phillips Jr., comprise the committee on arrangements and they request that all reservations be completed by December 12.

As part of their community service activity, members of the local Lions Club joined with others here in sponsoring the street lighting and decorations throughout the community. The Lions provide the man-hours for putting up the lights and streamers.

Bolyard has reported that a candy sale project has been completed. Harry Bosley reported Blind Seals for the Sight Conservation Program of the Lions have been distributed and returns are beginning to come in. Bosley urges recipients of seals to make their returns promptly. All funds realized are to be used locally for eye care, examinations and eye glasses for students needing them in the Midland, Central and Barton elementary schools as well as in Valley High School.

At the recent meeting of the club, Joseph Mello, in charge of the program, introduced Charles Strigle of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company development staff. Mr. Strigle showed colored slides and sound film dealing with a nation-wide industry trend toward better and safer tires. Mr. Strigle joined the Kelly staff in Cumberland after coming from Ohio. He lives at Bel Air.

Council Waives Parking Fees At Piedmont

Mayor Pleased With Community Lighting Program

PIEDMONT — The Police Department was authorized by the Mayor and Council Tuesday evening to permit free parking throughout the Town of Piedmont for the convenience of Christmas shoppers. Collections from parking meters will be discontinued Wednesday, December 11 through December 25.

A remodeling permit was granted Mrs. Edward Warnick, Fairview Street.

Mayor Donald M. Mellor commented that the recent tree lighting celebration went over well in spite of the cold night and he was well pleased with the crowd and the number of children who participated.

Charles Spiker, chief of police, reported $63.60 in parking ticket fines for the month of November. The report included two arrests for careless driving, three arrests for being intoxicated in public, one for destruction of property, one arrest for trespassing, three investigations, 13 complaints received, one hit-and-run driver reported and eight traffic warnings issued.

Next meeting of the council will be held January 7.

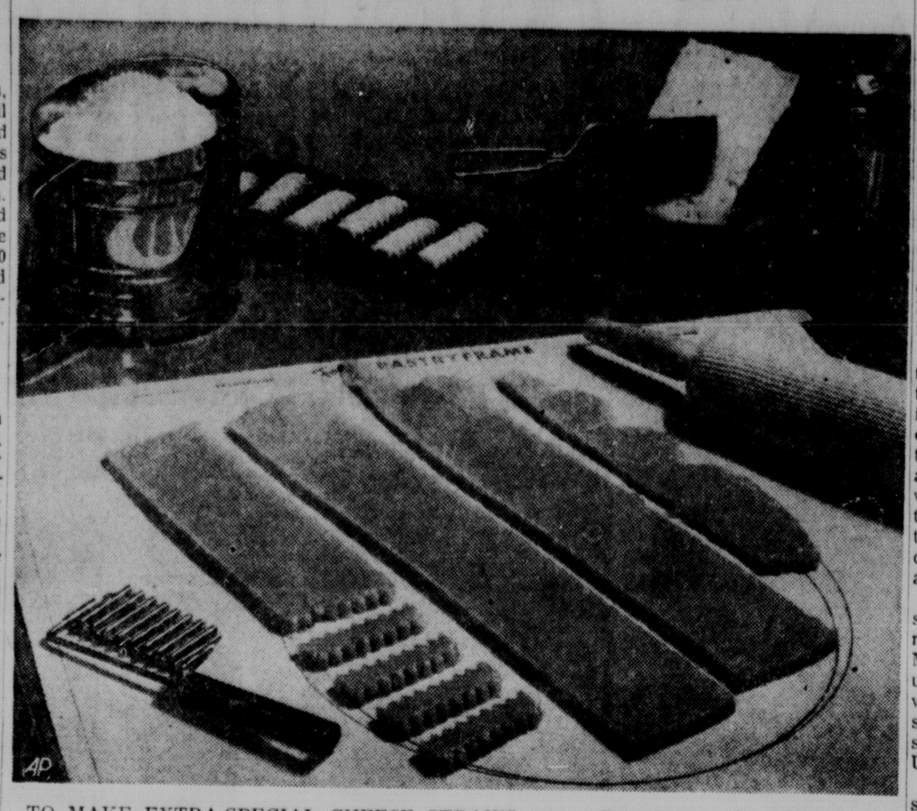
Cheese Straws Melt In Your Mouth



TO MAKE EXTRA-SPECIAL CHEESE STRAWS use a fine grater (for cheese), a pastry cloth, and a corrugated cutter.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

One of the best recipes we've ever tasted comes from our mailbox, sent to us recently by a friend. She writes:

"Dear Cecily — Anyone who has ever attended a wedding reception in the South has met up with cheese straws — a rich pastry cut into finger-size lengths with a corrugated cutter such as you would use for making crinkle-cut French fries. This is not an ordinary cheese pastry made by mixing a little grated cheese into pie dough, but rather a pastry lavish with cheese and butter and always seasoned with cayenne pepper.

"My Aunt Martha (Mrs. Jack Hamilton of Smithfield, North Carolina) makes the best cheese straws in the world. Not satisfied to follow the age-old formula of a pound each of cheese and butter to four cups of flour, she uses a pound of cheese and three-quarters pound of butter to three-and-one-half cups of flour. It is her own carefully conceived blend. Aunt Martha says that the mixture must be blended with the fingers. After making the cheese straws, I know that direction is terribly important.

"When I was growing up in North Carolina, we always had cheese straws in the house when mother was giving a tea or a bridge party, or when she had volunteered to make them for someone else's party. But Aunt Martha, to the delight of us children, made cheese straws 'just to have in the house'. And all these years she's kept right on making them to send to her children at college and her son in the service. Now she packs the cheese straws off to her granddaughter who adores them as much as do our generation."

When we made these cheese straws, every one of our tasters asked for the recipe. Here are a few hints from our testing. This dough, though as rich as Croesus, rolls out beautifullly. For easy rolling, we use a pastry cloth with a wooden and metal frame that keeps the cloth from sliding because it holds it firmly to the edge of the counter or a table. The corrugated cutter needed is an inexpensive tool; ours has a stainless steel blade and cost 47 cents.

Aunt Martha's Cheese Straws

1 pound sharp cheddar cheese
3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ pound (3 sticks) well chilled butter

Grate cheese with a fine grater (such as the one shown in photograph). Place grated cheese in refrigerator to keep cold. Measure flour into a large mixing bowl or onto a piece of waxed paper; mix in cayenne pepper and salt. Cut butter into small pieces (cut off pats then cut into sixths, using a small paring knife). Blend butter into flour with fingers until butter is like coarse small crumbs. Add grated cheese and blend with fingers into flour mixture until pastry is yellow all the way through. If ingredients are cold, pastry will not stick to hands. Roll out one-quarter of the dough at a time on a lightly floured pastry cloth to ¼ inch thickness. Using a ruler as a guide, cut pastry into strips 2½ inches wide, then with a corrugated cutter, cut into straws about 1¼ inches wide. Place about 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven 10 to 12 minutes or until straws begin to brown very very lightly around the edges. Makes about 10½ dozen. Store in a tightly covered metal box between layers of waxed paper. Cheese straws keep this way for several weeks. Freeze for longer storage.

Gourmet Chicken

4 large chicken breasts, boned and split
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon Ac'cent
¼ pound (1 stick) butter
2 eggs
⅓ cup milk
1½ cups toasted fine bread crumbs
Fat for frying

Pound each half chicken breast until about 4 inches long and 6 inches wide. Sprinkle inside of breasts with onion, salt, and Ac'Cent. Cut stick of butter in eighth, lengthwise. Place ⅛ stick butter in center of each breast and roll up, folding edges in. Beat eggs; combine with milk. Dip chicken in egg mixture; then roll in bread crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat until golden brown and crisp. Garnish with parsley.

YIELD: 8 servings.

COOK'S TOUR

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jamaicans are beginning to eat like Americans, while visitors try native dishes such as rice and peas, says the Jamaican controller of food standards.

In an interview here, Dr. Ina May Martin talked about the island's turnabout eating habits, some typical Jamaican foods and here career. She is one of three leading women in the government of the former British colony that became a Dominion in the British Commonwealth last year.

Dr. Martin's post corresponds to that of food administrator in the U. S. Food and Drug Administration. She said her duties include drafting of legislation setting standards for food packing and inspection, nutrition advisory work with government committees and public hospital administrators, plus writing articles and delivery of public, educational and radio lectures.

She also finds time for cooking, she added, and likes it very much. A food microbiologist, Dr. Martin holds degrees from three universities, including Yale, where she received one scholarship and two fellowships. She also studied for a year at Oxford University.

Of her nation's eating habits, she said:

Jamaicans "Americanized"

"We're getting so Americanized. Some urban Jamaicans are very English — they like a bowl of porridge or eggs, toast and marmalade for breakfast. But many others eat a typically-American ham and eggs or bacon and eggs bdeakfast and soup and sandwishes for lunch."

But increasing numbers of visitors order typical Jamaican foods in restaurants. These include rice and peas, a vegetable stew containing red peas or kidney beans, coconut cream, rice and seasonings.

Other local dishes finding favor with visitors include mango cups. Pits are easily removed from the Bombay variety of mango, and the space is filled with ice cream.

Codfish and ackee is another native food widely served in restaurants, she said. This is salted fish cooked with bacon or salt pork, onion, tomatoes and ackee, a nutty-flavored fruit cooked as a vegetable. It generally is served with rice, potatoes or cooked green bananas.

This and other main dishes usually are highly spiced, a cooking method long used in the tropics where refrigeration is scare and pickled, dried products widely used. The spices help mask briny flavors and act as short term preservatives.

Perch In Beer Batter

4 fresh water perch (1 pound each)
1 quart oil or melted shortening for frying
2 eggs, slightly beaten
⅔ cup beer or ale
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons oil or melted shortening

Scale fish with dull knife or scaler at 45° angle. Place point of sharp knife at skin on under side of fish and split from tail to gills. Remove viscera, wash away any blood and scrape back bone area clean. If a black membrane is present, remove by rubbing with salt or a brush. Remove head at base of gills. Cut each fish into three pieces. Heat oil in deep skillet or frying kettle to 375°F. Meanwhile, combine eggs, beer, Tabasco, flour, salt and oil until batter is smooth. Dip perch chunks into batter; drain. Drop into heated fat; fry 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from fat; drain.

Yield: 4 servings.

Slicing fresh bread—Hold knife blade under very hot water until it is hot. A hot blade will cut the freshest bread into perfectly smooth slices.

Fruited Cookies

(4 dozen)

¾ cup butter
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
⅓ cup chopped red maraschino cherries
⅓ cup green maraschino cherries
⅓ cup drained crushed pineapple
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
Granulated sugar
Milk

Cream butter with the sugars. Beat in egg. Stir in fruits and flavoring. Add sifted dry ingredients. Chill for several hours. Roll dough into 1-inch balls. Dip top of each into sugar, then milk, then again sugar. Place sugared side up on greased cooky sheet. Bake at 375° for about 15 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Week's Food Economies

Dollars spent for health, well being and pleasure through good food are dollars well spent. Homemakers could spend less if a deliberate selection of foods is made based on quality of food values, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office, Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

After a holiday feast, there is an even greater desire for economy than usual. With the larger supply of beef available there is economy to be found in many cuts. Specials on the more popular steaks and roasts should not be overlooked. Tasty pot roast cuts like chuck from the fore quarter make excellent winter meals. Beef cubes and ground beef are low in cost per serving and two of the more versatile meats from the beef counter. Ground chuck will contain a higher percentage of lean than regular ground beef and the cost will be proportionally higher. Ground round will contain less fat than any other ground beef product. Consider price in relation to use. Regular ground beef is found to be very satisfactory for spaghetti dishes, chili, meatballs and meat loaf.

Pork is another of the seasonal meats in good supply and prices are attractive on many cuts. Fresh pork and roasts are often the feature of the pork counter. Fresh shoulders are also suggested as a good buy.

This is the season of the year when root vegetables are in the markets in good supply. Yellow onions, rutabagas, white and sweet potatoes and carrots are on the best buy list. Celery is low in cost. These are vegetables that will enhance the pot roast menu or make a wonderful stew or boiled dinner. These are also vegetables that will supply a lot of nutrients for the money you spend.

Shoppers will also find specials on frozen vegetables attractive.

At the fruit counter apples and Emperor grapes are the best buy. The supply of apples remains large and the varieties for eating and cooking are many.

Tangerines are more plentiful as the season for them advances. Grapefruit, both pink and white, is in good quality and good supply.

Chocolate Cheesecake For That Special Fellow

By GAYNOR MADDOX

It is a widely known fact that normal men have a well-developed interest in "chesecake." Cheesecake of all kinds, of course. Mrs. C. M., a bride of six months, has discovered that her young husband particularly likes her chocolate cheesecake.

CHOCOLATE CHEESECAKE
(10 to 12 servings)

- 1¼ cups fine zwieback crumbs
- 1 tablespoon grandulated sugar
- ¼ cup butter, melted
- 2 cups (12 ounces) glazed semi-sweet chocolate chips
- ½ cup hot coffee
- 2 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 4 eggs
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup whipping cream
- Chocolate Curls (optional)

Combine zwieback crumbs and 1 tablespoon sugar. Add melted butter and mix until all crumbs are coated. Press into bottom of 9-inch spring-form pan. Partially melt chocolate chips in coffee over very low heat. Remove from heat and stir rapidly until smooth and blended.

Meanwhile, beat cream cheese until light and fluffy. Gradually add 1 cup sugar. Then add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Gradually add cooled chocolate mixture, vanilla, and salt, beating until thoroughly mixed. Pour into crumb-lined pan and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 1 hour. Cool.

Whip cream and spread on cake. Garnish with Chocolate Curls.

MAN-TRAPPING flavor is built into this attractive cheesecake, which uses zwieback crumbs.

Chocolate Curls. Let a square of unsweetened chocolate (wrapped or unwrapped) stand in a warm place (90 degrees to 100 degrees) about 20 minutes until square is very slightly softened, or hold chocolate square in hand. Shave into curls with vegetable peeler or small sharp knife, using long strokes. (The longer the strokes, the longer the curls.)

Dad's Potato Burgers

- 1 egg
- ¾ cup cold water
- 1 envelope Potato Pancake Mix
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 tablespoons shortening

Combine in a mixing bowl the egg, cold water, and the potato pancake mix. Let stand 10 minutes. Add the Worcestershire sauce, salt, and ground beef. Mix thoroughly. Spoon 8 portions onto a piece of foil or waxed paper. With a fork flatten and spread into round burgers about 4 inches in diameter. Heat shortening in large skillet. Cook burgers slowly over low to moderate heat, turning to cook both sides. The slow cooking gives a crusty brown surface with a juicy center. Serve one to a bun, topped with mustard and pickles. Makes 8 burgers.

When you embark on a shopping trip for pots and pans, you may find a matched set that's exactly what you want. By and large, however, you will do better to buy assorted wares to suit your needs.

Pop Corn Macaroons Easy To Make

Now — in less than an hour, you can have gay party-time, "Pop Corn Macaroons" — not just a few, but four dozen of these light, tasty, crunchy treats —and for less than 7c total cost of ingredients.

May sound unbelievable, but it's true. Here's all you do:

Using one-eighth cup of hulless pop corn, pop it, according to directions on the package. For best popping results, use pop corn that is of well-known quality, and comes in air-tight cans to keep it at the peak of popping perfection.

Lightly salt the popped corn. It's delicious to munch on while the cookies are baking, so you may as well pop a little extra!

Beat two egg whites until stiff, of sugar, one tablespoon at a time.

Fold in the popped pop corn. Spoon pop corn, egg-white and sugar mixture onto a piece of brown kraft paper. Bake at 300 degrees for 35 minutes, or until egg-whites are dry.

HINT: Egg whites collapse, so after beating, don't put off, get them into the oven as quickly as possible.

If you enjoy a fruit drink that is not too sweet, try pineapple-grapefruit juice.

Cheese Straws Melt In Your Mouth

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

One of the best recipes we've ever tasted comes from our mailbox, sent to us recently by a friend. She writes:

"Dear Cecily — Anyone who has ever attended a wedding reception in the South has met up with cheese straws — a rich pastry cut into finger-size lengths with a corrugated cutter such as you would use for making crinkle-cut French fries. This is not an ordinary cheese pastry made by mixing a little grated cheese into pie dough, but rather a pastry lavish with cheese and butter and always seasoned with cayenne pepper.

"My Aunt Martha (Mrs. Jack Hamilton of Smithfield, North Carolina) makes the best cheese straws in the world. Not satisfied to follow the age-old formula of a pound each of cheese and butter to four cups of flour, she uses a pound of cheese and three-quarters pound of butter to three-and-one-half cups of flour. It is her own carefully conceived blend. Aunt Martha says that the mixture must be blended with the fingers. After making the cheese straws, I know that direction is terribly important.

"When I was growing up in North Carolina, we always had cheese straws in the house when mother was giving a tea or a bridge party, or when she had volunteered to make them for someone else's party. But Aunt Martha, to the delight of us children, made cheese straws 'just to have in the house'. And all these years she's kept right on making them to send to her children at college and her son in the service. Now she packs the cheese straws off to her granddaughter who adores them as much as do our generation."

When we made these cheese straws, every one of our tasters asked for the recipe. Here are a few hints from our testing. This dough, though as rich as Croesus, rolls out beautifullly. For easy rolling, we use a pastry cloth with a wooden and metal frame that keeps the cloth from sliding because it holds it firmly to the edge of the counter or a table. The corrugated cutter needed is an inexpensive tool; ours has a stainless steel blade and cost 47 cents.

Aunt Martha's Cheese Straws

1 pound sharp cheddar cheese
3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ pound (3 sticks) well chilled butter

Grate cheese with a fine grater (such as the one shown in photograph). Place grated cheese in refrigerator to keep cold. Measure flour into a large mixing bowl or onto a piece of waxed paper; mix in cayenne pepper and salt. Cut butter into small pieces (cut off pats then cut into sixths, using a small paring knife). Blend butter into flour with fingers until butter is like coarse small crumbs. Add grated cheese and blend with fingers into flour mixture until pastry is yellow all the way through. If ingredients are cold, pastry will not stick to hands. Roll out one-quarter of the dough at a time on a lightly floured pastry cloth to ¼ inch thickness. Using a ruler as a guide, cut pastry into strips 2½ inches wide, then with a corrugated cutter, cut into straws about 1¼ inches wide. Place about 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven 10 to 12 minutes or until straws begin to brown very very lightly around the edges. Makes about 10½ dozen. Store in a tightly covered metal box between layers of waxed paper. Cheese straws keep this way for several weeks. Freeze for longer storage.

Gourmet Chicken

4 large chicken breasts, 'boned and split
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon Ac'cent
¼ pound (1 stick) butter
2 eggs
⅓ cup milk
1½ cups toasted fine bread crumbs
Fat for frying

Pound each half chicken breast until about 4 inches long and 6 inches wide. Sprinkle inside of breasts with onion, salt, and Ac'Cent. Cut stick of butter in eighth, lengthwise. Place ⅛ stick butter in center of each breast and roll up, folding edges in. Beat eggs; combine with milk. Dip chicken in egg mixture; then roll in bread crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat until golden brown and crisp. Garnish with parsley.

YIELD: 8 servings.

COOK'S TOUR

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jamaicans are beginning to eat like Americans, while visitors try native dishes such as rice and peas, says the Jamaican controller of food standards.

In an interview here, Dr. Ina May Martin talked about the island's turnabout eating habits, some typical Jamaican foods and here career. She is one of three leading women in the government of the former British colony that became a Dominion in the British Commonwealth last year.

Dr. Martin's post corresponds to that of food administrator in the U. S. Food and Drug Administration. She said her duties include drafting of legislation setting standards for food packing and inspection, nutrition advisory work with government committees and public hospital administrators, plus writing articles and delivery of public, educational and radio lectures.

She also finds time for cooking, she added, and likes it very much. A food microbiologist, Dr. Martin holds degrees from three universities, including Yale, where she received one scholarship and two fellowships. She also studied for a year at Oxford University.

Of her nation's eating habits, she said:

Jamaicans "Americanized"

"We're getting so Americanized. Some urban Jamaicans are very English — they like a bowl of porridge or eggs, toast and marmalade for breakfast. But many others eat a typically-American ham and eggs or bacon and eggs bdeakfast and soup and sandwishes for lunch."

But increasing numbers of visitors order typical Jamaican foods in restaurants. These include rice and peas, a vegetable stew containing red peas or kidney beans, coconut cream, rice and seasonings.

Other local dishes finding favor with visitors include mango cups. Pits are easily removed from the Bombay variety of mango, and the space is filled with ice cream.

Codfish and ackee is another native food widely served in restaurants, she said. This is salted fish cooked with bacon or salt pork, onion, tomatoes and ackee, a nutty-flavored fruit cooked as a vegetable. It generally is served with rice, potatoes or cooked green bananas.

This and other main dishes usually are highly spiced, a cooking method long used in the tropics where refrigeration is scare and pickled, dried products widely used. The spices help mask briny flavors and act as short term preservatives.

Perch In Beer Batter

4 fresh water perch (1 pound each)
1 quart oil or melted shortening for frying
2 eggs, slightly beaten
⅔ cup beer or ale
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons oil or melted shortening

Scale fish with dull knife or scaler at 45° angle. Place point of sharp knife at skin on under side of fish and split from tail to gills. Remove viscera, wash away any blood and scrape back bone area clean. If a black membrane is present, remove by rubbing with salt or a brush. Remove head at base of gills. Cut each fish into three pieces. Heat oil in deep skillet or frying kettle to 375°F. Meanwhile, combine eggs, beer, Tabasco, flour, salt and oil until batter is smooth. Dip perch chunks into batter; drain. Drop into heated fat; fry 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from fat; drain.

Yield: 4 servings.

Slicing fresh bread—Hold knife blade under very hot water until it is hot. A hot blade will cut the freshest bread into perfectly smooth slices.

Fruited Cookies

(4 dozen)

¾ cup butter
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg
⅓ cup chopped red maraschino cherries
⅓ cup green maraschino cherries
⅓ cup drained crushed pineapple
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
Granulated sugar
Milk

Cream butter with the sugars. Beat in egg. Stir in fruits and flavoring. Add sifted dry ingredients. Chill for several hours. Roll dough into 1-inch balls. Dip top of each into sugar, then milk, then again sugar. Place sugared side up on greased cooky sheet. Bake at 375° for about 15 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Pork Steaks Can Be Culinary Treat

Here's an idea for the adventuresome cook — Popular Pork Steaks. Economical pork steaks, cut from the pork shoulder, are braised with green pepper rings, onion and tomato slices. The pork blade steak can be easily identified by its thin blade bone as shown in the lower right hand corner.

The average homemaker spends three months each year in her kitchen. That's a lot of cooking! Adventuresome cooks look to new ideas to keep meals from becoming monotonous.

Here's a dish to brighten your menus and is economy-minded as well. It's called Popular Pork Steaks. Meaty pork steaks are browned, then braised with onion, green pepper rings and tomato slices. They may be served over hot buttered noodles with the good meat sauce.

Pork blade steaks are cut from the Boston butt, the upper part of the shoulder. These steaks can be identified by the thin blade bone each contains. Arm steaks—those with the round bone could be used for the preparation of this dish also.

Purchase steaks cut from ½ to ¾ inch thick. The size of an individual steak would do for one serving whereas a large one may make two servings, especially if there are small children in the family.

Pork steaks are an excellent source of high quality protein and the important B1 vitamins, particularly thiamine which is essential to a healthy nervous system.

One meat cookery fact to keep in mind when cooking pork steaks or pork chops is this. Always cook them to the well-done stage to bring out their delicious flavor. Braising, as in our Popular Pork Steaks recipe, is the best cooking method.

If the steaks or chops are less than ½ inch thick they may be pan fried if cooked slowly. They are excellent breaded and then panfried until golden-brown and well done throughout.

Popular Pork Steaks

4 pork blade steaks, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
4 slices onion, cut ¼ inch thick
¼ to ⅓ cup water
4 green pepper rings, cut ¼ inch thick
4 slices tomato, cut ½ inch thick
1 package (8 ounces) medium noodles, if desired

Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Place slice of onion on top of each steak and add water. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Place a slice of green pepper on top of each steak. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Place a slice of tomato on top of each steak. Cover and simmer 15 minutes more or until done. Cook noodles according to directions. Serve steaks over cooked noodles, if desired, pouring juices from steaks over the noodles.

Before buying a washer, make sure the home has adequate wiring and water pressure. Hot water — at least 140 degrees — is necessary to release the full cleaning power built into soap and detergent products.

--- To store fresh meat—Store all all fresh meats at once in coldest part of food compartment of refrigerator, or in the compartment designed for meat storage. The meat may be stored, unwrapped, in the latter.

CELERY STUFFING: Prepare one package herb-seasoned stuffing according to directions and add ½ cup diced celery.

MUSHROOM STUFFING: Prepare one package herb-seasoned stuffing according to directions and add 1 cup drained, sliced, cooked or canned mushrooms.

CRANBERRY STUFFING: Prepare one package herb-seasoned stuffing according to directions and add 1 cup chopped raw cranberries.

OYSTER STUFFING: Prepare one package herb-seasoned stuffing according to directions and add ½ pint (1 cup) drained, chopped, fresh or frozen oysters.

GIBLET STUFFING: Simmer turkey giblets with a celery stalk, an onion and a sprig of parsley for about 4 hours, or till tender. Drain and chop giblets. Prepare one package herb-seasoned stuffing according to directions and add chopped giblets.

Correct measuring of ingredients is essential if you would follow our recipes with consistent success. All measurements should be level.

White-and-Gold Soup—Prepare and heat 3 cans frozen condensed potato soup as label directs. Add 3 cups shredded raw carrots, and continue heating 5 to 8 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Week's Food Economies

Dollars spent for health, well being and pleasure through good food are dollars well spent. Homemakers could spend less if a deliberate selection of foods is made based on quality of food values, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office, Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

After a holiday feast, there is an even greater desire for economy than usual. With the larger supply of beef available there is economy to be found in many cuts. Specials on the more popular steaks and roasts should not be overlooked. Tasty pot roast cuts like chuck from the fore quarter make excellent winter meals. Beef cubes and ground beef are low in cost per serving and two of the more versatile meats from the beef counter. Ground chuck will contain a higher percentage of lean than regular ground beef and the cost will be proportionally higher. Ground round will contain less fat than any other ground beef product. Consider price in relation to use. Regular ground beef is found to be very satisfactory for spaghetti dishes, chili, meatballs and meat loaf.

Pork is another of the seasonal meats in good supply and prices are attractive on many cuts. Fresh pork and roasts are often the feature of the pork counter. Fresh shoulders are also suggested as a good buy.

This is the season of the year when root vegetables are in the markets in good supply. Yellow onions, rutabagas, white and sweet potatoes and carrots are on the best buy list. Celery is low in cost. These are vegetables that will enhance the pot roast menu or make a wonderful stew or boiled dinner. These are also vegetables that will supply a lot of nutrients for the money you spend.

Shoppers will also find specials on frozen vegetables attractive.

At the fruit counter apples and Emperor grapes are the best buy. The supply of apples remains large and the varieties for eating and cooking are many.

Tangerines are more plentiful as the season for them advances. Grapefruit, both pink and white, is in good quality and good supply.

Chocolate Cheesecake For That Special Fellow

By GAYNOR MADDOX

It is a widely known fact that normal men have a well-developed interest in "chesecake." Cheesecake of all kinds, of course. Mrs. C. M., a bride of six months, has discovered that her young husband particularly likes her chocolate cheesecake.

CHOCOLATE CHEESECAKE
(10 to 12 servings)

- 1¼ cups fine zwieback crumbs
- 1 tablespoon grandulated sugar
- ¼ cup butter, melted
- 2 cups (12 ounces) glazed semi-sweet chocolate chips
- ½ cup hot coffee
- 2 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 4 eggs
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup whipping cream
- Chocolate Curls (optional)

Combine zwieback crumbs and 1 tablespoon sugar. Add melted butter and mix until all crumbs are coated. Press into bottom of 9-inch spring-form pan. Partially melt chocolate chips in coffee over very low heat. Remove from heat and stir rapidly until smooth and blended.

Meanwhile, beat cream cheese until light and fluffy. Gradually add 1 cup sugar. Then add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Gradually add cooled chocolate mixture, vanilla, and salt, beating until thoroughly mixed. Pour into crumb-lined pan and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 1 hour. Cool.

Whip cream and spread on cake. Garnish with Chocolate Curls.

MAN-TRAPPING flavor is built into this attractive cheesecake, which uses zwieback crumbs.

Chocolate Curls. Let a square of unsweetened chocolate (wrapped or unwrapped) stand in a warm place (90 degrees to 100 degrees) about 20 minutes until square is very slightly softened, or hold chocolate square in hand. Shave into curls with vegetable peeler or small sharp knife, using long strokes. (The longer the strokes, the longer the curls.)

Dad's Potato Burgers

- 1 egg
- ¾ cup cold water
- 1 envelope Potato Pancake Mix
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 tablespoons shortening

Combine in a mixing bowl the egg, cold water, and the potato pancake mix. Let stand 10 minutes. Add the Worcestershire sauce, salt, and ground beef. Mix thoroughly. Spoon 8 portions onto a piece of foil or waxed paper. With a fork flatten and spread into round burgers about 4 inches in diameter. Heat shortening in large skillet. Cook burgers slowly over low to moderate heat, turning to cook both sides. The slow cooking gives a crusty brown surface with a juicy center. Serve one to a bun, topped with mustard and pickles. Makes 8 burgers.

When you embark on a shopping trip for pots and pans, you may find a matched set that's exactly what you want. By and large, however, you will do better to buy assorted wares to suit your needs.

Pop Corn Macaroons Easy To Make

Now — in less than an hour, you can have gay party-time, "Pop Corn Macaroons" — not just a few, but four dozen of these light, tasty, crunchy treats —and for less than 7c total cost of ingredients.

May sound unbelievable, but it's true. Here's all you do:

Using one-eighth cup of hulless pop corn, pop it, according to directions on the package. For best popping results, use pop corn that is of well-known quality, and comes in air-tight cans to keep it at the peak of popping perfection.

Lightly salt the popped corn. It's delicious to munch on while the cookies are baking, so you may as well pop a little extra!

Beat two egg whites until stiff, of sugar, one tablespoon at a time.

Fold in the popped pop corn. Spoon pop corn, egg-white and sugar mixture onto a piece of brown kraft paper. Bake at 300 degrees for 35 minutes, or until egg-whites are dry.

HINT: Egg whites collapse... so after beating, don't put off, get them into the oven as quickly as possible.

If you enjoy a fruit drink that is not too sweet, try pineapple-grapefruit juice.

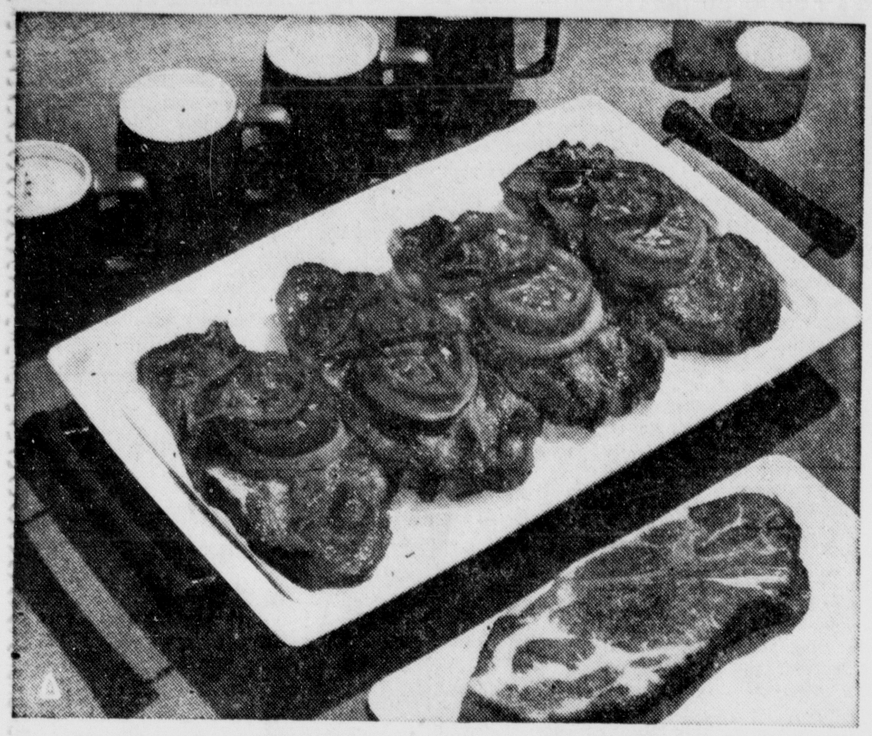
Pork Steaks Can Be Culinary Treat



Here's an idea for the adventuresome cook — Popular Pork Steaks. Economical pork steaks, cut from the pork shoulder, are braised with green pepper rings, onion and tomato slices. The pork blade steak can be easily identified by its thin blade bone as shown in the lower right hand corner.

The average homemaker spends three months each year in her kitchen. That's a lot of cooking! Adventuresome cooks look to new ideas to keep meals from becoming monotonous.

Here's a dish to brighten your menus and is economy-minded as well. It's called Popular Pork Steaks. Meaty pork steaks are browned, then braised with onion, green pepper rings and tomato slices. They may be served over hot buttered noodles with the good meat sauce.

Pork blade steaks are cut from the Boston butt, the upper part of the shoulder. These steaks can be identified by the thin blade bone each contains. Arm steaks—those with the round bone could be used for the preparation of this dish also.

Purchase steaks cut from ½ to ¾ inch thick. The size of an individual steak may vary. A small steak would do for one serving whereas a large one may make two servings, especially if there are small children in the family.

Pork steaks are an excellent source of high quality protein and the important B1 vitamins, particularly thiamine which is essential to a healthy nervous system.

One meat cookery fact to keep in mind when cooking pork steaks or pork chops is this. Always cook them to the well-done stage to bring out their delicious flavor. Braising, as in our Popular Pork Steaks recipe, is the best cooking method.

If the steaks or chops are less than ½ inch thick they may be pan fried if cooked slowly. They are excellent breaded and then panfried until golden-brown and well done throughout.

Popular Pork Steaks

4 pork blade steaks, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Variations Of Dressings

Gala Stuffings for your Turkey —For the family who likes more than one kind of dressing, here is an easy way to please their appetites. Prepare one of the variations below to stuff the bird; another to bake in roasting pan alongside of the turkey.

Loosely pack stuffing in buttered 6 ounce custard cups. Invert in roasting pan and cook along with turkey. About ½ hour before end of roasting, remove custard cups, leaving dressing in pan to finish baking. To serve, gently place individual stuffing molds around turkey.

CELERY STUFFING: Prepare one package herb-seasoned stuffing according to directions and add ½ cup diced celery.

MUSHROOM STUFFING: Prepare one package herb-seasoned stuffing according to directions and add 1 cup drained, sliced, cooked or canned mushrooms.

CRANBERRY STUFFING: Prepare one package herb-seasoned stuffing according to directions and add 1 cup chopped raw cranberries.

OYSTER STUFFING: Prepare one package herb-seasoned stuffing according to directions and add ½ pint (1 cup) drained, chopped, fresh or frozen oysters.

GIBLET STUFFING: Simmer turkey giblets with a celery stalk, an onion and a sprig of parsley for about 4 hours, or till tender. Drain and chop giblets. Prepare one package herb-seasoned stuffing according to directions and add chopped giblets.

Correct measuring of ingredients is essential if you would follow our recipes with consistent success. All measurements should be level.

White-and-Gold Soup—Prepare and heat 3 cans frozen condensed potato soup as label directs. Add 3 cups shredded raw carrots, and continue heating 5 to 8 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Dapper Dans Will Present Achievement Award To "Horse" Lough

Potomac State Veteran Coach To Get Plaque

Presentation Set For 16th Dinner Here January 12

Dana G. "Horse" Lough, who has coached basketball and football teams at Potomac State College since 1935, will be presented a plaque for special achievement at the 16th annual sports celebrities dinner of the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club Sunday, January 12, at 6 p. m., at St. Mary's Church Hall.

Announcement of the selection of Lough was made last night at a meeting of the executive committee of the Dapper Dan Club.

The 63-year-old athletic director and coach is a native of the Morgantown, W. Va., area and started his coaching career at Chesapeake (Ohio) High School where he tutored football teams and boys and girls basketball teams for six years. In 1933 he coached at Piedmont High School and in 1934 he was the head coach at Keyser High School.

Lough is the dean of coaches in this area and last night he started his 38th year as basketball mentor. This is his 30th quint at Potomac State. The 1963 season was his 26th as football coach of the Catamounts. During the war years of 1943, 1944 and 1945 football was suspended at the Keyser junior college.

Teams Won 100 Games

Over 26 campaigns Lough's Potomac State football teams have won 100, lost 101 and played ten tie games. His 100th victory came during the State of West Virginia's centennial year observance.

Lough is the third sports personality selected for a special achievement award at next month's dinner.

Dr. M. R. J. Wyllie, outstanding sports car driver, of the Pittsburgh area, and Ronald E. "Red" McCurdy, chairman of the 1963 sports car racing program here, will also receive plaques for the part they have played in the success of the Cumberland Sports Car Classic held annually at the airport. McCurdy served as press chief and public relations director of the races for seven years. Wyllie has taken an active part in the programs since the inception of the races staged under the joint sponsorship of the Cumberland Lions Club and the Steel Cities Region, Sports Car Club of America.

Award Is Cancelled

The executive board last night announced that it will dispense with the award that goes annually to the area athlete who had done the most during the year to publicize Cumberland and vicinity. There were no candidates available for the plaque this year.

Profit from the annual dinner goes to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

41-Year-Old Record Falls At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 4 (AP) —A 41-year-old track record fell here at Ole Pimlico Race Course today when K. J. Kimball, Jr.'s Yankee Blaze, which went into the sixth race a maiden, ran a mile-and-a-quarter in 2.04 1/5 to win at $36.00, $6.60 and $2.20 across the board.

The previous mark for the little-used distance was 2.04 2/5 and was set in 1922 by Oceanic, who carried 112 pounds, the same weight as lugged by today's winner.

Yankee Blaze, who gave Phil Grimm the fast ride, was winning his first race when he finished five panels in front of Monarch Park, which had won 9 times this season and was favorite at $2.20 to place and the same price to show. New Democracy finished third at $2.60.

Vince Dooley Named Georgia Grid Coach

Appointment Follows Griffith Resignation

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI)—Vince Dooley, 31-year-old freshman football coach at Auburn, Wednesday was named head varsity coach at the University of Georgia to succeed Johnny Griffith.

Dooley, a former Auburn quarterback was named as head coach of the Bulldogs by new Athletic Director Joel Eaves, former Auburn basketball coach.

Griffith, who failed to field a winner in three seasons after succeeding Wally Butts, resigned earlier in the day.

"That was the way they wanted it. I'm disappointed but bear no bitterness," Griffith said.

Dooley was quarterback at Auburn for the 1951-52-53 seasons and in 1953 led the Tigers to a 7-2-1 record, their best in 17 years.

He played in the 1954 College All-Star game and then spent two years in the U.S. Marine Corps as a lieutenant. He joined the Auburn coach staff after leaving the Marine Corps in 1956. Dooley was born in Mobile Ala., Sept. 4, 1932 and was an all-state tailback and basketball player at McGill High School in Mobile in 1949.

He is married to the former Barbara Meshad of Birmingham, Ala. They have a two-year-old daughter and a one-year-old son.

Griffith's resignation came as no surprise. His three-year record as head coach at Georgia was 10-16-4 and his best season was this past one when Georgia finished at 4-5-1 by losing all of its last four games.

AFL Title Game Is Set For Jan. 5

Playoff In NFL Carded Dec. 29

NEW YORK (UPI)—Commissioner Joe Foss announced Wednesday that the American Football League's championship playoff game will be played on Sunday, Jan. 5, in either San Diego or Oakland, Calif.

The title game originally had been scheduled for Dec. 22, but was set back two weeks after the AFL postponed all Nov. 24 games because of the death of President Kennedy.

Foss also announced that the AFL's third all-star game, originally set for Jan. 5 in San Diego's Balboa Stadium, has been re-scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 19.

The re-scheduled AFL games will provide the nation's television viewers with four consecutive Sundays of pro football fare between Dec. 29 and Jan 19.

The National Football League's title playoff is scheduled for Dec. 29 and its pro bowl (All-Star) game at Los Angeles for Jan. 12.

Dapper Dans Will Present Achievement Award To "Horse" Lough

Potomac State Veteran Coach To Get Plaque

Presentation Set For 16th Dinner Here January 12

Dana G. "Horse" Lough, who has coached basketball and football teams at Potomac State College since 1935, will be presented a plaque for special achievement at the 16th annual sports celebrities dinner of the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club Sunday, January 12, at 6 p. m., at St. Mary's Church Hall.

Announcement of the selection of Lough was made last night at a meeting of the executive committee of the Dapper Dan Club.

The 63-year-old athletic director and coach is a native of the Morgantown, W. Va., area and started his coaching career at Chesapeake (Ohio) High School where he tutored football teams and boys and girls basketball teams for six years. In 1933 he coached at Piedmont High School and in 1934 he was the head coach at Keyser High School.

Lough is the dean of coaches in this area and last night he started his 38th year as basketball mentor. This is his 30th quint at Potomac State. The 1963 season was his 26th as football coach of the Catamounts. During the war years of 1943, 1944 and 1945 football was suspended at the Keyser junior college.

Teams Won 100 Games

Over 26 campaigns Lough's Potomac State football teams have won 100, lost 101 and played ten tie games. His 100th victory came during the State of West Virginia's centennial year observance.

Lough is the third sports personality selected for a special achievement award at next month's dinner.

Dr. M. R. J. Wyllie, outstanding sports car driver, of the Pittsburgh area, and Ronald E. "Red" McCurdy, chairman of the 1963 sports car racing program here, will also receive plaques for the part they have played in the success of the Cumberland Sports Car Classic held annually at the airport. McCurdy served as press chief and public relations director of the races for seven years. Wyllie has taken an active part in the programs since the inception of the races staged under the joint sponsorship of the Cumberland Lions Club and the Steel Cities Region, Sports Car Club of America.

Award Is Cancelled

The executive board last night announced that it will dispense with the award that goes annually to the area athlete who had done the most during the year to publicize Cumberland and vicinity. There were no candidates available for the plaque this year.

Profit from the annual dinner goes to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

41-Year-Old Record Falls At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 4 (AP) —A 41-year-old track record fell here at Ole Pimlico Race Course today when K. J. Kimball, Jr.'s Yankee Blaze, which went into the sixth race a maiden, ran a mile-and-a-quarter in 2.04 1/5 to win at $36.00, $6.60 and $2.20 across the board.

The previous mark for the little-used distance was 2.04 2/5 and was set in 1922 by Oceanic, who carried 112 pounds, the same weight as lugged by today's winner.

Yankee Blaze, who gave Phil Grimm the fast ride, was winning his first race when he finished five panels in front of Monarch Park, which had won 9 times this season and was favorite at $2.20 to place and the same price to show. New Democracy finished third at $2.60.

Vince Dooley Named Georgia Grid Coach

Appointment Follows Griffith Resignation

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI)—Vince Dooley, 31-year-old freshman football coach at Auburn, Wednesday was named head varsity coach at the University of Georgia to succeed Johnny Griffith.

Dooley, a former Auburn quarterback was named as head coach of the Bulldogs by new Athletic Director Joel Eaves, former Auburn basketball coach.

Griffith, who failed to field a winner in three seasons after succeeding Wally Butts, resigned earlier in the day.

"That was the way they wanted it. I'm disappointed but bear no bitterness," Griffith said.

Dooley was quarterback at Auburn for the 1951-52-53 seasons and in 1953 led the Tigers to a 7-2-1 record, their best in 17 years.

He played in the 1954 College All-Star game and then spent two years in the U.S. Marine Corps as a lieutenant. He joined the Auburn coach staff after leaving the Marine Corps in 1956. Dooley was born in Mobile Ala., Sept. 4, 1932 and was an all-state tailback and basketball player at McGill High School in Mobile in 1949.

He is married to the former Barbara Meshad of Birmingham, Ala. They have a two-year-old daughter and a one-year-old son.

Griffith's resignation came as no surprise. His three-year record as head coach at Georgia was 10-16-4 and his best season was this past one when Georgia finished at 4-5-1 by losing all of its last four games.

AFL Title Game Is Set For Jan. 5

Playoff In NFL Carded Dec. 29

NEW YORK (UPI)—Commissioner Joe Foss announced Wednesday that the American Football League's championship playoff game will be played on Sunday, Jan. 5, in either San Diego or Oakland, Calif.

The title game originally had been scheduled for Dec. 22, but was set back two weeks after the AFL postponed all Nov. 24 games because of the death of President Kennedy.

Foss also announced that the AFL's third all-star game, originally set for Jan. 5 in San Diego's Balboa Stadium, has been re-scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 19.

The re-scheduled AFL games will provide the nation's television viewers with four consecutive Sundays of pro football fare between Dec. 29 and Jan 19.

The National Football League's title playoff is scheduled for Dec. 29 and its pro bowl (All-Star) game at Los Angeles for Jan. 12.

Cards Ask Waivers On Carl Sawatski

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals this week asked waivers on big catcher Carl Sawatski, who lost out the No. 1 post to young Tim McCarver during the last baseball season.

Finzel's 27th Year Colts Best Of "12"

Hetzel All-America? Campers' First Foe

By C. V. BURNS

MATT STIERINGER is the only new basketball coach listed in the tri-state area as the 1963-64 season gets underway.

Stieringer will coach Northern High's Huskies of Garrett County, succeeding Romeo Williams, who spent one year there as mentor and whose only team won six and lost 12.

Stieringer comes from Bayard High School where he served as assistant to Coach Francis Maleonskie. He is a graduate of Shepherd College and makes his home at Bayard.

The dean of area schoolboy basketball coaches is Edward C. "Ebbie" Finzel, who is starting his 27th year at Beall High School. Finzel succeeded J. Stanley Hunter late in 1935 and has been tutoring Beall quints since the 1935-36 season with the exception of two years during the Second World War when he served in the Navy.

Jonathan Paugh is beginning his 24th season of basketball coaching. This is his 20th campaign at Moorefield High School. He started coaching at Mathias High School in Hardy county.

Homer Brooks, a native of Baltimore, former Cumberlander and Allegany High, Potomac State and West Virginia U. Cager, is starting his 22nd year of coaching. This is his 15th season at Frederick High School but he coached one year at Elk Garden, two at Rowlesburg and four at Parsons in Tucker county before taking over the reins of the Cadets in 1950.

William "Huck" Miers is commencing his 21st campaign as boss of Piedmont High School's Lions.

Before stepping down as basketball mentor John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh served 30 seasons at Penn Avenue and Fort Hill. Walter L. Bowers was Allegany's cage mentor for 29 years.

Here are the records of a majority of the coaches at their present schools:

COACH Lefty Driesell, of the Davidson College Wildcats basketball team, says:

"There's no doubt in my mind, and shouldn't be in the mind of anyone who has seen him play, that Fred Hetzel's an All-America.

"Fred does it all — he plays defense, rebounds, dribbles, passes off and is one of the best shooters in the game up to and including the pros."

Fred, the son of a former Allegany County High School and University of Maryland athlete, rewrote the record book in his sophomore year with the Wildcats.

As a junior, says Driesell, Hetzel is "50 per cent better than he was at this time last season."

Davidson never has produced an All-America cager but Hetzel, with only one varsity season behind him, could easily be the pioneer.

THE Pacific Coast League's expansion to 12 clubs in 1964 brings back memories of 1931 when the Cumberland Colts, then affiliated with the New York Yankees, won the championship in the 12-club Middle Atlantic League.

Other cities in the M. A. circuit that year were Charleston, Beckley, Hagerstown, Scottdale, Fairmont, Johnstown, Clarksburg, Huntington, Wheeling, Charleroi and Jeannette.

That was the first league to have 12 clubs in modern organized baseball but going back to 1875 we find that the National League had thirteen teams, five of which disbanded before the season ended.

Philadelphia had three clubs in that circuit, St. Louis, two, Boston, Hartford, Chicago, New York, Brooklyn, New Haven, Washington and Keokuk one each. The St. Louis Red Stockings, Philadelphia Centennials, New Haven, Washington and Keokuk were the teams that threw in the sponge.

The Middle Atlantic of 1931 shrunk from 12 to six teams in 1932. That was Cumberland's last year in organized ball. The other clubs were Beckley, Charleston, Johnstown, Clarksburg and Huntington.

Wonder how many teams the Pacific Coast League will have in 1965?

WHEN the buck deer season opens today in Maryland gunners in 12 counties will be restricted to shotguns.

The counties are Howard, Anne Arundel, Charles, Prince Georges, Calvert, Baltimore, Harford, Kent, St. Mary's, Queen Anne's, Caroline and Talbot.

Nimrods must use rifled slugs or the more old-fashioned round pumpkin balls.

It is because the fast dropping trajectory of the shotgun loads that they are required in the densely settled areas. Rifle bullets can travel a mile or more at killing force but the shotgun projectile is generally spent within 125 yards.

ADD 1963 football records:

Clarke County (Berryville, Va.) 10-0, Harpers Ferry 7-1, James Wood (Winchester) 7-3, Handley (Winchester) 6-4, Musselman 5-3-1, Hedgesville 3-3-1, Waynesboro, Pa., 4-5, Charles Town 4-6, Boonsboro 2-7-1, Shepherdstown 1-7 and Annapolis 6-4.

BISHOP GUILFOYLE High School of Altoona will have at least four games under its belt by the time Allegany High's Campers open their season with the Marauders Wednesday, December 11, at Campobello.

Coach Joe Benton's Pennsylvanians copped two games in as many nights last week, opening with a 41-37 win over Tyrone and trimming Juniata Valley 67-55.

Eddie "Red" Miller, a 6-foot-2 forward, who quarterbacked the Marauders in this year's grid battle with Allegany, scored 52 of Altoona's 108 points in the two games.

Against Tyrone he slammed in nine fielders and 19 points and in the Juniata Valley contest he connected for 12 field goals, 9-out-of-10 at the charity stripe for a total of 33 tallies.

MRS. ORA PENNER, 86 of 209½ Union Street, who died Sunday in a local hospital, was the mother of Albert "Buck" Penner, an outstanding local professional lightweight boxer of the 1920s.

"Buck's" last fight was at the Liberty Theater on the night of August 31, 1922 when he won over K. O. Circus, of Pittsburgh, who was noted for somersaulting across the ring after every bout in which he participated.

At 5 a. m. the following morning Penner met death in an automobile mishap on Martin's Mountain.

Final rites for Mrs. Penner were held yesterday.

Kelso Heads Turf, Sports Digest Poll

Voted Champion 4th Straight Year

BALTIMORE (AP) — Kelso was a runaway winner for the fourth straight year in the poll by Turf and Sports Digest for the champion race horse of 1963.

Mrs. Richard C. duPont's 6-year-old gelding drew 146 of the 155 votes by turf writers and broadcasters.

Along with the championship, Kelso also was named best among the thoroughbreds four years and older.

Darby Dan Farm's Chateaugay nosed out Rex Ellsworth's Candy Spots for the 3-year-old title in the 28th poll by the magazine

The closest contest was among 2-year-old males, with Harbor View Farm's Raise A Native nosing out a stablemate, Roman Brother, 194 points to 192. Points were counted for first, second and third votes.

Briardale Farm's Tosmah also copped a close decision from Wheatley Stable's Castle Forbes 344 to 334, for the 2-year-old filly title.

William Haggin Perry's Lamb Chop was an easy winner in voting for best female three years and older.

Charles Town Opens Racing Meet Dec. 16

CHARLES TOWN, West Va., December 2 — Thoroughbred racing will return to the Charles Town Race Course on Monday, December 16 and continue through Saturday, January 18. The dates were released by Louis Pondfield, vice president of the popular winter racing center. Christmas Day will be a dark day.

Post time for the first race each day will be the usual one o'clock starting time.

Orioles Trade Smith To Tribe For Kirkland

Bauer Will Platoon Willie With Bowens

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, up to their eyeballs in left-handed hitting outfielders, and the Baltimore Orioles, looking for power pulled a trade Wednesday. The Indians gave up outfielder Willie Kirkland and got outfielder Al Smith and about $25,000.

It was the third trade of the winter baseball meetings. The Indians earlier acquired outfielder Leon Wagner from the Los Angeles Angels for pitcher Barry Latman and a major leaguer player to be named later. The Milwaukee Braves traded catcher Del Crandall and pitchers Bob Hendley and Bob Shaw to the San Francisco Giants for outfielder Felipe Alou, catcher Ed Bailey, pitcher Billy Hoeft and a minor league player to be named later.

Said Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts:

"Smith gives us some right-handed power, which we badly needed. He's a versatile man and could also play third base in an emergency."

Said Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer:

"Kirkland is a good outfielder —and he's got power."

After their first trade here, the Indians had a half-dozen left-handed hitting outfielders—Wagner, Kirkland, Vic Davalillo, Tito Francona, Al Luplow and rookie Chico Salmon.

Smith appeared in 120 games for the Orioles last season and batted .272, hitting 10 homers and driving in 39 runs. Kirkland was in 127 games, batted .230, hit 15 homers and had 47 RBI.

Smith has been with three clubs, counting Cleveland, in less than three years. He'll be joining the Indians for the second time. He was with Cleveland from 1953 through 1957 and with the Chicago White Sox from 1958 through 1962. The White Sox traded Smith and shortstop Luis Aparacio to Baltimore last January for pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm, shortstop Ron Hansen, third baseman Pete Ward and outfielder Dave Nicholson.

Smith's listed age is 35 but sme suspect several birthdays were overlooked in arriving at the figure.

Kirkland, 29, had his best season with Cleveland in 1961, when he batted .259, hit 27 homers and drove in 95 runs. With San Francisco in 1959, he batted .272, hit 22 homers and had 68 RBI. The Giants traded him and pitcher John Antonelli to Cleveland after the 1960 season for infielder-outfielder Harvey Kuenn.

To Platoon Kirkland

Bauer said his present plan is to platoon Kirkland in right field with rookie Sam Bowens.

Tebbetts said Smith is likely to be platooned in left field. Tebbetts didn't say who the alernate left fielder may be.

Wake Forest Fires Coach Hildebrand

Athletic Director Gibson Is Dumped

WINSTON - SALEM, N.C. (UPI)—The Wake Forest Deacons, winners of only one football game in the past two seasons, dumped Athletic Director Bill Gibson and Coach Billy Hildebrand Wednesday and began an immediate search for "dynamic" replacements.

Both Gibson and Hildebrand were offered positions with the development division at the Baptist-affiliated school, but it was not immediately known whether they would accept.

The shakeup resulted largely from Wake Forest's inability to compete successfully in big-time football. The Deacons broke an 18-game losing streak only last month with a 20-19 win over South Carolina.

"I'm willing to take my share of the responsbility for our failure not to have a good football program," Gibson said, "but I certainly don't think the full responsibility should rest on my shoulders or upon the shoulders of the head football coach."

Hildebrand, a 39-year-old standout at Mississippi State and a former assistant coach at Minnesota, has had a 7-33 record since taking over as head coach in 1960. He has three years remaining on his contract.

Foster had forgotten to remove the hunting license of Carl Bell, the jacket's owner which was pinned on the back.

Liberty Bowl Teams Picked

Mississippi State To Oppose Wolfpack

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Mississippi State University Wednesday night accepted an invitation to meet North Carolina State in the fifth annual Liberty Bowl here Dec. 21.

The announcement was made by the Liberty Bowl selection committee. North Carolina State's acceptance was announced Monday.

Mississippi State will meet the Atlantic Coast Conference co-champions at Philadelphia Stadium for the benefit of the 61 member hospitals of the Delaware Valley Hospital Council.

Liberty Bowl spokesmen said that Mississippi State and North Carolina State were the only two teams invited and both accepted.

North Carolina State won eight and lost two.

The Bulldogs, who haven't played in a bowl game since 1941, posted a surprising 6-2-2 record this year, their best season since 1957, and were ranked 11th in the nation. State tied heavily favored Florida, lost to Alabama by only one point, upset Auburn and Louisiana State and capped the season with a 10-10 deadlock against arch-rival Mississippi.

State's past bowl record includes only two games. The Bulldogs whipped Georgetown 14-7 in the Orange Bowl in 1941 and lost to Duquesne 14-7 in the Orange Bowl in 1937.

NO OVERTIMES

DETROIT (UPI) — Gordie Howe, the greatest goal-scorer in NHL history, never has scored an overtime goal in Stanley Cup competition.

Royal Plates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Even royalty is in the game of using automobile license plates as cherished status symbols.

In the tiny Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim, the royal family's tags simply bear the word "Sikkim."

Tasty Trend

NEW YORK (UPI)—The latest exotic trend in flavors for medicines include apricot-mint, candy fruit, grape, honey-lemon, pineapple-mango, sherry and spice.

No longer is medicine expected to taste "like medicine," reports a flavor-making firm (Fritzsche Bros.). Cherry is still the most popular flavor for cough medicines but "fruit" flavor has become the preferred choice for antibiotics, the company said.

Finzel's 27th Year Colts Best Of "12"

Hetzel All-America? Campers' First Foe

By C. V. BURNS

MATT STIERINGER is the only new basketball coach listed in the tri-state area as the 1963-64 season gets underway.

Stieringer will coach Northern High's Huskies of Garrett County, succeeding Romeo Williams, who spent one year there as mentor and whose only team won six and lost 12.

Stieringer comes from Bayard High School where he served as assistant to Coach Francis Maleonskie. He is a graduate of Shepherd College and makes his home at Bayard.

The dean of area schoolboy basketball coaches is Edward C. "Ebbie" Finzel, who is starting his 27th year at Beall High School. Finzel succeeded J. Stanley Hunter late in 1935 and has been tutoring Beall quints since the 1935-36 season with the exception of two years during the Second World War when he served in the Navy.

Jonathan Paugh is beginning his 24th season of basketball coaching. This is his 20th campaign at Moorefield High School. He started coaching at Mathias High School in Hardy county.

Homer Brooks, a native of Baltimore, former Cumberlander and Allegany High, Potomac State and West Virginia U. Cager, is starting his 22nd year of coaching. This is his 15th season at Frederick High School but he coached one year at Elk Garden, two at Rowlesburg and four at Parsons in Tucker county before taking over the reins of the Cadets in 1950.

William "Huck" Miers is commencing his 21st campaign as boss of Piedmont High School's Lions.

Before stepping down as basketball mentor John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh served 30 seasons at Penn Avenue and Fort Hill. Walter L. Bowers was Allegany's cage mentor for 29 years.

Here are the records of a majority of the coaches at their present schools:

COACH Lefty Driesell, of the Davidson College Wildcats basketball team, says:

"There's no doubt in my mind, and shouldn't be in the mind of anyone who has seen him play, that Fred Hetzel's an All-America.

"Fred does it all — he plays defense, rebounds, dribbles, passes off and is one of the best shooters in the game up to and including the pros."

Fred, the son of a former Allegany County High School and University of Maryland athlete, rewrote the record book in his sophomore year with the Wildcats.

As a junior, says Driesell, Hetzel is "50 per cent better than he was at this time last season."

Davidson never has produced an All-American cager but Hetzel, with only one varsity season behind him, could easily be the pioneer.

THE Pacific Coast League's expansion to 12 clubs in 1964 brings back memories of 1931 when the Cumberland Colts, then affiliated with the New York Yankees, won the championship in the 12-club Middle Atlantic League.

Other cities in the M. A. circuit that year were Charleston, Beckley, Hagerstown, Scottdale, Fairmont, Johnstown, Clarksburg, Huntington, Wheeling, Charleroi and Jeannette.

That was the first league to have 12 clubs in modern organized baseball but going back to 1875 we find that the National League had thirteen teams, five of which disbanded before the season ended.

Philadelphia had three clubs in that circuit, St. Louis, two, Boston, Hartford, Chicago, New York, Brooklyn, New Haven, Washington and Keokuk one each. The St. Louis Red Stockings, Philadelphia Centennials, New Haven, Washington and Keokuk were the teams that threw in the sponge.

The Middle Atlantic of 1931 shrunk from 12 to six teams in 1932. That was Cumberland's last year in organized ball. The other clubs were Beckley, Charleston, Johnstown, Clarksburg and Huntington.

Wonder how many teams the Pacific Coast League will have in 1965?

WHEN the buck deer season opens today in Maryland gunners in 12 counties will be restricted to shotguns.

The counties are Howard, Anne Arundel, Charles, Prince Georges, Calvert, Baltimore, Harford, Kent, St. Mary's, Queen Anne's, Caroline and Talbot.

Nimrods must use rifled slugs or the more old-fashioned round pumpkin balls.

It is because the fast dropping trajectory of the shotgun loads that they are required in the densely settled areas. Rifle bullets can travel a mile or more at killing force but the shotgun projectile is generally spent within 125 yards.

ADD 1963 football records:

Clarke County (Berryville, Va.) 10-0, Harpers Ferry 7-1, James Wood (Winchester) 7-3, Handley (Winchester) 6-4, Musselman 5-3-1, Hedgesville 3-3-1, Waynesboro, Pa., 4-5, Charles Town 4-6, Boonsboro 2-7-1, Shepherdstown 1-7 and Annapolis 6-4.

BISHOP GUILFOYLE High School of Altoona will have at least four games under its belt by the time Allegany High's Campers open their season with the Marauders Wednesday, December 11, at Campobello.

Coach Joe Benton's Pennsylvanians copped two games in as many nights last week, opening with a 41-37 win over Tyrone and trimming Juniata Valley 67-55.

Eddie "Red" Miller, a 6-foot-2 forward, who quarterbacked the Marauders in this year's grid battle with Allegany, scored 52 of Altoona's 108 points in the two games.

Against Tyrone he slammed in nine fielders and 19 points and in the Juniata Valley contest he connected for 12 field goals, 9-out-of-10 at the charity stripe for a total of 33 tallies.

MRS. ORA PENNER, 86 of 209½ Union Street, who died Sunday in a local hospital, was the mother of Albert "Buck" Penner, an outstanding local professional lightweight boxer of the 1920s.

"Buck's" last fight was at the Liberty Theater on the night of August 31, 1922 when he won over K. O. Circus, of Pittsburgh, who was noted for somersaulting across the ring after every bout in which he participated.

At 5 a. m. the following morning Penner met death in an automobile mishap on Martin's Mountain.

Final rites for Mrs. Penner were held yesterday.

Kelso Heads Turf, Sports Digest Poll

Voted Champion 4th Straight Year

BALTIMORE (AP) — Kelso was a runaway winner for the fourth straight year in the poll by Turf and Sports Digest for the champion race horse of 1963.

Mrs. Richard C. duPont's 6-year-old gelding drew 146 of the 155 votes by turf writers and broadcasters.

Along with the championship, Kelso also was named best among the thoroughbreds four years and older.

Darby Dan Farm's Chateaugay nosed out Rex Ellsworth's Candy Spots for the 3-year-old title in the 28th poll by the magazine

The closest contest was among 2-year-old males, with Harbor View Farm's Raise A Native nosing out a stablemate, Roman Brother, 194 points to 192. Points were counted for first, second and third votes.

Briardale Farm's Tosmah also copped a close decision from Wheatley Stable's Castle Forbes 344 to 334, for the 2-year-old filly title.

William Haggin Perry's Lamb Chop was an easy winner in voting for best female three years and older.

Charles Town Opens Racing Meet Dec. 16

CHARLES TOWN, West Va., December 2 — Thoroughbred racing will return to the Charles Town Race Course on Monday, December 16 and continue through Saturday, January 18. The dates were released by Louis Pondfield, vice president of the popular winter racing center. Christmas Day will be a dark day.

Post time for the first race each day will be the usual one o'clock starting time.

Orioles Trade Smith To Tribe For Kirkland

Bauer Will Platoon Willie With Bowens

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, up to their eyeballs in left-handed hitting outfielders, and the Baltimore Orioles, looking for power pulled a trade Wednesday. The Indians gave up outfielder Willie Kirkland and got outfielder Al Smith and about $25,000.

It was the third trade of the winter baseball meetings. The Indians earlier acquired outfielder Leon Wagner from the Los Angeles Angels for pitcher Barry Latman and a major leaguer player to be named later. The Milwaukee Braves traded catcher Del Crandall and pitchers Bob Hendley and Bob Shaw to the San Francisco Giants for outfielder Felipe Alou, catcher Ed Bailey, pitcher Billy Hoeft and a minor league player to be named later.

Said Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts:

"Smith gives us some right-handed power, which we badly needed. He's a versatile man and could also play third base in an emergency."

Said Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer:

"Kirkland is a good outfielder —and he's got power."

After their first trade here, the Indians had a half-dozen left-handed hitting outfielders—Wagner, Kirkland, Vic Davalillo, Tito Francona, Al Luplow and rookie Chico Salmon.

Smith appeared in 120 games for the Orioles last season and batted .272, hitting 10 homers and driving in 39 runs. Kirkland was in 127 games, batted .230, hit 15 homers and had 47 RBI.

Smith has been with three clubs, counting Cleveland, in less than three years. He'll be joining the Indians for the second time. He was with Cleveland from 1953 through 1957 and with the Chicago White Sox from 1958 through 1962. The White Sox traded Smith and shortstop Luis Aparacio to Baltimore last January for pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm, shortstop Ron Hansen, third baseman Pete Ward and outfielder Dave Nicholson.

Smith's listed age is 35 but sme suspect several birthdays were overlooked in arriving at the figure.

Kirkland, 29, had his best season with Cleveland in 1961, when he batted .259, hit 27 homers and drove in 95 runs. With San Francisco in 1959, he batted .272, hit 22 homers and had 68 RBI. The Giants traded him and pitcher John Antonelli to Cleveland after the 1960 season for infielder-outfielder Harvey Kuenn.

To Platoon Kirkland

Bauer said his present plan is to platoon Kirkland in right field with rookie Sam Bowens.

Tebbetts said Smith is likely to be platooned in left field. Tebbetts didn't say who the alernate left fielder may be.

Wake Forest Fires Coach Hildebrand

Athletic Director Gibson Is Dumped

WINSTON - SALEM, N.C. (UPI)—The Wake Forest Deacons, winners of only one football game in the past two seasons, dumped Athletic Director Bill Gibson and Coach Billy Hildebrand Wednesday and began an immediate search for "dynamic" replacements.

Both Gibson and Hildebrand were offered positions with the development division at the Baptist-affiliated school, but it was not immediately known whether they would accept.

The shakeup resulted largely from Wake Forest's inability to compete successfully in big-time football. The Deacons broke an 18-game losing streak only last month with a 20-19 win over South Carolina.

"I'm willing to take my share of the responsbility for our failure not to have a good football program," Gibson said, "but I certainly don't think the full responsibility should rest on my shoulders or upon the shoulders of the head football coach."

Hildebrand, a 39-year-old standout at Mississippi State and a former assistant coach at Minnesota, has had a 7-33 record since taking over as head coach in 1960. He has three years remaining on his contract.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank all our relatives and friends who were so kind to us during our bereavement, the death of James William Padfield. We especially thank Rev. Ken Korns, Rev. Robert Erickson, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral. To all we are indeed grateful.

Royal Plates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Even royalty is in the game of using automobile license plates as cherished status symbols.

The National Geographic Society here reports that the Maharana of Udaipur, for example, disdains mere numbers for his royal Rolls-Royce. His car carries a brilliant gold sun disk, the family symbol.

In the tiny Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim, the royal family's tags simply bear the word "Sikkim."

Tasty Trend

NEW YORK (UPI)—The latest exotic trend in flavors for medicines include apricot-mint, candy fruit, grape, honey-lemon, pineapple-mango, sherry and spice.

No longer is medicine expected to taste "like medicine," reports a flavor-making firm (Fritzsche Bros.). Cherry is still the most popular flavor for cough medicines but "fruit" flavor has become the preferred choice for antibiotics, the company said.

Fire Sweeps Country Club Near Wheeling

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—Fire gutted the plush Willowbrook Country Club near here Wednesday night. Four fire companies fought the blaze, but were hampered by a shortage of water.

Asst. Wheeling fire chief Dorham Henke said water had to be pumped from a nearby creek to help extinguish the blaze.

No injuries were reported. Cause of the fire and the amount of damage was not immediately determined.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank all our relatives and friends who were so kind to us during our bereavement, the death of James William Padfield. We especially thank Rev. Ken Korns, Rev. Robert Erickson, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral. To all we are indeed grateful.

Pa. Woman Hurt When Car Hits Pickup Truck

Mrs. Phoebe Raygor Is Hospitalized

Mrs. Phoebe Raygor, 74, of RD 1, Somerset, Pa., was reported in "fair" condition last night at Bedford County Memorial Hospital where she was admitted earlier in the day with injuries sustained in a two-vehicle crash on the Pennsylvania Turnpike just east of the Allegheny Tunnel.

Attaches said she sustained fractures of her right leg and a laceration of her scalp. Her husband, Paul Raygor, 72, apparently was unhurt in the accident at 9:30 a.m.

Pennsylvania State Police said they were on their way to Florida.

The highway was slippery at the time of the accident and when the man applied his brakes the car rammed into the truck.

The Raygors were traveling east on the Turnpike. They were taken to the hospital in the Turnpike ambulance. The accident occurred about 22 miles west of Bedford.

Higgins, left, Beall, High School librarian, and Miss Gertrude Ranck; one of the Fort Hill High School librarians. Standing are Mrs. Naomi Bennett, left, also of Fort Hill, and Mrs. Nora C. Tawes Urged To Name Woman To Library Board

Mrs. Benjamin Lewis Jr., president of the Woman's Civic Club of Cumberland, has written Governor J. Millard Tawes to urge appointment of a woman to fill the vacancy on the Allegany County Library Board.

There has been a vacancy on the board since late October when W. Wallace McKaig died.

Mrs. Lewis asked Governor Tawes to consider appointment of a qualified woman to fill the library board position. She said a woman should have a part in carrying out the library board's program. There has been no woman on the board since Mrs. Richard Johnson resigned in the summer of 1962 before moving to the Washington area. She had been one of the original members of the board.

The club president mentioned no woman by name.

Woman Hurt As Car Runs Into Ditch

A Bedford Road woman was hospitalized yesterday afternoon with a possible back injury sustained in a rather unusual accident on Smouse Road off U. S. Route 220.

Mrs. Ruby Jane Clites, 45, was admitted to Memorial Hospital for observation.

State Police said Mrs. Clites was driving along the road about 300 feet from Route 220 with some groceries in the back of the car.

The groceries began to fall. When Mrs. Clites turned around in the front seat to straighten them out, the car ran off the right side of the road into a large drainage ditch.

Police said she was pinned in the car and was extricated only after a tow truck pulled the car from the ditch. She complained of a back injury.

Post Office Lists Extra Service Dates

Use Of ZIP Code Speeds Delivery

Acting Postmaster William B. Orndorff offered a few helpful hints yesterday on how to mail Christmas cards and gifts to insure prompt and safe delivery before December 25, and announced extra service for holiday patrons.

Mr. Orndorff said service windows at the main post office, LaVale, Station A and Cresaptown will remain open on Saturday, December 14 from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. and on Sunday, December 15 from noon until 4 p. m. for the sale of stamps and acceptance of parcel post. Service also will be provided from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. on Saturday, December 21.

The postmaster said Christmas cards bearing the new five-cent Christmas Tree stamps will be sorted and delivered first and if the return address with ZIP code number is included on each envelope, the mail will be forwarded in the event of a change of address, or if they are undeliverable, they will be returned to sender for correction of his mailing list.

He stressed that personal messages may only be written on cards sent by first class mail. Nothing but the signature is authorized on cards sent at the unsealed, third class rate.

If Christmas stickers or seals are used they should be placed on the back of the Christmas cards and packages so that they will not conflict with the address. When mailing gifts, it's a good idea to place a piece of transparent tape over the address portion of the label to prevent defacing it in transit. Parcel post size and weight limitations vary according to destination, the Postmaster said, and should be checked before package is ready for mailing.

Christmas cards for out-of-town delivery should be sent before December 15 and those for local addresses should be mailed at least a week before Christmas, he said. Gifts should be mailed before December 10 to insure delivery before Christmas.

The postmaster asked the cooperation of all business firms to delay the mailing of circulars and catalogs until after December 25 to keep the mails clear for the Christmas rush.

State's Attorney James S. Getty said yesterday there will be no criminal charges against Albert D. Stewart, 36, of 118 Elder Street, the operator of a car which struck and fatally injured Roy R. Bohrer, 75, of 618 Virginia Avenue, Tuesday evening in South Cumberland.

City Police said Mr. Bohrer was walking across the street in the 700 block of Virginia Avenue when he was struck. The South End man was prounounced dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Bohrer was a veteran of World War I and was a retired B&O Railroad roundhouse worker. He was a member of Elder Street Assembly of God Church.

He was born at Paw Paw, and was a son of the late Washington and Elizabeth Bohrer.

Surviving are two sons, Eldridge and Joseph Bohrer, both of Los Angeles, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Juanita Daugherty and Mrs. Hilda M. Taylor, also both of Los Angeles; a brother, Guy Bohrer, Paw Paw, and a sister, Mrs. Blanche Whitacre, Paw Paw.

Mobile Phone Service Now Available Here

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company now has mobile telephone service in the Cumberland area, according to Richard K. Dayton, local manager.

Mr. Dayton said a tower recently was installed on Dan's Mountain near Lonaconing, and now the mobile service has been extended to this part of the state.

There are three types of mobile telephone service. The first is a general exchange service which is a two-way telephone service between any telephone and the mobile phone, or between two mobile telephones.

The second is a direct dispatching service which is an automatic two-way telephone service between a dispatcher's telephone and mobile units. The third is a one-way, non-talking service which signals drivers to comply with prearranged signals.

The mobile service in the Cumberland area extends north to Buffalo Mills, Pa., and south to near Purgitsville, W. Va. It extends eastward to Piney Grove and westward to near Swanton.

Another new service which the telephone company is offering to subscribers is an automatic dialing set. This set stores up to 290 numbers on magnetic tape and allows numbers to be called automatically by just pressing on a section of the set once the desired numbers have been listed on the selector index.

Mr. Dayton said another new item is the farm interphone. The basic equipment includes one main telephone in the home, an extension phone in the barn or other buildings, and a two-way loudspeaker located in the barnyard.

A new desk-top switchboard console has been placed into operation. This advanced system controls up to 10 trunk lines and 60 telephones. It eliminates the cords normally found on switchboards and all incoming calls are completed to any extension by just pushing a button.

Mr. Dayton said other equipment which is available includes a card dialer which automatically dials a certain number once a special card has been placed in the set, and a call director, which is a small-scale switchboard that can allow one person to handle up to 29 lines.

Pa. Woman Hurt When Car Hits Pickup Truck

Mrs. Phoebe Raygor Is Hospitalized

Mrs. Phoebe Raygor, 74, of RD 1, Somerset, Pa., was reported in "fair" condition last night at Bedford County Memorial Hospital where she was admitted earlier in the day with injuries sustained in a two-vehicle crash on the Pennsylvania Turnpike just east of the Allegheny Tunnel.

Attaches said she sustained fractures of her right leg and a laceration of her scalp. Her husband, Paul Raygor, 72, apparently was unhurt in the accident at 9:30 a.m.

Pennsylvania State Police said they were on their way to Florida.

A pickup truck used in construction work at the site of a new tunnel alongside the present tunnel was making a U-turn and the small foreign car driven by Mr. Raygor crashed into the truck.

The highway was slippery at the time of the accident and when the man applied his brakes the car rammed into the truck.

The Raygors were traveling east on the Turnpike. They were taken to the hospital in the Turnpike ambulance. The accident occurred about 22 miles west of Bedford.

Skelly Reports On County Road Projects

Although there is a tapering off of road work in Allegany County as winter approaches, County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly reported to the Board of County Commissioners that considerable work was done between November 18 and November 29.

Surface treatment during those 10 working days involved building shoulders on Cherry Lane Road, Jackson Mountain Road, High Street off Bedford Road, and Porter Cemetery Road.

New construction in that period included rebuilding a bridge on Rocky Gap Road, finishing catch basin and headwall on Winchester Road and finishing cutting off curve and filling shoulder with stone on Water Station Run Road.

A number of special projects also were listed in the report.

Mr. Skelly also submitted to the Board of County Commisisoners a list of projects he hopes to complete in the period from December 2 through December 13. Included is the patching of Cherry Lane Road, Jackson Mountain Road and chuck holes on hard-surfaced roads throughout the county.

No new construction is planned during the two-week period.

Tawes Urged To Name Woman To Library Board

Mrs. Benjamin Lewis Jr., president of the Woman's Civic Club of Cumberland, has written Governor J. Millard Tawes to urge appointment of a woman to fill the vacancy on the Allegany County Library Board.

There has been a vacancy on the board since late October when W. Wallace McKaig died.

Mrs. Lewis asked Governor Tawes to consider appointment of a qualified woman to fill the library board position. She said a woman should have a part in carrying out the library board's program. There has been no woman on the board since Mrs. Richard Johnson resigned in the summer of 1962 before moving to the Washington area. She had been one of the original members of the board.

The club president mentioned no woman by name.

Woman Hurt As Car Runs Into Ditch

A Bedford Road woman was hospitalized yesterday afternoon with a possible back injury sustained in a rather unusual accident on Smouse Road off U. S. Route 220.

Mrs. Ruby Jane Clites, 45, was admitted to Memorial Hospital for observation.

State Police said Mrs. Clites was driving along the road about 300 feet from Route 220 with some groceries in the back of the car.

The groceries began to fall. When Mrs. Clites turned around in the front seat to straighten them out, the car ran off the right side of the road into a large drainage ditch.

Police said she was pinned in the car and was extricated only after a tow truck pulled the car from the ditch. She complained of a back injury.

Tfc. Joseph Helmstetter investigated the accident, which happened about 2:55 p. m.

Post Office Lists Extra Service Dates

Use Of ZIP Code Speeds Delivery

Acting Postmaster William B. Orndorff offered a few helpful hints yesterday on how to mail Christmas cards and gifts to insure prompt and safe delivery before December 25, and announced extra service for holiday patrons.

Mr. Orndorff said service windows at the main post office, LaVale, Station A and Cresaptown will remain open on Saturday, December 14 from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. and on Sunday, December 15 from noon until 4 p. m. for the sale of stamps and acceptance of parcel post. Service also will be provided from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. on Saturday, December 21.

The postmaster said Christmas cards bearing the new five-cent Christmas Tree stamps will be sorted and delivered first and if the return address with ZIP code number is included on each envelope, the mail will be forwarded in the event of a change of address, or if they are undeliverable, they will be returned to sender for correction of his mailing list.

He stressed that personal messages may only be written on cards sent by first class mail. Nothing but the signature is authorized on cards sent at the unsealed, third class rate.

If Christmas stickers or seals are used they should be placed on the back of the Christmas cards and packages so that they will not conflict with the address. When mailing gifts, it's a good idea to place a piece of transparent tape over the address portion of the label to prevent defacing it in transit. Parcel post size and weight limitations vary according to destination, the Postmaster said, and should be checked before package is ready for mailing.

Christmas cards for out-of-town delivery should be sent before December 15 and those for local addresses should be mailed at least a week before Christmas, he said. Gifts should be mailed before December 10 to insure delivery before Christmas.

The postmaster asked the cooperation of all business firms to delay the mailing of circulars and catalogs until after December 25 to keep the mails clear for the Christmas rush.

Eight workshops will be held on such topics as schedule building, machine equipment, class profiles, financial aid, and prediction techniques.

No Charge Planned In Auto Death

Driver Cleared In South End Accident

State's Attorney James S. Getty said yesterday there will be no criminal charges against Albert D. Stewart, 36, of 118 Elder Street, the operator of a car which struck and fatally injured Roy R. Bohrer, 75, of 618 Virginia Avenue, Tuesday evening in South Cumberland.

City Police said Mr. Bohrer was walking across the street in the 700 block of Virginia Avenue when he was struck. The South End man was prounounced dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Bohrer was a veteran of World War I and was a retired B&O Railroad roundhouse worker. He was a member of Elder Street Assembly of God Church.

He was born at Paw Paw, and was a son of the late Washington and Elizabeth Bohrer.

Surviving are two sons, Eldridge and Joseph Bohrer, both of Los Angeles, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Juanita Daugherty and Mrs. Hilda M. Taylor, also both of Los Angeles; a brother, Guy Bohrer, Paw Paw, and a sister, Mrs. Blanche Whitacre, Paw Paw.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home, where the family will receive friends today from 7 to 9 p. m.

Mobile Phone Service Now Available Here

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company now has mobile telephone service in the Cumberland area, according to Richard K. Dayton, local manager.

Mr. Dayton said a tower recently was installed on Dan's Mountain near Lonaconing, and now the mobile service has been extended to this part of the state.

There are three types of mobile telephone service. The first is a general exchange service which is a two-way telephone service between any telephone and the mobile phone, or between two mobile telephones.

The second is a direct dispatching service which is an automatic two-way telephone service between a dispatcher's telephone and mobile units. The third is a one-way, non-talking service which signals drivers to comply with prearranged signals.

The mobile service in the Cumberland area extends north to Buffalo Mills, Pa., and south to near Purgitsville, W. Va. It extends eastward to Piney Grove and westward to near Swanton.

Another new service which the telephone company is offering to subscribers is an automatic dialing set. This set stores up to 290 numbers on magnetic tape and allows numbers to be called automatically by just pressing on a section of the set once the desired numbers have been listed on the selector index.

Mr. Dayton said another new item is the farm interphone. The basic equipment includes one main telephone in the home, an extension phone in the barn or other buildings, and a two-way loudspeaker located in the barnyard.

A new desk-top switchboard console has been placed into operation. This advanced system controls up to 10 trunk lines and 60 telephones. It eliminates the cords normally found on switchboards and all incoming calls are completed to any extension by just pushing a button.

Mr. Dayton said other equipment which is available includes a card dialer which automatically dials a certain number once a special card has been placed in the set, and a call director, which is a small-scale switchboard that can allow one person to handle up to 29 lines.

The other bills of complaint were filed by Ramona Lee Leighty vs. Joseph Learned Leighty and Jane Catherine Emerick vs. Dewey Franklin Emerick.

Educators Attend Session In Charles Co.

Southern Maryland Teachers Meet

Four members of the Allegany County public school supervisory staff attended an all-day meeting Monday in Charles County at which they heard a discussion of curriculum trends in social studies.

The meeting actually was arranged primarily for all of the elementary school teachers in three Southern Maryland counties —Charles, St. Mary's and Calvert. It was held at the Waldorf Elementary School.

Allegany County's representatives were attracted to the Southern Maryland meeting to hear Dr. Dorothy McClure Fraser, a professor of education at Hunter College, who discussed curriculum trends in social studies.

Attending from here were Dr. Robert J. Shockley, assistant superintendent for curriculum; Miss Margaret E. Doak, Miss Elizabeth I. Flake and Miss Mary E. Straw, county supervisors of elementary education.

Supervisors from Frederick, Anne Arundel and Prince George's County also attended as did Mrs. Mildred Sowers, state supervisor of elementary education.

Allegany County's group participated in a section for fourth, fifth and sixth grade teachers. They returned to Cumberland Monday night.
